SUMMER NIGHT.

BY LORD TENNYSON.

Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk;
Nor winks the gold fin in the porphyry font;
The firefly wakens: waken thou with me.

Now droops the milk white peacock like a ghost,
And like a ghost she glimmers on to me.

Now lies the earth all Danae to the stars,
And all thy heart lies open unto me.

Now slides the silent meteor on, and leaves
A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me.

Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
And slips into the bosom of the lake:
So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
Into my bosom and be lost in me.

TAYLOR MAY QUIT FEDERAL SERVICE

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Likely to Retire Soon Because of Failing of His Health.

CRIPPLES THE BUREAU.

No New Rural Mail Routes Will Be Established Until After July 1—Notices to Big Firms Discontinued.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT—Assistant Secretary Taylor is expected to retire because of ill health, making two vacancies in executive force. Reorganization of bureau likely when president and Secretary Shaw return to capital.

RURAL MAILS—Present appropriation already exceeded, and no more routes will be established until new fund is available in July. Notifications of new routes will no longer be sent big firms.

CODE MESSAGES—Gen. Greely will attend conference in London and try to persuade cable companies to accept American code messages, although differing from regular cipher.

[BY RAYMOND.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Horace A. Taylor of Wisconsin will retire from office immediately and take a long rest if he follows the advice of his physician. There is no disposition on the part of Secretary Shaw to force Mr. Taylor to retire, and if the former does so it will be a voluntary act.

For some months the health of the assistant secretary has not been good, and recently he has been able to perform his official duties at intervals only. He has suffered several attacks of grip, and believing he had fully recovered his health he resumed his duties once or twice only to find that he was unequal to the task. He was at his office one day last week, but was forced to return home because of the development of stomach trouble and a complication of diseases. His physician then recommended a prolonged rest. If he acts upon this advice he almost certainly will resign, as the treasury department is handicapped by a vacancy caused by the retirement of Assistant Secretary Ailes. During the absence of Secretary Shaw the entire work of the department fell upon the shoulders of Acting Secretary Armstrong.

If Mr. Taylor resigns Secretary Shaw will be able to choose his successor at an early day. For two years there have been rumors of the voluntary retirement of Mr. Taylor. He will decide within a few days whether or not he will hand his resignation to Mr. Shaw.

Assistant Secretary Ailes' successor will not be appointed until President Roosevelt returns to Washington unless present plans are changed. Mr. Shaw, who has just returned from Texas and Louisiana, where he went on private business, will leave the latter part of the month for Iowa, where he will meet the president. It is probable that the question of filling the vacancies existing in the treasury will be discussed when the president and Secretary Shaw meet.

Assistant Postmaster General Bristow discovered today that the expenditures for the rural free delivery service exceed the appropriations by $20,000. As a result there will be a curtailment of the expenses to make this good, and no more routes will be established until July 1, when the appropriation of $12,000,000 for the service for the next fiscal year will become available. No routes will be discontinued and the work of preparing for the establishment of others will proceed. Postmaster General Payne, in discussing the wonderful growth of this service, said today:

"When the entire country has been given the rural free delivery service there will be 38,000 routes. There are now 15,092 routes in existence and we are ready to put 1,587 in operation when the appropriations become available.

"When the funds now authorized are expended there will be 27,000 routes established. We have 10,730 petitions for new routes. Within two years the entire country which is entitled to the service will have it. Five years after the establishment of this service throughout the country I predict that the service will be self-sustaining. The deficit will be wiped out by that time and the postal service will be a paying institution.

"Where the new service has been put into operation in entire counties and the fourth class postoffices have been abolished there has been an increase of 10 per cent in the receipts. Our people are delighted with this rural delivery service and they want it whether it pays the government or not. They realize that shortly after it is in operation it will yield more than enough revenue to defray all the expenses."

The country merchants of the United States will be delighted with the action of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who today issued an order discontinuing the practice of sending to the business firms of the country daily bulletins of the establishment of rural delivery routes, together with the names of the carriers appointed. This was done because of the belief that the sending of these bulletins to the manufacturing plants and the mail order concerns in the big cities was in the nature of a discrimination against the local industries in rural communities.

For a long time it has been the custom of the department to send out between 3,000 and 5,000 of these bulletins each day. Many complaints reached the department from the country storekeepers, who claimed that this practice, in connection with the posting in the free delivery offices throughout the country of the names of patrons living along the routes, was ruining their business.

Postmaster General Payne held that the latter practice is justifiable and has refused to act on the many petitions received by him to discontinue the posting of the names of patrons. The objection to this custom is based on the fact that the representatives of the big mail order concerns copy these lists and send catalogues and advertising literature broadcast throughout communities, and deprive the general stores and local industries of large sources of revenue.

Assistant Postmaster General Wynne, under whose jurisdiction the free delivery division remained until a few days ago, expressed surprise today when told of the order issued by Mr. Bristow. Mr. Wynne said that had he known that thousands of letters were sent out daily under the government frank

SCHOOL SPLIT BY PARODY.

GIRLS AND TEACHERS AT WAR BECAUSE OF SUSPENSION.

Pupil Who Ridiculed Instructors in Swell Washington Institution in Verses Imitating "Mr. Dooley" Is Suspended and Companions Are Indignant—Reinstatement Demanded and Faculty Is Reconsidering Case—Ethel Roosevelt One of Students.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Because she held her teachers up to gentle ridicule in a clever parody on "Mr. Dooley," Miss Katherine Martin, the granddaughter of Mrs. Emily M. Colton, one of the best known women in Washington society, was suspended from the National Cathedral School for Girls. The indignation of her schoolmates, among whom is Ethel Roosevelt, the president's daughter, is so great that deep discontent broods over this smart institution, and Bishop Satterlee of the Episcopal diocese of Washington, who is president of the board of trustees, is reconsidering Miss Martin's case.

Half a hundred of the most prominent families in Washington are excited over the incident because their daughters attend the school. Admiral Dewey, Wayne MacVeagh, Bishop Mackay-Smith, and John A. Kasson are among the trustees.

Pupils Enjoy the Parody.

Miss Mary Bartlett Whiton, a graduate of Smith college, who is one of the principals, was entertaining some Washington people at dinner at the school last Thursday evening, when one of the teachers on the faculty hurriedly entered and informed her that she had discovered that Miss Martin, who is about 17 years old, was the author of a parody on "Mr. Dooley" in which the names of unpopular members of the faculty, including Miss Whiton's, was brought in, to the great delight of most of the pupils of the school, of whom there are 150, all girls.

Miss Whiton did not think it was the least bit funny, and she immediately called up Bishop Satterlee by telephone and described to him the enormity of Miss Martin's offense. The bishop directed that Miss Martin be suspended; some people declare he said expelled.

Given Thirty Minutes to Leave.

Miss Martin was given thirty minutes in which to leave the school building, and then she had to sit on the front steps waiting for a conveyance to take her to her grandmother's home in Connecticut avenue, several miles away. Miss Wright, the teacher of English and athletics in the school, however, interceded in Miss Martin's behalf and she was escorted home properly, after being provided with street boots, which she had not before had the time to obtain.

The next day the case was presented to Bishop Satterlee in such a new light that he began to reconsider it, but in the meantime the other girls in the school became almost riotous. More than one of them told her teacher: "If Katherine Martin was expelled for making fun of the teachers, a lot more of us ought to go, too, for we all have done so, only we haven't been found out." They said also that one of the girls had carried tales about Miss Martin's disastrous parody.

Near to Rebellion in School.

From then on until by night the relations became so tense that the faculty decided that an excursion of the school to the naval academy at Annapolis, planned for Saturday, should be abandoned to prevent any trouble developing. All of the girls whose homes were no further away than Baltimore were sent home over Sunday. Ethel Roosevelt was sent to the White house and did not return until Monday. The sympathies of the families of most of the girls are against the teachers and there may be changes in the faculty.

BRIDE AND GROOM ACCUSED OF PASSING BAD CHECKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Paquet of Muskegon Arrested on Complaint of People in Sheffield Avenue District.

While spending their honeymoon in Chicago, Philip Paquet, 22 years old, and his wife, 18 years old, were arrested yesterday by detectives of the Sheffield avenue police station on charges of passing worthless checks.

Both are from Muskegon, Mich., where their families are said to be well to do.

When detectives attempted to arrest Paquet at Otto street and Southport avenue the young wife sprang between her husband and the police. He took the opportunity to escape and ran, but was caught a block away. Paquet and his wife were then taken to the station.

Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, 1817 Otto street, says the couple boarded with her until their bill was $20. Then, she says, she was given a check on the Bankers' National Bank of Chicago and it proved worthless. Others who have accepted or cashed bogus checks are:

Michael Candrian, 1684 North Clark street, $30.
John Larson, 1686 North Clark, $20.
Leader store, Clark and School streets, $25.
Yondorf Bros., Lincoln and Wrightwood avenues, $30.
Henry Beck, 888 Southport avenue, $10.

When Paquet was searched a check was found in his possession which showed an attempt to raise it from $12 to $25.

BALL GAME IS TOO EXCITING.

Patron of South Side Grounds Falls from the Bleachers and Is Hurt.

With the score tied in the tenth inning and a man on base for Chicago, P. Mulcahey, a spectator at the American league ball grounds, rose to his feet yesterday afternoon, waved his hat wildly, and cheered. A moment later he was unconscious on the ground between the bleachers and the grand stand, having lost his balance and plunged from the upepr tier of seats, where he was standing. An ambulance was called and Mulcahey was taken to the Provident hospital, where he was found to be severely bruised about the head and shoulders. Mulcahey is a stationary engineer and lives in Twenty-second street.

HAS THE LAUGH ON DOCTORS.

New Jersey Man in Strange Condition for Three Days Recovers Despite Physicians' Prediction.

Glassboro, N. J., May 12.—For three days Lewis Krechmer of Monroeville laughed and laughed. The doctors who attended him said it was hardly possible for him to recover, but Krechmer has finally stopped laughing and he will get well. Krechmer was seized with laughing hysterics in the midst of the excitement of the burning of his home Friday night. Relatives and friends did all they could to stop him, but did not succeed. The sufferer kept on laughing at intervals of a few minutes until he was weak and practically helpless.

TRACES UMBRIA DYNAMITE PLOT.

House Whence Box Came Is Found and Police Have Description of Sender of Infernal Machine.

ARREST EXPECTED SOON.

Driver Who Took to Pier Deadly Freight Leads Police to Hotel Where Mysterious Man Had Stopped.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—The Umbria infernal machine mystery, which spread consternation among all ocean going people, seems on the verge of solution. The dynamite box has been traced to its source and the police have a thorough description of its sender, as well as the name he gave to the proprietress of the boarding house where he was stopping.

Little confidence is placed by the police in the value of the name as a clew, as they feel certain the man, under the circumstances, would not have given his real name. He called himself G. Rosseo and claimed he had been in theatrical business and knew Manager Gustave Litton.

Trace Plot in Detail.

The facts which developed today, and which are expected to result in the apprehension of the criminal, are these:

That the infernal machine was sent from the Currie house, 366 West Thirty-first street, last Thursday, and not last Friday, as previously supposed.

That it was sent to the Cunard pier by a man who had engaged a room and board in that house on Thursday, paying one week's room rent in advance.

That he brought the infernal machine to the boarding house in a large trunk, and that the trunk and some of his clothing are there now. He remained at the Currie house until after breakfast last Saturday, and left after Mrs. Currie, the proprietor, had observed him in his room apparently writing a letter. He went away from the house early in the day, presumably mailed a letter at the postoffice, which is believed to be the strange note of warning addressed to Police Commissioner Greene and received at headquarters in time to locate the chest of explosives before the Umbria sailed.

Detectives on Watch at House.

Since his departure last Saturday morning Mrs. Currie says he has not returned to her house. In the hope that he will yet do so to reclaim his trunk and clothing, detectives kept the house under close surveillance all tonight.

Mrs. Currie's mysterious boarder is described as about 30 years old, of about 145 pounds, and of light build. He wore a gray business suit of the "pepper and salt" variety, a black fedora hat, and a turndown collar with a dark bow tie. His hair was dark, though slightly gray, and his face smooth shaven except for a small sandy mustache, which he wore closely cropped.

Expressman's Name Is Learned.

Patrick Rooney, one of former Police Chief Devery's election workers, is the expressman with whom the mysterious stranger made his bargain. Two of Rooney's men, Peter Bathe and Joseph McCormick, his helper, called for the box at the Currie house and delivered in the mysterious green wagon at the Cunard line pier. The police are convinced of the innocence of Rooney and his employés and none of them is under arrest. Mrs. Currie, Patrick Rooney, and Bathe and McCormick all agree that while he had a Teutonic cast of features, he spoke and acted like an American accustomed to transacting his own affairs.

Not the least interesting of today's chapter of discoveries is the fact that the lodging and boarding house now known as the Currie house is the same building in which "Al" Adams, the fallen policy king, maintained the headquarters of his extensive chain of policy shops.

Expressman Tells Story.

McCormick, with Bathe standing beside him and agreeing with all he said, gave this account of the affair:

"It was about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon when we were standing here on the corner waiting for a call. This man came down Ninth avenue from Thirty-first street, walks up to us and says he's got a box around at Mrs. Currie's boarding house which he wants taken to the Cunard pier. He says: 'The lady will give it to you.' 'Name?' says Bathe. 'O, never mind,' says the man. 'No name's necessary. The lady knows about the box.'

"He says he doesn't think the job is worth more than a quarter, and tosses a 25 cent piece over to Bathe. Say, what do you think of that? A quarter for two men, and one of them sitting on 100 pounds of dynamite for a two mile drive? Well, we went around and got the box.

"We went around to our corner before going to the pier, and there was the little man that gave us the order still standing there. He waved his hand at us when he saw us coming down with the box and walked away. We didn't see him again.

"Frank Carton came up then, jumped in, and all the way down he sat on the box with me.

"When we got to the pier we lifted the box out, and, in carrying it across the pier, it fell out of our hands and a piece was knocked out of the bottom. We picked it up, turned it over to the baggage master, and then drove away."

Explains Delay in Reporting.

When the detectives found the expressmen who had handled the box they asked them why they had not come forward with their information before.

"Sure," said Bathe, "I never read the papers."

"I do, but I never seen nothin' wrong in the papers about taking an ordinary box to the Cunard pier," said McCormick.

It was Mrs. Currie who first became suspicious that her boarder had had the box, and she informed the police. They told her to keep quiet, and she did it so well that no one in her house had the least suspicion of what was going on. The fact that the police had located the expressman who handled the box only became public after Bathe had been questioned. He was then curious to read what had been printed, and got a bundle of old newspapers at once. When he read there about the "scoundrels" who had carried the box, and how they "looked like Italians," he got so angry he went straight down to the Cunard pier in the same express wagon and began to say things. Then the story got out.

Mrs. Currie says the mysterious man's board is paid until Thursday.

BRITAIN ADDS TO EMPIRE.

VAST REGION IN WEST AFRICA PUT UNDER SUBJECTION.

Sokoto and Kano Provinces, Comprehending Area of 100,000 Square Miles, Made a Part of Nigeria—Chamberlain Congratulates Parliament Upon Its Latest Acquisition—Col. Moreland and 500 Men Wipe Out 6,000 Fanatics.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 12.—Great Britain, with a force of 500 men under the leadership of Col. Moreland, has added 100,000 square miles of territory to its possessions and made it a part of Nigeria.

The lump of Africa taken under absolute British control is more than twice as large as England itself and larger by 20,000 square miles than England, Ireland, and Scotland combined.

The provinces taken are known as Sokoto and Kano, and lie near the western coast of Africa, just below the southern edge of the great Sahara desert.

Chamberlain Makes Report.

Secretary of the Colonies Chamberlain today in the house of commons congratulated parliament upon the success of Col. Moreland's expedition, and said the new territory would be administered by the government of Nigeria.

The territory was not brought under subjection without a fight, and the story of Col. Moreland's biggest fight is an interesting one.

The engagement lasted two and a half hours. The British numbered about 500 men, with four quick firing guns and four Maxims.

Big Hostile Force Well Armed.

The enemy's horse and foot were estimated to number 6,000 men, their riflemen being armed with modern rifles and using smokeless powder. The British camped during the night of March 13 one and one-half miles from Sokoto, after a hard march of 100 miles from Kaura, with only a little water and having passed through a difficult country.

At daybreak on March 14 the British moved out in a square formation towards the valley in which Sokoto lies. Immediately after the British appeared over a ridge the Fulanis charged with fanatical bravery, undeterred by a withering Maxim and rifle fire. They had no proper leadership, but the isolated bands continued to advance over heaps of dead and dying, often individuals reaching within a yard of the square where, refusing quarter, they were shot down while shouting "Allah" with their last breath.

Chiefs Rally Round Emir.

The main body of the natives was finally routed, leaving a remnant of about thirty chiefs around the emir's great white flag. These chiefs were defiant to the last and their corpses were found hedging the standard when the British entered the city, which consisted mostly of thatched houses. Its semi-ruined walls extended seven miles round the place and were pierced by eight gates.

A few days later the populace returned and the Fulanis made submission to Commissioner Lugard, who arrived March 19 and installed a new emir. The British then retired towards the coast, leaving a garrison of two companies of infantry.

MEN SCUFFLE IN A BOAT AND ONE LOSES HIS LIFE.

Christopher Mangan Drowns in Lake Calumet and His Three Companions Have Narrow Escapes.

A "friendly scuffle" in a rowboat caused the death by drowning yesterday of Christopher Mangan, 1262 Seventy-fifth street. Peter Dwyer, a companion, was unconscious when rescued from the water, while John Hayes and William Henneberry, the other members of the fishing party, barely were able to save themselves and Dwyer.

Mangan and his companions left the wharf at One Hundred and Fifteenth street early in the afternoon and rowed out into the Calumet lake. Then came the "friendly scuffle" and the boat was overturned, all being thrown into the water. Mangan, according to his companions, sank at once. After a long struggle Dwyer was taken to the shore, where after two hours' work he was resuscitated. Mangan's body was recovered.

Another South Chicago drowning had for its victim John Alcock, 16 years old, who lived at 9025 Green Bay avenue. He was playing on the slip at Ninety-first street when he fell into the river.

Miss Katherine Waugh of Chicago Commons Advertises for a Delta Tau Delta Badge.

Miss Katherine Waugh has lost a pin of great value to her and she offers a reward for its return to the Chicago Commons, where she is one of the settlement workers. When it is said that the pin was the emblem of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and fraternity men only give their pins to their prospective wives, the story is told. It is said at Chicago Commons that the settlement house will lose Miss Waugh next month. Miss Waugh refuses to give the name of the owner of the pin, but the advertisement, which was inserted in the papers yesterday, follows:

NOW IT'S WATT TO BELLEW.

Critic of Shakspeare Sends a Tart Reply to the Actor's Open Letter.

Now will you be good, Mr. Bellew?

In an open letter, addressed to the actor, and in reply to a similar document, Principal William E. Watts of the Graham school continues the controversy as to the merits of Shakspeare's dramas, and quotes passage after passage from Avon's bard in an effort to prove Shakspeare was no master of English as it is spoken today. "This were kindness," "Not in love neither," "I cannot chose nor refuse none," and other examples are given. Mr. Watt also drops a suggestion that Mr. Bellew's press agent is earning his money.

DARE PROVES FATAL TO BOY.

Douglas Drysdale of Austin Hangs from 'Phone Wire, Pulling It Down to Trolley Current.

Determined not to take a dare from his companions, Douglas Drysdale, 10 years old, climbed a telephone pole in the alley in the rear of 236 Baird avenue, Austin, last evening, and hung by his hands from a telephone wire. His weight pulled the wire down until it came in contact with a trolley wire. The child was killed instantly by the current and dropped lifeless to the ground. Drysdale lived at 117 South Willow avenue. His mother is extremely ill and it is feared that the accident may cost also her life.

OMAHA INJUNCTION—Judge Dickinson in the Omaha District court granted a sweeping injunction restraining the Business Men's association from conducting a campaign of boycott on the labor unions. All business tied up.

NEW YORK STRIKES—Building Contractors' association and Iron league join forces to wage war against building trades unions. Subway strikers acknowledge defeat and are advised to return to work today.

GREAT NORTHERN—Declared that 2,000 conductors and brakemen on the Great Northern railroad will strike today. St. Paul Jobbers' union and Minneapolis chamber of commerce will meet railroad men in conference in an endeavor to secure peace.

MOBILE AND OHIO—Passenger service on the Mobile and Ohio railroad is moving on time, but freight trains are generally tied up. Nonunion crew shot at and four strikers arrested.

Omaha, Neb., May 12.—[Special.]—Strikers turned the injunction tables on the employers today with a vengeance. For possibly the first time in the history of the country an injunction was secured against business men during the progress of a strike.

The waiters' union filed a complaint with Judge Dickinson in the District court, in which it was alleged that the Business Men's association of this city is a local branch of the national organization, and that its purpose is the annihilation of organized labor by unfair and unlawful means. Pending the hearing of the case Judge Dickinson granted a restraining order enjoining the members of the Business Men's association from carrying on a campaign against the unions in the manner in which it was charged.

Puts Employers on Defensive.

About fifty individual proprietors of concerns whose business comes in contact with the strike are affected. The injunction is granted at the request of the waiters' union and is calculated to place the employers in a position almost identical with that of the strikers—one of defense. The order is being served on the persons against whom it is directed tonight. While it concerns directly only the waiters' union it is really intended to serve as a guide to the future action of all the other unions whose members are on strike.

Business at a Standstill.

The situation is a most serious one. Nearly 3,500 men are on strike or locked out, and a large number of business establishments, including eighteen laundries, are closed. The business of the city is almost at a standstill.

The decision is more peculiar because of the fact that three District court judges yesterday enjoined the waiters' union from all acts tending to hamper the business of the restaurant proprietors.

Summary of Injunction.

The summary of the injunction is as follows:

First—From in any manner threatening to injure the business or person of any employer of members of the complainants' union or member of a labor union, or any person who may employ or desire to employ such union men, or from refusing to sell commodities and supplies of merchandise to employers of such union labor and from discriminating against such persons in the prices charged for any such commodities.

Second—From threatening or intimidating in any manner any person into joining the said Business Men's association or any organizations to join labor unions.

Third—From threatening or intimidating any person who may have become a member of said association or organization if he employs organized labor or recognizes labor unions into discontinuing such employment.

Fourth—From imposing any fines upon its members or any person for violating any agreement not to employ organized labor or not to recognize a labor union.

Stops Use of Funds.

Fifth—From receiving or paying out any money whatever in pursuance of any agreement to break up labor unions except attorneys in this action.

Sixth—From paying or offering any money to officers or members of unions directly or indirectly as a bribe to do or not to do any act in pursuance of any agreement or any of said defendants against such unions.

Seventh—From importing or engaging agents or servants to import any laborers into the city of Omaha or state of Nebraska in pursuance of any existing plan to destroy labor organizations or under any similar, or new arrangement, or plan.

Prevents New Suits.

Eighth—From bringing any other injunction suits or actions in pursuance of any general plan of prosecutions to break up labor unions or of any new or similar plans connected directly or indirectly with any existing plans.

The injunction is the result of a cross complaint filed as part of the suit of the restaurant proprietors against the union, and the writ is made returnable the same day, May 25. The cross complaint was directed against not only the owners of hotels and restaurants, but against the persons who brought the injunction proceedings against the teamsters' union in the federal court, which includes the proprietors of all transfer companies and a number of wholesale houses.

Alleges Secret Combine.

The complaint was presented to Judge Dickinson at 5 o'clock this afternoon by Attorney Yetter, who was accompanied by L. V. Guye of the arbitration committee of the Central Labor union, and C. P. Hart of the waiters' union. It declares that the Business Men's association of Omaha is only a part of a huge organization, which is national in its scope and secret in its workings, and has for its direct object the destruction of all labor organizations.

Charges General Coercion.

The association, it was alleged, is a part of a conspiracy whose object is the wiping out of the waiters' union, together with all other unions. The complaint asserted that the association has, by threats to injure business by boycotts and refusing to sell supplies, forced unwilling persons and firms into this organization. Persons once having joined the association are under heavy fine in case they employ union labor or recognize the union. The members of this association, it is alleged, have withheld and refused to deal with contractors who are employers of union labor. Contractors so affected have been shut off from the purchase of all building material for construction, and that there are fifteen contractors thus affected who have been forced to suspend business.

Tells of Bribery Fund.

As a result of this, it is held, building in Omaha is practically at a standstill; that members of the Business Men's association have employed threats of personal violence, loss of employment, blacklisting to members of the union and those who employ union labor unless they give up affiliating with the labor organizations; that defendants and the business men's association have collected large sums of money which they have set aside for the unlawful purpose of bribing officers, delegates, members of unions; that they have large sums of money to pay out to members of the association who will lock out their employés who are members of a labor union, and that they are making payments to said members who have done so.

The cross complaints further allege that the defendants have by threats of violence and injury to business prevented owners of vacant buildings from renting rooms to members of the union who desire to open restaurants and engage in business in competition with the said defendants; that the defendants are importing laborers into the city for the purpose of breaking up the unions; that the defendants threaten and intend to bring a multiplicity of suits to harass and annoy the cross complainants and others.

Defendants Refuse to Talk.

Members of the Business Men's association without exception refused to talk concerning the injunction tonight. The strikers assert that this injunction will be a fatal blow to the Business Men's association, and that they are now confident that the situation is well in their hands.

As a result of this injunction it is predicted that the teamsters, bakers, hod carriers, laundrymen, and other unions now on a strike in this city will adopt the same course toward their former employers. There is no doubt but that the winning of this point by the strikers will quiet all the tendencies to riotous scenes on the streets, and it is expected that the Business Men's association will show greater favor toward the attempt at arbitrating their difficulties which is now being made by Gov. Mickey.

More Wagons Running.

There was a material increase in the number of wagons running today. Deputy sheriffs accompanied the wagons, but no attempt was made to molest drivers. At a meeting today of the laundry proprietors it was decided to open the laundries on Thursday. The locked out employés will be given an opportunity to return to work, and in case of their refusal to do so new men will be secured.

For the strikers it was given out that the fight would be carried to the extreme and that other union men, perhaps the barbers and street car employés, be asked to strike in sympathy.

New York Contractors Declare War.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—War on what they assert are unreasonable demands of union labor was formally declared today by all building contractors in the city. Meetings were held and aggressive policy was unanimously decided upon. A massmeeting was called for Friday, when the actual campaign will be opened.

The owners of buildings now in course of construction declared a sympathy lockout by deciding to waive all penalty clauses in the contracts and guaranteeing support to the men who determined to resist indefinitely the demands made upon them by organized workmen.

The Building Trades association, which is composed of the most prominent concerns in the building business in Manhattan and the Bronx, and the Iron league, which includes most of the employers of ironworkers in this vicinity, have combined for united and aggressive action.

Union of Employers.

The governors of the Building Trades association met today and practically decided to form a union similar to the labor unions. The following letter was sent out to the 2,000 members:

"The time has arrived when employers of labor in the building trades are facing a serious situation and a meeting will be held on Friday, May 15, at 8 p. m., at the Building Trades association, for the purpose of determining what steps shall be taken to remedy the present intolerable conditions. You are earnestly requested to be present.

"WARREN A. CONOVER, President."

Affects 100,000 Men.

The trades to be affected have a membership of more than 100,000 men. Most of these already are out of work, either through the lockout of the drivers or their own strikes.

The Iron league also held a meeting, J. M. Cornell presiding, and took action upon the strike of the inside architectural ironworkers which is now in progress. It is estimated that through the strikes and lockout about 6,000 men are out. The secretary of the league, C. M. Cheney, gave out the following statement:

"A strike committee was formed and resolutions were passed for a unanimous resistance to the strike of the inside architectural ironworkers which is now on."

The Mason Contractors' association met tonight and indorsed the action taken by the governors of the board of building trades.

Strike violence was resumed in Brooklyn early today. Peter Voedzker, a foreman in the Meyer & Anson iron works, who refused to strike when the other men quit, was pounced upon by three men while on his way to work, badly cut about the head, and rendered unconscious. A Brooklyn carpenter who had been warned to quit on peril of his life was knocked down with a blow from a hammer.

Subway Strike Is Off.

On the other hand, the leaders in the subway strike advised the malcontents to resume work tomorrow morning, pending a settlement by arbitration of the differences that exist. It was announced there will be a general acceptance of the advice to rush for the trenches before noon tomorrow.

One contractor had 400 men at work in places of the strikers on the upper west side section of the subway in Manhattan today. There were more policemen than laborers guarding the subway and most of them carried night sticks. They had one clash with Italian strikers and quickly routed them.

Ohio Governor Refuses Troops.

Columbus, O., May 12.—A request from the sheriff of Sandusky county for troops to guard the workmen at the Clauss Shear company's plant at Fremont was refused this afternoon by Gov. Nash, who held that there was no emergency warranting the calling out the militia. The feeling growing out of the strike at the Clauss plant has been bitter since the killing of Otto Mischke last Saturday night, and which resulted in the arrest of three colored nonunion men employed at the plant. None of the colored employés was at work yesterday or today. It is the intention to start the factory tomorrow, and Fremont officials fear that further trouble will be precipitated.

Molders Strike at Erie, Pa.

Erie, Pa., May 12.—A strike of 600 molders began today. Six of the largest shops in the city are affected at present, and it is expected the trouble will extend to several others.

One Thousand Men Go Out.

Berlin, N. H., May 12.—More than 1,000 men employed by the Berlin Mills company and the Burgess Sulphite Fiber company, whose interests are closely interwoven, went on strike today because of the companies' refusal to grant their demands for more pay and recognition of the various unions. The payrolls of the two companies amount to $50,000 monthly.

To Arbitrate Traction Strike.

Dubuque, Ia., May 12.—[Special.]—The Union Electric company has submitted a proposition to Mayor Berg to arbitrate the differences with striking motormen and conductors, and propose Archbishop Keane, Federal Judge Shiras, and District Judge O'Donnell as commissioners. The strikers say they are willing to arbitrate, but want the company to name one commissioner, the strikers one, and these the third commissioner. Nothing further will be done till the arrival of President Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employés.

Riots in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 12.—In the commission district today striking drivers followed wagons driven by persons employed in their places and after pulling the nonunion men from their seats overturned the wagons, spilling the contents into the street. A platoon of police restored order and prevented further interference.

TRAINMEN'S STRIKE NEAR.

DECLARED GREAT NORTHERN CREWS WILL GO OUT TODAY.

Alarmed by the Prospect That Business in the Northwest Will Be Tied Up St. Paul Jobbers' Union and Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Will Meet with Company Officials and Employes to Attempt to Bring About Harmony.

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—[Special.]—It is declared tonight by union leaders that the 2,000 conductors and trainmen of the Great Northern system will declare a strike tomorrow. Officials of the road and the men have agreed upon every proposition except the use of "double headers," and upon this point neither side will yield.

A joint committee from the St. Paul Jobbers' union and the Minneapolis chamber of commerce will meet with the committee and the railroad officials tomorrow morning in an endeavor to harmonize matters and avert, if possible, a strike which they deem would be disastrous to the business interests of the northwest.

Open Recruiting Offices.

In the meantime both sides are preparing for what seems to be the inevitable outcome of the deadlock in the negotiations. Confirmation was had here tonight of reports from other cities that the Great Northern had opened recruiting offices and was contracting for trainmen to take the places of their present employés in case of a strike. The men also claim to be fully prepared for a struggle and are inclined to ridicule the idea that there are trainmen enough now idle in the country to fill their places.

General Manager Ward, in a letter following the receipt of the ultimatum on the double header question, stated that it was more in the nature of a reinforcement of the arguments he had used in support of his position and of the concessions offered and an appeal to the men to accept the compromise, rather than a definite reply to their last communication. He stated further that upon receipt of the men's reply to his letter he would give a definite answer to their original demands.

Say No Reply Is Necessary.

The committee announced that it had decided no reply was necessary, as Mr. Ward had no new proposals nor given a definite reply to their propositions.

Then it was that the St. Paul Jobbers' union took a hand in the negotiations. President J. W. Cooper of the union issued a statement applying to both sides to make every possible concession in order to avert a strike. General Manager Ward agreed to be present at tomorrow's meeting.

Mobile and Ohio Runs Trains.

Mobile, Ala., May 12.—The strike situation tonight at this end of the line and at Mobile and Ohio headquarters is much brighter for the railroad company. The fact was demonstrated early in the day that the road could get men, although none of the strikers accepted the invitation to return without prejudice. A freight train from the north got in at midnight and the local and through freight departed this afternoon. Twenty-six men have arrived to take positions vacated by strikers. So far the only act of violence is the shooting at Conductor Mann and Brakeman Anderson at Whistler last night. Four Louisville and Nashville men were arrested this afternoon here for invading the Mobile and Ohio yards and guying the workers and the police. All passenger trains are moving on time.

Fines Nonunion Yardman.

Meridian, Miss., May 12.—Sam Asknew, who was brought here from Birmingham to take charge of the Mobile and Ohio yards, was this morning fined for carrying concealed weapons. Officials have asked the chief of police for ten more men in the yards to protect property.

Passenger trains today were running about on schedule time. Freight traffic still remains at a standstill.

Harriman Anxious for Settlement.

Kansas City, Mo., May 12.—John McNeil, grand president of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America, said tonight that a conference will be held in Chicago next Saturday aiming at a settlement of the Union Pacific machinists' strike and the differences between the Southern Pacific and its boilermakers. This conference will be attended by E. H. Harriman, H. G. Burt, and a representative of the National Civic federation. Mr. McNeil believes that an agreement will be reached, and he says that he has delayed calling out the men in the Southern Pacific shops at the urgent request of E. H. Harriman, who, according to McNeil, is anxious for a settlement.

Labor Notes.

Seventy-five ship carpenters, calkers, and joiners struck at the Howard shipyard at Jeffersonville, Ind., for a nine hour day and higher wages. The yard has a number of government boats on the ways.

The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad has granted an increase of pay to its section men, dating back to May 1. Regular men are increased from $1.25 to $1.30 and extra men from $1.35 to $1.40 per day.

The bakery drivers at Kansas City, Mo., have refused to deliver goods to nonunion restaurants. Small restaurants who buy all their pastries from the bakeries will suffer most, as the larger concerns bake most of their own supplies.

President Wilson of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen at Montreal, Que., announces that all danger of a trackmen's strike on the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific has been eliminated, as both roads have granted substantial increases.

The National Brotherhood of Operative Potters yesterday at Wheeling, W. Va., elected new officers, as follows: President, Thomas J. Duffy of East Liverpool; first vice president, Frank H. Hutchins of Trenton. Resolutions were adopted prohibiting potters employing any but union help.

New officers were elected by the American Order of Steam Engineers at Pittsburg, Pa., yesterday, as follows: Supreme chief engineer, Noah R. Pierson of Baltimore; supreme first assistant engineer, W. S. Price, Atlantic City, N. J.; supreme recording engineer, J. Stallings, Baltimore; supreme corresponding engineer, Charles Long, Philadelphia; supreme treasurer, George W. Richardson, Philadelphia.

LAST CALL TO ARBITRATE

LAUNDRY UNION OFFERED CHICAGO BOARD AS MEDIATOR.

Owners Say If It Is Rejected They Will Try to Start with Independent Employes—Strikers Indifferent to Let Point of "Open Shop" Be Subject for Compromise, but Have Not Given Final Answer—Co-operative Concern Raises Prices.

An immediate settlement of the laundry strike can be obtained if the workers will accept the mediation of the Chicago board of arbitration and give it full power to adjust all differences.

The laundry owners appealed to that body for aid yesterday. It reluctantly consented to take up the matter if the workers would agree to submit their case to it for settlement. This they seemed unwilling to do up to a late hour last night, but may change their minds this morning.

The owners are eager to obtain a peaceable adjustment. When they were unable to obtain this through joint conferences with the union they went to the arbitration board. If its services are refused by the workers the owners will open their plants and attempt to break the strike by active warfare.

"We have done all in our power to stop this fight," said Chairman J. A. Barkey of the owners, "and we can go no further. The Chicago board of arbitration is so well known and its record is so fully indorsed that we feel confident the strikers will not refuse it. It is our court of last appeal."

Owners' Letter to Arbitrators.

The owners decided at a meeting held in the afternoon to go before the board. They sent the following communication to its chairman, H. G. Selfridge:

"As the executive committee of the Association of the Chicago Laundrymen, and representing the laundrymen's interests throughout the city, we respectfully ask your honorable board to arbitrate and decide the differences now existing between ourselves and our employés.

"The public is greatly inconvenienced by the present controversy, an adjustment of which by the parties seem impossible, notwithstanding the fact that several conferences have been held.

"We feel that the present emergency and its subsequent inconvenience justifies us in thus volunteering to submit the dispute to your decision, pledging ourselves to abide by the same. We believe the interests of the public, the employés, and the proprietors require the decision of all questions in dispute by a disinterested and representative body."

Notice Sent to the Union.

The board of arbitration considered the matter favorably and then sent a communication to President T. C. Wilson of the union. The communication first quotes the letter of the laundrymen and then says:

"This letter has had the attention of the board, and, while its members are not seeking the work of arbitrating differences outside of those between teamsters and their employers, they recognize the great inconvenience to which the entire public has been subject by the laundry workers' strike, and upon receipt of a similar letter of request from your organization this Chicago board of arbitration will take up all points of difference between your members and their members and arbitrate them with the best and fairest judgment which its members are capable of using."

When President Wilson received this he called a meeting of his executive board for this morning, when a formal vote will be taken. Those who were present at the union headquarters last night were opposed to the proposition.

Co-operative Prices Raised.

The laundry workers sent out a new price list for their coöperative laundry at 6648 State street during the day. They have followed the lead of the owners and raised prices. Their new rates are 2½ cents each for collars, 5 cents a pair for cuffs, and 10 cents for shirts. This change created amusement among the owners, who declare that by it the workers acknowledge that their wage scale is too high for the present prices.

DEERING STRIKER A SUICIDE.

Fred Wiechman Broods Over Labor Trouble and Then Shoots Himself to Death.

After days of brooding over the strike at the Deering Harvester works, where he was employed up to the time of the walkout, Fred W. Wiechman, 36 years old, of 1285 North Ashland avenue, shot himself in the right temple in the rear of the saloon at 1259 North Ashland avenue last evening. On a card in his possession was found the following sentence: "Don't take me home; keep me in the firebox." It is thought that Wiechman was unbalanced.

HAS LOAN AGENT ARRESTED.

Malachy J. Kelly Charges Mrs. Emily Brown with Perjury in Identifying Him as a Borrower.

A plot whereby fellow employés forged his name and assigned his wages is alleged by Malachy J. Kelly, who has caused the arrest of Mrs. Emily Brown, manager of Lucas & Co., loans and investments, 125 La Salle street, on a charge of perjury. A year ago Kelly, who is a railway employé, was sued by the loan agency on a $40 note. He was identified by Mrs. Brown as the man who signed the note and got the money. Kelly denies this and says he will prove he was at work at the time. Mrs. Brown asserts that he was in the loan office.

Will Lecture on Railroading.

At the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church, Grand boulevard and Forty-first street, tomorrow night John F. Wallace, general manager of the Illinois Central railroad, will deliver an address on "The Operation of Railroads." The meeting is the second of a series of business talks given under the auspices of the Young Men's Bible class of the church.

LABOR LEADERS KEEP UP STRIKES

Prevent Settlement of Difficulties That Hold 20,000 Persons in Idleness.

OBJECT TO OPEN SHOPS.

Making Stand Against Associated Capital's Demand for Freedom of Contract.

Leaders of organized labor caused the failure of every attempt made yesterday to adjust the difficulties that are now demoralizing several important industries of the city and keeping 20,000 employés in idleness.

They have decided that the time is ripe to make a determined stand against the growing power of the associations of capital which have adopted the policy of open shops and freedom of employment. This stand has angered the labor leaders, who wish to fight the matter out.

The number of men out of work and the financial loss entailed roused the peacemakers yesterday. They first attempted to induce the employés of the Deering Harvester company to return to work, but failed. They next argued in vain with the waiters of H. H. Kohlsaat & Co., and last night they took up the laundry strike, but with no result.

Plans to Extend the Strikes.

Plans were made during the day to spread some of the strikes. The bridge and structural iron men will try to tie up all the shops of the American Bridge company, which controls the Lassig plant, where the men are now out. The bakers intend to go after every union plant of the National Biscuit company if it does not change its policy.

Every arbitration board in the city was busy save that maintained by the state. The Chicago board of arbitration took up the dispute between the People's Gaslight and Coke company, the Metropolitan board was occupied in considering the controversy between the elevated roads and their employés, while the joint committee of the steam engineers and packers at the Union stockyards held a meeting. All adjourned without reaching a conclusion.

During the day the teamsters were asked to use their influence in settling some of the disputes, and one of their number suggested that Gov. Yates be asked send the state board of arbitration to the city.

Inquiry for State Board.

This led to the posting of the following notice in the Fifth avenue headquarters of the union:

"Lost—A State Board of Arbitration. If any member can be found before the next pay day the ten Chicago unions now striking would like to learn of his whereabouts."

The local representative on the board, Dennis Hogan, offered his services to the Deering Harvester company a week ago, but did not press his case. The employés in that plant will not accept mediation now, but want to fight the matter through. This course was definitely settled in the afternoon at a massmeeting in the Social Turner hall, Paulina street and Belmont avenue. The meeting was attended by over 2,000 men and women, and these were a unit in refusing to alter their former decision.

It was decided that when the company takes up the strikers' demands for a nine hour day and a 20 per cent increase in wages and gives a definite reply that the leaders will talk peace.

A member of the firm attempted to get the officials of the associated teaming interests to take up the trouble and adjust it. When the request was made Secretary John C. Driscoll of the associated interests refused to grant it on the grounds that the Deering company is not a member of the organization, and that its teamsters are not on strike.

Assault at the Deering Plant.

The labor leaders have systematically picketed the Deering plants and there were several assaults yesterday morning, one bringing about the arrest of Frank Jellewskig, an ironmolder. He was on guard at the Clybourn avenue entrance and is charged with beating the nonunion man who attempted to report for work.

M. J. Deutsch of the Building Material Trades council, who has been managing the strike, issued a call for a mass meeting of the employés of the McCormick Harvesting Machine company. This will be held on Thursday night at Hoeber's hall, 710 Blue Island avenue, when another attempt to organize them will be made.

After the Biscuit Combine.

International officers of the Journeyman Bakers and Confectioners' union arrived in the city to investigate the alleged lockout of the cracker bakers at the Kennedy and Bremner plants of the National Biscuit company. A conference will be held with the local managers today, when the union will demand the reasons for shutting down the ovens.

Two weeks ago the cracker bakers handed in a wage scale to the company, and an answer is expected today. If the scale is refused and the union is told that it is to be fought a general strike throughout the country will be ordered.

Negro Waiters Repudiate Terms.

The negro waiters of H. H. Kohlsaat & Co. repudiated the peace terms agreed upon Monday night and propose to continue the strike until the firm agrees to reinstate the forty-three men discharged at the Northwestern university restaurant a week ago.

They appealed to the bakers for aid, and Business Agent Neiderhoff of that union will call a meeting of his organization Saturday night. At it the bakers employed by the Kohlsaat company will be asked to strike in sympathy with the negroes and tie up the big bakery in Wabash avenue.

Strike of Ironworkers.

The strike of the ironworkers at the Lassig division of the American Bridge company assumed serious proportions. Representatives of the union spent much of their time urging the men employed in the other plants of the company to go out, and declared that 1,000 more men will be out before the close of the week.

The ironworkers employed by the Illinois Malleable Iron company have caught the strike epidemic and have framed demands for a 15 per cent increase in wages. This will be submitted to the company this week, and if it is refused the 2,000 men working in its plants will be called out.

Two Firms Sign Scale.

The electrical workers succeeded in getting two firms to sign their working agreement and expect to have three more in line today. Those that have signed are the Morgan & Gardner and the Goodman Manufacturing companies. The employés of the General Electric and the Metropolitan companies joined in the fight during the afternoon.

Trouble in Lumber Trade.

The strike of the 500 lumber tallymen is menacing Chicago's lumber trade. It may cause the Chicago marine council to call out all the unloaders in the yards along the river, which would bring a congestion in the slips, as the boats could not be unloaded. This would paralyze the local lumber business.

BLAMES THE "HOODOO PEOPLE."

Defendant in Separate Maintenance Suit Says His Wife Was "Lured from His Side."

"Spiritualists and hoodoo people," says A. Housley, in an answer to his wife's bill for separate maintenance, lured Mrs. Housley "from his side" and caused her desertion. Housley alleges that his wife would walk aimlessly about the streets and finally surrender herself at a police station and remain there all night. The Housleys were married in 1899 and lived together until a month ago.

HELD AS BOY'S MURDERER

JOHN WILTRACK FORMALLY ACCUSED BY CORONER'S JURY.

His Wife Is Charged with Being an Accessory After Their Son Julius Tells How Paul Paszkowski Was Killed by the Man—Large Crowd Attends Inquest—Victim's Mother and Others Are Witnesses and Traces of the Crime Are Shown.

After hearing 11 year old Julius Wiltrack tell how his stepfather had killed little Paul Paszkowski, a coroner's jury yesterday held John Wiltrack to the grand jury on a charge of murder. His wife, Elizabeth, was held as an accessory after the fact. Wiltrack did not weaken under the strain, but his wife wept and protested in her native language that she was innocent.

The inquest, postponed from last week, was resumed in the morning at the Attrill street police station, a large crowd of Cragin residents attending. The greatest interest centered in Julius Wiltrack, without whose evidence against his parents the police would have little hope of conviction. Other testimony considered damaging was that Mrs. Wiltrack, posing as a fortune teller, had told Mrs. Paszkowski that her child would be found buried in the woods.

Julius Wiltrack told his story without hesitating, though his mother, sitting a few feet away, wept and frequently kissed the infant in her arms. The boy's statement was similiar to that made to the police.

How the Child Was Killed.

"I was asleep in a bedroom in the rear of the saloon when I was awakened by a shot," said he. "I ran into the saloon and saw little Paul stagger and then fall to the floor. Then my stepfather dropped his revolver, and picking up Paul carried him into the basement. I was frightened, but asked my mother why the boy had been shot. She told me she did not know the reason and said I must not tell anybody about it."

The police presented several mute but gory evidences of the murder. They included blood stained sheets and aprons, pieces of wood which had been cut from the floor of Wiltrack's saloon, a fork which, it is believed, had been used in digging the grave and pieces of clay taken from the grave. The garments were found in the Wiltrack house by detectives. Attorney Sullivan, representing Wiltrack, wanted Detective Connell to make a positive assertion that the spots were human blood. The policeman replied that they looked like blood spots, and Wiltrack almost laughed aloud.

Boy's Mother Heard a Shot.

From Mrs. Paszkowski the jury learned the story of how Paul had disappeared. She cried as she testified that the 6 year old boy had never troubled her neighbors. She said she had a heard a shot ten minutes after her boy left the house, but up to the time of the inquest the significance of the incident had not occurred to her. Then the woman told how, after Paul disappeared, she went to visit Mrs. Wiltrack and asked her to aid in searching for the missing child. Mrs. Wiltrack answered that she was a fortune teller, and then took out a package of playing cards.

After various incantations the woman said: "These cards tell me little Paul was killed by some children. Search in the woods for him. He is there; he is buried there."

Nicholas Weber identified the gunny sacks which had been wrapped about the body of the murdered boy as those which had been stolen near the Wiltrack saloon.

WATCHING FOR POLICE SHAKEUP

Something Expected to Happen in the Detective Bureau When Chief O'Neill Returns.

Chief of Police O'Neill has left the city and police officials generally believe that his return will be the signal for a shakeup in the detective headquarters in the city hall. This department, which is in charge of Lieuts. Rohan and McWeeney, is regarded as having many shortcomings. Business men say that frequently reports of thefts are ignored until too late to catch the thieves. It is known, too, that when the chief wants good work done he does not call on the two lieutenants, but selects his detectives himself. But above all the detective work at night is declared unsatisfactory. What is needed, police officials say, is a man of executive ability to manage the office.

MOBS SLAY AND BURN IN CHILE.

Valparaiso Strikers Battle with Police and Set Fire to Property.

POLICE SEEK BARRACKS.

Authorities Powerless to Check Revolt and Entire City Is in a Panic.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, May 12.—This city tonight is in the possession of the striking dock laborers. One policeman has been killed and six wounded, and fifty of the mob are dead or dying.

A battle took place in the streets of the city this morning in which the police were driven to their barracks by a superior force of strikers.

Burn Up Steamship Docks.

After routing the police force the mob set fire to the South American Steamship company's dock and then attacked the fire department when it responded to a call for aid. In consequence much of the company's property is burned.

All the shops in the city are closed and transit has been suspended. The strikers are in control and greater bloodshed is anticipated at any moment. The mob is now surrounding the offices of El Mercurio and is threatening to sack and burn the establishment.

March on Admiral's House.

Thousands of strikers are marching on Admiral Montt's private residence, swearing vengeance on its occupants and destruction to the building. The authorities seem powerless to check the mob, and owing to the bitter feeling against the police it has been decided to keep them in barracks rather than further excite the strikers by an ineffectual attempt to quell them, owing to the intense confusion.

Losses Can Only Be Guessed.

It is impossible tonight to ascertain the exact number of dead or the amount of damage done. The fire is still burning in the docks of the steamer company's property.

Strike Claims in Australia.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MELBOURNE, May 12.—The government claims that the train service in Victoria has improved every day since the strike of the railway men against a government order to sever their connection with a general trades organization was started.

Extraordinary manifestations of support of the government continue in all parts of the country, and it is now believed that the strike will collapse within a fortnight.

The signal men probably will join the strike before long.

The government has issued a proclamation forbidding people to gather near the house of parliament while the strike is under discussion.

SHAMROCKS TO RACE ALL WEEK.

After Saturday Tests in Scotch Waters Will Be Ended—Lipton Expresses Greatest Confidence.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

GOUROCK, Scotland, May 12.—The two Shamrocks will have trial races every day this week, and after Saturday the tests will be over. Tomorrow they will race to Lamlash and around the channel fleet, and back for a prize of $500 offered by the Hon. Charles Russell.

Sir Thomas Lipton paid a visit to the Gourock Yacht club last evening and in responding to a toast to his health said the prospects for lifting the cup were never better.

In today's spin the new craft again demonstrated its superior speed over Shamrock I. The new yacht's canvas is in splended order and its windward work and reaching were the best ever seen on the Clyde.

Sir Thomas has received an invitation to dine with King Edward at Glasgow on Tuesday.

Reliance Is Improved.

Bristol, R. I., May 12.—Reliance had its first trial spin today since being refitted with new spars and sails. The new mainsail proved to be a good fit, and the new mainboom and gaff seemed to work well in taking up the slack in the sail. After the trip Mr. Iselin said that the test of the spars and rigging today was satisfactory and that everything had worked well.

PHOTOGRAPHY AT LONG RANGE.

Picture Taken at Distance of 20 Miles by Italian Scientist Suggests Even Greater Results.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 13, 3 a. m.—John H. Heaton, M. P., who returned from Italy, whither he accompanied Sig. Marconi, says he saw at an observatory near Rome specimens of a new system of electric photography by which clear pictures can be obtained of persons and scenes at least twenty miles distant. He thinks it conceivable that the system can be developed so as to enable the making of photographs of friends in distant lands while conversing with them etherically.

POPE TO APPOINT CARDINALS.

Leo Announces Decision to Make Selections at Consistory to Be Held Next Month.

ROME, May 12.—The pope has decided definitely to appoint cardinals at the next consistory. The following prelates already have been informed of the intention of the pontiff to bestow the red hat on them: Mgr. Nocella, secretary of the college of cardinals; Mgr. Cavicchioni, secretary of the congregation of the council; Mgr. Taliani, papal nuncio at Vienna; Mgr. Ajuti, papal nuncio at Lisbon; Mgr. Katschthaler, archbishop of Salzburg; and Mgr. Fischer, archbishop of Cologne. The consistory is likely to take place June 8 or June 22.

EDINBURG SEES ROYAL SHOW.

King and Queen Pass in State from Dalkeith Palace to Holyrood for Levee.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

EDINBURG, May 12.—The king and queen and the royal state procession left Dalkeith palace this morning for the levee and drawing room at Holyrood. Great crowds lined the route and cheered their majesties enthusiastically. Eighty years have elapsed since a levee and drawing room have been held at Holyrood, and it is 300 years since a king and queen visited Edinburg together.

HAYTIAN BOND FRAUD EXPOSED.

Committee Reports That National Bank Is Implicated in $2,000,000 Falsification.

PORT AU PRINCE, Hayti, May 12.—The Moniteur Officiel today published the report of a committee of inquiry appointed by President Nord charging extensive frauds in the issue of Haytian government securities. The amount involved is about $2,000,000, and the securities are alleged to have been fraudulently issued with the complicity of the National bank of Hayti.

RUSSIA KEEPS ITS PROMISE

TROOPS NEARLY ALL OUT OF CITY OF NEW CHWANG.

Civil Administration Again in Control—Forts Being Used Only Long Enough to Permit Orderly Movement of Departing Soldiers—M. Plancon Says Manchuria Is Open to Foreign Travel Without Passports.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PEKIN, May 12.—Henry B. Miller, the United States consul at New Chwang, is here in consultation with Mr. Conger, the American minister, in regard to the situation in Manchuria. He says the withdrawal of Russian troops to the railway in Manchuria in accordance with the evacuation agreement made a year ago has been more complete than it was at first supposed to be. This movement has reduced the number of troops in the vicinity of New Chwang to the previous footing. There has been a complete resumption of the civil administration in New Chwang, and there is much municipal activity there.

The indications that the negotiations with China will be prolonged and the existence of a large military force east of the Liao Yang are persistently denied by the Russians, but it was admitted when verified by the English consul that the Russian flag is still floating over the Liao forts, which are being used by the passing troops.

The Russian chargé, M. Plançon, has issued an official notice that all Manchuria is open to foreign travel and adds that passports are no longer necessary.

No Blame on American Consul.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—The state department has satisfied itself that it was unintentionally misinformed respecting the reported Russian reoccupation of New Chwang. The United States consul at that point had it on what he regarded as trustworthy authority that the Russian troops were fortifying and reoccupying the place, and, as his duty in such a case, he transmitted the report to the state department through Mr. Conger.

Indemnity Terms Approved.

The state department fully sustains the action of Minister Conger and his associate commissioners in effecting an agreement with China for the payment of the indemnity arising from the boxer troubles on the basis of the rate of exchange in 1901. The contention of the other powers, parties to the treaty of Pekin, if sustained, would require China to pay almost double her debt, and Secretary Hay took the position that it was unfair and inequitable to require China to make good the losses caused by the depreciation of silver.

Famine and Revolt in Kwangsu.

Victoria, B. C., May 12.—According to mail advices received from south China hundreds are dying in Kwangsu province as a result of the famine there. Correspondents writing from several sections say the destitution, suffering, and death are appalling. Whole families are subsisting on a few ounces of rice a day, or on roots and leaves. Missionaries are feeding thousands daily. The famine is causing the rebellion in that province to grow. One of the rebel leaders went to Canton to buy arms and ammunition for the rebels, and on his return got safely up to Wuchow, where his boat was seized and he and his assistants were tortured and beheaded.

TETUAN IN GRAVE DANGER.

Ten Thousand Tribesmen Said to Have Surrounded City, Where Fighting Is Almost Ceaseless.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TANGIER, Morocco, May 12.—The situation at Tetuan is critical. The besiegers are estimated to number 10,000, and severe fighting, which has already lasted two days, continues. The sultan is sending 3,000 troops to relieve the town, but it is not expected they will arrive in less than ten days.

A steamer from here tried to land ammunition and provisions for the people of Tetuan, but was unable to communicate with the town. Another steamer with troops has sailed from this place.

The British battleship Renown has taken all British subjects away from Tetuan. There are still 200 Spaniards at Tetuan, who have taken refuge in the Spanish consulate, as well as several French subjects.

A dispatch from Ceuta says the rebels captured the British and French postmen and told them to warn the consuls to send no more mail to this city.

HINT AT DEFEAT FOR CANAL.

Reports from Bogota Tell of Growing Opposition to Treaty with United States.

COLON, Colombia, May 12.—Newspapers just received from Bogota, the capital, contain articles adverse to the Panama canal treaty, and private letters from Bogota of recent date, referring to the growing opposition there to the treaty, affirm that even a certain number of the government officers are wavering in their adherence to the treaty and prophesy its rejection by the Colombian congress in its present form.

Gen. Reyes Seems Uncertain.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—The attitude which Gen. Reyes, who may succeed to the presidency of Colombia, will asume towards the pending canal treaty is a matter of anxious speculation by the officials here. He has been recorded on both sides of the question, for and against ratification, and no one knows how he now stands.

GREAT WINE GROWER ACCUSED.

Dr. Schlamp von Hope aus Nierstein Charged with Selling Adulterated Article.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 12.—The law court at Mayence today began hearing the charge of adulteration against Dr. Schlamp von Hope aus Nierstein, the largest wine producer in the Rhine district. According to the prosecution only the smallest quantity of what is sold as Niersteiner vintage is pure wine, and is instead merely water doctored with a certain percentage of alcohol, sugar, raisins, and some other ingredients. Two hundred witnesses, who are engaged in the Rhine wine industry, are summoned to support his case, and a number of physicians and chemists are to testify for the state.

THINKS CLEVELAND FORMIDABLE

Senator Scott, Now in London, Gives His Views on Presidential Situation for 1904.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, May 12.—Senator N. B. Scott of West Virginia today in speaking of the attempt to start a boom for Grover Cleveland said he would prove the most formidable candidate the democratic party could nominate. As to the republican nomination, he thought Roosevelt would undoubtedly be nominated unless he should commit some error that would alienate the present support of the great bulk of the people of the United States.

LAUNDRY OWNER SOLVES THE SHIRT PROBLEM.

[From a photograph taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

JACOB A. BARKEY.

Clean linen is at a premium among even the laundry owners, for their leader, Jacob A. Barkey, appeared at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon wearing a bright red sweater.

"My shirts are gone, my collars are dirty, and my cuffs are not fit to wear," he announced to the owners as he took the gavel and called the gathering to order. "I am, gentlemen, together with the general public, up against it."

The owners adopted a button yesterday, which contains but one word, "Stick," and as soon as necessity forces them to substitute the sweater for the shirt they will pin the button to the neck of the woolen garment and fine the man who refuses to do so.

RIOT IN DENVER MEETING.

POLICE AID CORPORATIONS IN CAPTURING CONVENTION.

Chairman Makes Objectionable Ruling and Forty Men Engage in Mixup—Woman Delegate Is Badly Hurt in the Melee — Wagonload of Police Officers Put Out the Rioters, Who Discuss Their Troubles on the Street.

Denver, Colo., May 12.—[Special.]—In a scrimmage that resulted in blood letting and the engendering of bad feeling the corporations this evening captured the republican charter convention in spite of a rush of democratic policemen, who had been hastily summoned to preserve the peace and eject the disturbers.

A rush was made for the stage, owing to an objectionable ruling, and in a moment the hall was in a state of the greatest confusion, forty men struggling for possession of the speaker's gavel and as many more resisting.

During the melée a cry was raised that a woman delegate was in imminent danger of being crushed to death, as she was almost suffocated under the weight of a dozen fighters who had been knocked off their feet and were struggling on the floor of the stage. A lull ensued to allow the rescue of the woman, who was carried out of the hall for medical assistance.

In the meantime a riot call had been sent in and a wagon load of policemen soon invaded the hall and the floor was cleared.

The insurgents organized on the street, and say they will issue a call for a meeting of the republican county central committee to carry out the program as originally laid down by the corporations.

Ex-Senator Wolcott is credited with leading the bolt.

AFTER MASSACRE OF JEWS 500 ARRESTS ARE MADE.

Russian Government Puts Kishineff Under Martial Law, Orders Return of Stolen Goods—Names of Slain.

Further details of the riot at Kishineff, Besserabia, Russia, on April 19, in which forty-two Jews were massacred, were received yesterday by the Jewish Press and Progress, 429 South Union street, from Mr. Ostrofsky, a correspondent of the paper at Kishineff. A translation from the Yiddish of Mr. Ostrofsky's report follows:

"Five hundred persons, among them the leaders of the riot, are under arrest. The government attorney general, Follan, has come from St. Petersburg to Kishineff to make a personal investigation. The government has issued a proclamation to the peasants of Kishineff and vicinity ordering them to restore to the Jews willingly within twenty-four hours all the stolen goods that they may have in their possession. In case the order is not complied with, the proclamation states that each and every one will be charged and on evidence convicted the same as the actual rioters. Kishineff is at present under martial law. The forty-two Jewish victims were buried in the Jewish cemetery in the presence of over 40,000 people. The property loss entailed in the riot amounted to more than $1,000,000."

WOMAN IN AUTO INJURED.

DECLARED TO BE VICTIM OF PARK EMPLOYES' CARELESSNESS.

Mrs. James D. Adams Is Hurled from Her Husband's Machine When It Strikes Pile of Rubbish in Washington Park Roadway—Suffers from Compound Fracture of Collar Bone and Other Hurts—Absence of Any Warning Light Is Denounced.

An automobile accident in Washington park, in which Mrs. James D. Adams, 5011 Grand boulevard, was seriously injured, carries with it a reversal of the usual responsibility.

In this case the automobilist claims to be the victim of the carelessness of park employés. There was no red lantern on a pile of rubbish which partly obstructed a driveway into which Mrs. Adams steered her machine without being able to see the danger ahead.

The accident occurred Monday evening. The machine in which Mrs. Adams and her husband were riding struck the rubbish heap, and she was hurled over the front of the vehicle and fell on a pile of stones. Her collar bone was fractured in two places, her face was scratched, and her head was bruised. She may also have sustained internal injuries.

Saved from More Serious Injury.

Mr. Adams clung to the steering gear and exerted his strength to apply the brakes. While the automobile ran up on the mound of rubbish he managed to keep his place and prevented the automobile from running over the stunned form of his wife lying a few inches in front of the wheels.

Because of the height of the obstruction it was possible to stop the vehicle almost at the point where the first shock occurred. A crowd of nearly a hundred persons soon gathered and the unconscious woman was lifted into the automobile and taken to her home.

Dr. T. B. Wiggin, who was called to attend her, said he found the most serious injury to be the compound fracture of the collar bone. Last evening Mrs. Adams was reported to be suffering from the nervous shock as well as from her injuries.

Calls It Criminal Carelessness.

Mr. Adams, who owns the haberdashery at 82 Van Buren street and a steam laundry in Twenty-second street, was indignant at what he termed the criminal carelessness in leaving a pile of rocks and rubbish without proper safeguards in the center of a frequented driveway.

"There was no red lantern or other danger signal displayed on the pile of débris into which I ran my automobile," he said. "I have secured the names of several witnesses who will go on the stand to testify to the presence of the obstruction in the driveway and the absence of any signal. The mound was at least four feet high and extended half way across the road.

"Even a red lantern would have given us plenty of warning, but so dangerous was the nature of the obstruction that the opinion of several of those who saw it was that the park managers should have barricaded the road completely and shut off all traffic."

MACHINE TO AID NAVIGATION.

New Invention Is Tested and Promises to Prove of Great Value to Mariners in Work.

San Francisco, Cal., May 12.—The stellar azimuth machine, invented and patented by Capt. R. T. Lawless of the Oceanic Steamship company, has been given the test of practical use and has proved a most valuable addition to the mariners' aid in navigation. One of these machines was used on board the flagship New York during the just ended cruise of the Pacific squadron, and the trial not only proved its value but demonstrated the wonderful possibilities of the invention. According to the navigating officer of the New York the stellar azimuth machine is an advanced step in the direction of a mechanical navigator, which will solve the problems of position and courses with absolute accuracy, the factor of mental miscalculation being entirely eliminated.

Henry Johnson Must Pay $50 for Addressing a Woman at Wells and Superior Streets.

Henry Johnson, a masher, was fined $50 by Justice Gibbons yesterday. The accusation was denied by Johnson, who told the court that he had accosted the woman because he believed he knew her.

GOVERNOR HITS RECKLESS PRESS.

Pennsylvania Executive Says New Libel Law Will Check Sensationalism.

CITES MANY OFFENSES.

Insists Freedom of Speech Is Not Restrained, but Slander Is Punished.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 12.—[Special.]—Gov. Pennypacker today, in approving the recently enacted Grady-Salus libel bill, issued a long statement in which he says the new law is in general a good one, and will not harm any newspaper that endeavors to be fair and honest, although it may make it difficult for sensational publications to observe the requirements.

The governor's message throughout carries the idea that the bill is intended to check reckless sensationalism and punish the unwarranted publication of untruths or half truths, which actually do harm to those concerned and which have a tendency to lower the moral tone of the community.

The bill goes into effect immediately, and repeals all laws or parts of laws inconsistent with the new act.

Wide Interests Affected.

The governor says in his statement that the questions raised by the bill are of grave importance and affect large business interests, the freedom of speech, and the press, the right of the citizen to be informed concerning current affairs, and the conduct of government, as well as his right to protect his reputation and home from the injuries that rise from careless or negligent as well as, malicious false report. The fact that the issues are raised, he says, indicates a widespread dissatisfaction with conditions demanding more than passing attention.

The governor claims there is nothing in the terms of the measure which prevents any newspaper from making such comments upon legislative measures or upon the official acts of state, municipal, county, or public officers as are proper for the information of the public or are in the line of legitimate public discussion.

How the New Law Applies.

"The bill in its application," says the governor, "is not confined to officials, but affects as well the citizen or business man whose conduct constitutes no part of the right of the public to information. The corporation officer who has been falsely charged with crime; the manufacturer who has been falsely accused of being a drunken brawler; the woman whose domestic griefs have been unfeelingly paraded or whose chastity is improperly suspected; the student who has been falsely accused of murder; the clergyman who has been cruelly maligned; the quiet citizen whose peace of mind has been destroyed by the publication of evil gossip; the merchant whose credit has been affected by groundless rumors; the sufferers from reckless but not necessarily malicious publications are given the right not to prohibit publication but to recover the damages which they have sustained, provided they prove negligence or lack of care on the part of the publishing newspapers. All these are instances of what has in fact recently occurred.

Cites Typical Offenses.

"Within a few days in a leading article on the first page of a daily journal, under large headlines, upon a rumor of unknown source as to the name of the suggested appointee to the position of prothonotary of the Supreme court, when no appointment had been made and no utterance, official or otherwise, had emanated from any member of that court, that high tribunal was subjected to a covert assault under the words 'Machine after control of the Supreme court.' A mayor of our chief city has been called a trailer, a senator of the United States has been denounced as a 'yokel with a sodden brain' and within the last quarter of a century two presidents of the United States have been murdered, and in each instance the cause was easily traceable to inflammatory and careless newspaper utterance.

"A cartoon in a daily journal of May 2 defines the question with entire precision. An ugly little dwarf representing the governor of the commonwealth stands on a crude stool. The stool is subordinate to and placed alongside a huge printing press with wheels as large as those of an ox team and all are so arranged as to give the idea that when the press starts the stool and its occupant will be thrown to the ground.

"Put into words, the cartoon asserts to the world that the press is above the law and greater in strength than the government. No self-respecting people will permit such an attitude to be long maintained. In England a century ago the offender would have been drawn and quartered and his head stuck upon the pole without the gates. In America today this is the kind of arrogance which 'goeth before a fall.'"

The governor says further: "If such abuse of privileges allowed to the press is to go unpunished, if such tales are permitted to be poured into the ears of men and to be profitable, it is idle to contend that reputable newspapers can maintain their purity."

Reckless Press Breeds Crime.

Gov. Pennypacker also says that many years' experience on the bench has led him to the conclusion that crimes are widely propagated not by malice but by the recklessness of the press, and that in certain classes of cases, among them murder, the accused were at times convicted or acquitted before they reached the courtroom. He claims that the damages provided for by the bill follows the ordinary rule of damages for want of reasonable care, and that no harm can come from the provision in the bill requiring that the names of the owners, proprietor, publisher, and managing editor should be printed with each issue of a newspaper published in Pennsylvania. He argues that the omission of the word "weekly" from the provisions of the bill was unwise, but in no sense fatal, and that if hereafter a newspaper should be issued every other day or twice a day, and thus not included in the descriptive words used, it would, as well as the journals published weekly, be covered by the general enacting words, and be subject to the provisions of the act.

Opens Way to Better Laws.

After discussing briefly the questions to whether or not the bill passed the house of representatives in regular form, the governor concludes his statement as follows:

"This bill may not be the best possible legislation, but the purpose is commendable and should experience show it to be defective something better may be devised. It ought to be cordially and cheerfully accepted by the reputable press, for they have a special interest in its becoming a law. Where the tares occupy the ground the wheat perishes. It threatens them with no danger. Seeking to utter the truth and not the falsehood, what have they to fear?

"Unless means are found to uproot some of the tendencies of modern journalism, the influence, already badly shaken, will be utterly lost, and the influence of the press, which has been so potent an agent in the development of civilization and in securing civil liberty, will be gone forever."

BIG CUT IN RAILROAD RATES.

New Classification for Freight by Illinois Board Reduces Tariffs Materially on Short Runs.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The new classification of freight rates made by the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission will become effective about June 1. A general reduction of 25 per cent on carload lots is given for distances ranging from one to 100 miles. For distances from 100 to 200 miles the reduction is from 12 to 15 per cent on carload lots. No reduction is given on distances longer than 200 miles. The changes affect only the first five classes.

RAID OFFICE FOR A DRAMA

PLAYWRIGHTS CLASH OVER OWNERSHIP OF A "THRILLER."

Shift in Name from "Younger Brothers, Bank Robbers," to the "Heart of the Ozarks" to Avoid Ban on Bandit Plays Results in Clash and Arrests in Chamber of Commerce—Young Woman Stenographer to the Rescue.

Here is a melodrama that was too thrilling even for one night stands in the wilds of Indiana. It had more plot than it could conveniently handle in five acts and ten scenes, including a grand tableau of "20—Count 'Em—Beautiful Women—Count 'Em—20." As a consequence the thriller came to an abrupt end on the stage proper and will henceforth appear exclusively before courtroom audiences, beginning with a dress rehearsal this morning before Justice Prindiville in the Harrison street police court.

"Younger Brothers, Bank Robbers," is the delicately suggestive title of the drama which has proved too great for the cramped and narrow confines of the stage. It was owned by R. L. Crescy of Chicago, a manager of several dramatic thrillers.

The "Younger Brothers" play seems to have fired the imaginations of its cast to as high a pitch as it was warranted to excite its audiences. As leading man Phineas McLean put in an adventurous three hours every night blowing safes, holding up bank clerks, and escaping from posses.

Raid on Crescy's Office.

When the show closed from financial and other embarrassment in South Chicago last Saturday night most of the principals went out of the thrilling business. But McLean? Not he. McLean declared that he had an interest in the manuscript of the drama, and forthwith he hunted up Justice Prindiville and secured a search warrant.

Accompanied by four detective sergeants, McLean yesterday afternoon marched up to Manager Crescy's office in the Chamber of Commerce building and demanded the manuscript. It appeared that the document was in Mr. Crescy's safe, and upon his refusal to deliver it up McLean stepped forward and with a majestic sweep of the arm he commanded, just as in the melodrama:

"Then, men, blow the safe."

Enter the Stenographer.

He was interrupted by the entrance of Miss Jennie Epstein, stenographer to the manager, who rapidly convinced the constantly increasing crowd that the proper outlet for her genius was the stage.

"Get out of here, you cheap loafer!" cried the infuriated stenographer to the leading man. "You know you never wrote a line of that play—you were paid $5 a week to revise it, and now you say it's yours. Don't you dare call my employer names or I'll fix you."

Miss Epstein squared off menacingly and the detectives thought it best to step between the disputants, though McLean stood his ground and waved them grandly aside with one hand thrust tragically in the bosom of his flowing frock coat.

More Authors Arrive.

The next development was the tumultuous arrival of another claimant to the authorship of the play—Mr. Ben Atwell, a newspaper man, who says that he produced the drama in collaboration with Ernest Stout, another newspaper man.

McLean was now forgotten and all efforts centered on the ejection of Playwright Atwell from the office. Manager Crescy shook his finger in the author's face, and Miss Epstein screamed valiantly, but all to no avail. Then Martin J. Isaacs, attorney for Crescy, won the point by ejecting all but the police from the room.

After this Mr. Isaacs and Mr. Crescy opened the safe voluntarily and produced the manuscript, which was found to be the book of a play entitled "The Heart of the Ozarks." The police were so confused by the tangle that they solved the difficulty by taking both parties to the contention into custody.

According to Crescy, "Younger Brothers, Bank Robbers," was a show that might be termed "fierce." The police authorities of several Indiana towns forbade its production within their jurisdiction on the ground that its moral tone was low. The dramatic syndicate sent word that it was not booking any more "bandit shows."

"So we decided to change the name of the play and tone it down," said Mr. Crescy.

MISSING CHILD'S GUARDIAN ASKS HELP OF THE COURTS.

Mrs. Greenwood Says Girl Was Stolen by Her Mother, Dolly Hogan, Who Lives in West Madison Street.

Mrs. Adelaide Greenwood, whose foster daughter Edna was kidnaped from her home in Austin on Monday, yesterday secured the aid of the Juvenile court officials in hunting for the child. Mrs. Greenwood told Judge Tuthill Edna had been taken by her mother, Dolly Hogan. Mrs. Hogan, it is charged, is now living with Clarence White at 314 West Madison street. The father of the girl, it is said, is Daniel Hogan, whose whereabouts, Mrs. Greenwood says, are unknown to her.

Seek an 11-Year-Old Boy.—The police have been asked to search for Joseph Friedman, 11 years old, who disappeared from the home of his parents, 122 Forquer street, Saturday evening. The boy said he was going to buy some evening papers. He did not return.

May Have Killed Himself.—John Steele, 40 years old, disappeared on April 20 and is believed by his wife and the police to have committed suicide. He lived at 139 Park avenue. Despondency over failure in business is believed to have prompted the man to take his life.

Police Look for Waite.—Herbert C. Waite, 50 years old, has disappeared from his home, 322 Walnut street, and the police have been notified.

LAWYERS FIGHT: ONE ARRESTED

William Pettis Charges A. J. Bragmeier with Giving Him a Black Eye—Lawsuit Causes Trouble.

Charged with assaulting William Pettis, an attorney, with an office at 85 Dearborn street, A. J. Bragmeier, another attorney, who lives in Humboldt park and whose office is also at 85 Dearborn street, was brought up for trial yesterday morning in Justice Callahan's court at South Chicago. On Saturday Pettis and Bragmeier met in front of the Chicago opera house. A quarrel ensued over the conduct of a case which the two lawyers had in court, and each alleges that the other struck first. That Pettis at least was struck is indicated by a black eye. To receive redress for his injury Pettis swore out a warrant for Bragmeier's arrest. On Bragmeier's request the case was continued ten days.

RECALLS CRIME OF BARTHOLIN.

Body of Man, Probably a Suicide, Found Near Where Minnie Mitchell's Remains Lay.

The Bartholin murder mystery and the finding of Minnie Mitchell's body on the prairie at Seventy-fourth and State streets, were recalled to the minds of those who passed that place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and saw the body of a man with a bullet hole in the right temple lifted into a patrol wagon. The police took the body to Vale's undertaking rooms, 1277 Seventy-fifth street, where it awaits identification. The man committed suicide, the police believe. In his right hand was a revolver. He was 50 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighed 170 pounds.

Farnum, 2834 Prairie avenue, a meeting of the board of directors of the South Central Improvement association was held last evening to elect officers and effect a permanent organization. The officers chosen were: E. C. Wentworth, president; A. C. Bartlett, vice president; J. D. Stover, secretary; and E. A. Hamill, treasurer. Executive committee: Mrs. G. P. Upton, Mrs. Isabella Davis, J. W. Richards, Dr. R. H. Harvey, F. W. Farwell, E. A. Hamill, and J. D. Stover.

ARRESTS NEAR IN INDIANA MURDER

Prominent Youths Believed the Slayers of Man from Rival Village.

MORE PROOF OF A PLOT.

Three Crimes Blamed on Jealousy Between Towns—Violence by the People Is Feared.

Kokomo, Ind., May 12.—[Special.]—Startling developments came today in the mystery of the murder of Lewis Yeager. More evidence has been found that the crime was the result of the rivalry between the young men of the village where the victims of the three recent crimes lived and the village where their sweethearts resided. Three arrests are believed at hand.

When Yeager left his fiancée's home Sunday night he was followed by three men in a buggy and they were seen and recognized. Six hours longer than necessary for the trip home elapsed between the time Yeager was due at his father's place and when the horse with the body arrived.

Not Shot from Ambush.

Another feature of the case is that Yeager apparently was not shot from ambush while seated in his buggy, as first supposed. His body was tied to the seat in a sitting position and not a drop of blood was found in the vehicle, indicating that the victim was not in the buggy when killed.

Yeager, who was killed Sunday night; Francis Sutton, who was killed two weeks ago; and Logan Ingalls, who was assaulted a month before, all were chums and had been warned to desist in their visits to the young women of the rival town. All three young men's homes were in Oakford, while the sweethearts live in Hemlock.

Arrests May Come Soon.

It is universally believed in this city that Sheriff Stansbro has within his reach the three young men who within the next few hours will formally be charged with the murder of Yeager.

That the sheriff has refrained from making the arrests, according to the best opinion here, is because of the intense feeling. It is feared that formal action of the sheriff tending to confirm the suspicion of the community would result in an attempt to administer summary punishment. There have been three lynchings in this county, and the fear of reviving the mob spirit is grave. It is probable that the arrests will be made quietly and the prisoners taken to another county pending the result of the coroner's investigation, which will begin tomorrow.

Followed by Men in a Buggy.

John Kirkpatrick, a liveryman at Hemlock, saw three men about 10 o'clock Sunday night in the shadow of the home of W. J. Finley, with whose daughter, the affianced wife of Yeager, the young man spent the evening. When Kirkpatrick saw Yeager leave the Finley home in his buggy the three men had disappeared, but shortly after the liveryman saw a second buggy following Yeager's at a rapid pace.

The second conveyance carried three men. It is known that Kirkpatrick recognized these men and has communicated their names to the sheriff. The names are, of course, withheld from the public, but suspicion is so strong against them that it is feared the danger point has been reached.

The Yeager farm is three miles from Hemlock on a frequented highway, without a curve, and the farm can be seen from the village. There was a bright moon Sunday night, and many people traveled the road between 10 o'clock and morning. But no body has been found who saw Yeager's horse or its driver until it drew the corpse of Yeager into the father's stable yard at 5 o'clock the next morning, when seven hours had elapsed.

Body Is Tied Into Buggy.

The horse is a spirited animal, but it showed no indications of having run away or of hard driving. Yeager had been dead at least six hours when the body was discovered. The officers have been seeking and believe they have found the place in which the horse and man were concealed in the time intervening between the leave taking of Yeager from his sweetheart and the discovery of the body by his father.

The buggy driven by Yeager has been traced to a point near the village of Center, two miles north and west of Hemlock, and is almost in opposite direction from the Yeager farm. There are indications that it stopped at a deserted schoolhouse, and three men were seen by a farmer at an early hour Monday morning apparently searching in the vault of an outhouse.

The buggy again was seen passing through Center at 4 o'clock with a single occupant, apparently asleep. This is three miles from the Yeager home. It is believed the youth was killed at the schoolhouse, placed back in the buggy, and the horse started homeward.

With this there is also said to be much light shed on the death of Sutton, and it is expected that a grewsome story will be told at the coroner's investigation tomorrow.

ROBBERS WORK ON STREET CAR.

Passenger Loses His Watch to Two Men Who Jostle Him and Then Run.

John Carnen, 1031 West Adams street, was robbed of a watch valued at $40 last evening when on a Van Buren street electric car at Center avenue. He was standing on the rear platform of the car when he was jostled by two men, who seized the watch, jumped from the car, and ran north in Center avenue.

Curious Things Indeed

Come from coffee drinking.

A lady in New York City suffered an accident to her leg and a running sore followed that medical science tried to cure for many years, but, unknown to her, the coffee she drank daily kept the blood in a condition that would not let the sore heal. "Three years ago," said the lady, "I was advised to drink Postum and give up coffee of which I was very fond. To say that I am thankful now for having done this is putting it very mildly, for as soon as I made the shift from coffee to Postum my leg began to heal and in a few weeks was quite well.

"It has never troubled me since and I think it marvelous. Neither have I suffered from the bilious headaches which used to afflict me. I can give you the names of many of my friends who are as firm friends of Postum as I." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This is a case where Postum made red blood in a hurry. This lady thought it marvelous because her trouble of years standing was cured in a few weeks through giving up coffee and using Postum in its place. Nothing marvelous about it, only the simplest scientific reasons that it will pay anyone to look into.

Good healthy red blood will cure most any disease. Coffee in many people destroys the red corpuscles and produces white or watery blood. A definite change is made by leaving off coffee entirely and using Postum. You can prove this by trial.

ROOSEVELT AIDS AT UNIQUE FIRE.

Applies Match to a Big Pile of Notes Once Owed by the San Francisco Y. M. C. A.

TALKS TO THE MEMBERS.

Golden Gate City Is Warm in Its Greeting to President; Message from Edward VII.

San Francisco, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, who was the city's guest today, was chief actor in a unique ceremony, the burning of all evidences of former indebtedness against the Y. M. C. A. building.

The notes and mortgages, aggregating $115,280, which the association at one time owed, had been saved, and today was chosen for their destruction. The papers were piled in the street in front of the building, and when the president arrived during his trip through the city he was requested to apply the match. He complied and soon only ashes remained. The president then joined the assemblage in singing "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow."

Praise for Christian Bodies.

In addressing the Y. M. C. A. men President Roosevelt said:

"It would be hard to overestimate the amount of good work done by the Young Men's Christian association and the Young Women's Christian association. This association represents the effort to provide for the body as well as for the mind, to help young men to educate themselves, to train themselves for the practical life as well as for the high life and to give them amusement and relaxation that will educate and not debase them.

"In other words, the Y. M. C. A. in all its branches is working for civic and social righteousness, for decency, for good citizenship. There is no patent recipe for getting good citizenship. You get it by applying the old rules of decent conduct, the rules in accordance with which decent men have had to shape their lives from the beginning.

"If we are sincere in our professions of adherence to the principle laid down by the founder of Christianity, if we are sincere in our professions of adherence to the immutable laws of righteousness, we will honor in others and ourselves the power of each to do decently and well the work allotted to him and ask nothing further than that."

The presidential train arrived at Third and Townsend streets promptly at 2:15 o'clock. A large gathering of federal, state, and city officials, army and navy officers, foreign consuls, and distinguished citizens was in waiting to welcome the chief magistrate.

Mayor Schmitz stepped aboard the rear car and formally greeted Mr. Roosevelt, the president making a brief response. M. H. De Young, president of the citizens' reception committee, then shook hands with the distinguished visitor and welcomed him in a brief address.

Greeted by British Admiral.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed his thanks in a few words, and then was introduced to Admiral Bickford of the British Pacific squadron, who conveyed the good wishes of King Edward and said that the arrival of the flagship of the squadron to assist in the greeting was another instance of the cordial relations existing between the two nations. President Roosevelt said he appreciated the evidence of friendship and begged that his good wishes be given to his majesty.

Before entering his carriage, Mr. Roosevelt stepped up to the engine and warmly shook hands with Engineer McGrail and Fireman Everly, who had safely piloted him from the south.

In the parade the line was headed by a troop of colored cavalry, this being the first instance in the west where negro soldiers held the position of honor in a public procession. Following the president came United States troops from the local posts, sailors and marines from warships in the harbor and at Mare Island, regiments of the state militia, and a number of semi-military organizations.

A banquet in honor of the president was given tonight at the Palace hotel by the citizens' committee. One of the features of the decorations was an immense garland made entirely of California fruits and swung on the south wall of the room.

Tells of Nation's Prosperity.

In his address at the banquet President Roosevelt said:

"I rejoice with you on the prosperity of California, and that prosperity is but part of the prosperity of the whole union. Speaking broadly, prosperity must of necessity come to all of us or to none of us. This golden state has a future of even brighter promise than most of her older sisters; and yet the future is bright for all of us.

"In this growth, in keeping and increasing our prosperity, the most important factor must be the character of our citizenship. Nothing can take the place of the average quality of energy, thrift, business enterprise, and amity in our community as a whole.

"We have attained our present position of economic well being and of leadership in the international business world under a tariff policy in which I think our people as a whole have acquiesced as essentially wise alike from the standpoint of the manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer, and the wageworker. Doubtless as our needs shift it will be necessary to reapply in its detail this system so as to meet these shifting needs; but it would certainly seem, from the standpoint of our business interests, most unwise to abandon the general policy of the system under which our success has been so signal.

"In financial matters we are to be congratulated upon having definitely determined that our currency system should rest upon a gold basis, for to follow any other course would have meant disaster so widespread that it would be difficult to overestimate it.

"There is, however, unquestionably need of enacting further financial legislation so as to provide for greater elasticity in our currency system. At present there are certain seasons during which the rigidity of our currency system causes a stringency which is unfortunate in its effects.

"So in my judgment the congress that is to assemble next fall should take up and dispose of the pressing questions relating to banking and currency. I believe that such action will be taken, and I am sure that it ought to be taken."

President Roosevelt left San José at 8:30 o'clock this morning on his way to this city. A half hour's ride through orchards and fields brought the train to Palo Alto, the site of the Leland Stanford Jr. university. There the president left his carriage and was driven up a palm lined avenue to the university quadrangle. President Roosevelt was greeted by President David Starr Jordan, the faculty, and assembled students, to whom he delivered a brief address.

The president first spoke of Stanford university in words of praise and referred to the fact that President Jordan was an old and valued friend, whose advice he had often sought since he became president of the United States. He then devoted some time to the benefits of education, if properly applied in after life, and ended his address with a plea for the preservation of the forests.

Germans Surprised at Declaration.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 12.—President Roosevelt's prophecy in regard to the supremacy of the United States on the Pacific has excited surprise in Berlin, coming, as it does, the papers say, from so conservative a speaker. In some quarters the president's speech is regarded as a direct challenge to England, Japan, and Russia, whose claims to trade supremacy in the Pacific are held to be far older than America's, which only date from the acquisition of the Philippines. In other quarters the speech would be held to indicate an offensive rather than a defensive policy, but it is believed here that Mr. Roosevelt is merely endeavoring to arouse sentiment in his country in favor of the upbuilding of a stronger fleet.

to business firms throughout the country he would long ago have taken action along the lines of Mr. Bristow's order of today. Assistant Postmaster General Bristow expects to complete his report and lay it before Mr. Payne about June 1 unless unexpected discoveries are made, and until that time it is probable that no further action will be taken by the postmaster general.

Efforts will be made at the international conference in London on May 28 to secure more favorable consideration of the American code for cablegrams. Some years ago a conference agreed upon an official code and the cable companies decided that other cipher words than those contained in this code would not be transmitted over their lines. This country did not participate in the conference and declined to adhere to the cipher adopted.

The government codes and those of many commercial houses contain words not in the cipher adopted, and for this reason the United States has been discriminated against and American code messages have been permitted to go through largely by courtesy. During the Chinese troubles difficulty was experienced, which was due almost entirely to the discrimination of the cable and telegraph lines. American messages were laid aside to make way for those coming from countries recognizing the vocabulary.

This year the United States was asked to send a delegate to the conference, and Gen. A. W. Greely, chief of the army signal corps, was selected by the secretary of war to represent this government. He has had large experience in telegraph matters, and it was through his personal influence that the United States finally was enabled to secure fair treatment by the foreign cable companies. He left tonight for New York and will sail for London tomorrow. He has no vote in the conference, but will do all he can to persuade the members of the conference to accept the American code messages, notwithstanding their nonconformity to the established vocabulary.

DIFFER ON WHITE HOUSE WORK.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Architect Clash and Former Says She Must Be Consulted in the Future.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt is at odds with Architect McKim over the work at the White house. She has given him to understand that she is tired of having the house torn up, and has told him to do nothing further without first consulting her.

KILLED WALKING ON A TRACK.

L. F. Schmidt of Chicago Is Run Down by Railway Train at Kalamazoo, Mich.

L. F. Schmidt of Chicago, president of the River View Coated Paper Mills company at Kalamazoo, was killed by a train yesterday at Kalamazoo. He was walking along the track from the factory when run down. The body was thrown forty feet in the air, death being instantaneous.

Mr. Schmidt was a son of Leonard Schmidt, a retired paper manufacturer, residing at 450 North Clark street. He was 28 years old. Four years ago he succeeded his father as president of the company, and when its plant at Riverview was burned last year superintended the construction of the new factory at Kalamazoo. The body will be brought to Chicago today and funeral services will be held probably tomorrow at the family residence.

A boy and a man received probably fatal injuries in Chicago yesterday, being run over by railway trains. They are:

Connors, William, 8 years old, 1451 Thirty-fourth court, run down by Chicago and Alton sand train while playing on track at Hoyne avenue; hip crushed and internal injuries; taken home.

Woods, Andrew, 28 years old, 7 Ward court, run over by Erie passenger train at Twenty-first street and Stewart avenue; both legs cut off; taken to St. Luke's hospital.

URGES CURE FOR CRIMINALS.

Dr. Samuel Barrows Says Efforts Should Be Devoted to Exterminating Evil Tendencies.

Atlanta, Ga., May 12.—The thirtieth annual convention of the National Association of Charities and Corrections came to an end tonight. The principal address of the evening session was by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Barrows, secretary of the New York Prison association, who discussed the treatment of criminals. Dr. Barrows said in part:

"A penal system, to be effective, must be corrective. The protection of society is best secured not by extirpating the criminal but by exterminating his criminality.

"When an offender is removed from society he should be submitted to conditions which are essentially disciplinary and corrective. In the selection of labor for prisoners that form should be chosen which will do most to fit the prisoner for self-support when at liberty."

Among the other speakers were Dr. D. J. McMahon of New York, A. W. Guthridge of St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Emily E. Williamson of Elizabeth, N. J.; Mrs. Alice N. Lincoln of Boston, and Homer Folks, commissioner of charities of New York City.

COMBINE RUMORED ON BOARD.

Bartlett-Frazier and Carrington-Patten Firms, It Is Said, May Figure in "Merger."

A "merger" affecting two of the largest firms on the board of trade—Bartlett-Frazier & Co. and Carrington, Patten & Co.—is among the possibilities. Negotiations looking to this end have been opened, but it is claimed by all interested parties that nothing definite has been decided on. Mr. F. P. Frazier said:

"The subject of a combination has been broached, but not much more than that. It is impossible to say whether anything will come of it."

Substantially the same attitude was assumed by George Patten of the Carrington-Patten company. It is, however, a matter of common knowledge that two partners will withdraw from the Bartlett-Frazier firm on June 1. These are H. E. Rycroft and H. H. Peters, both fairly heavy stockholders.

WANTS A NURSE: FIRES SHOT.

Story Told of Sick Man at 268 Randolph Street Is Doubted by Police, Who Arrest Seven.

A revolver shot in the building at 268 West Randolph street early this morning started the report that a man had been murdered. Policemen hurried to the building, but could find no victim. They were told that a man who was ill in the building had fired a shot to attract attention, as he had grown worse. There were seven other men in the place, and the police arrested them all until an investigation can be made.

HOW CITY LOSES BY FREE GRANTS.

Records Show Council Has Been Lavish in Bestowing Gratuitous Privileges.

SOME HAVE NO RIGHTS.

Proceed Without Authority, or Ordinances Granting Same Are Expired.

"Fully $500,000 a year is lost to the city of Chicago through failure to demand compensation from firms and individuals making use of streets, alleys, sidewalk space, or other special privileges. Much of this loss is represented in privileges assumed by firms or individuals wholly without authority of any kind from the municipal government."

This is the statement made by Ald. B. W. Snow, whose efforts have resulted in the city council ordering an investigation as to "privileges" which yield compensation or are assumed without authority.

A study of the council proceedings from 1867 to April 2, 1902, shows that of 250 council grants only ninety-one carry compensation:

Council Has Power to Act.

Governing 107 of the 159 gratuitous privileges are ordinances which can be terminated at the will of the council or which already have expired.

There are 209 instances where corporations and individuals are enjoying switch track privileges for which the council records fail to show any authority.

There are only sixteen council permits for projecting bay windows in the downtown district—two cases being without compensation. Thousands of such windows are said to exist.

The records show only fifteen ordinances granting the right to construct bridges over street or alleys, connecting various portions of business establishments. Of this number eight carry no compensation. Scores of such buildings are said to have been constructed.

Some of the Privileges.

In brief, the grants extended by the city and those assumed without authority are divided as follows:

Pumping water from city mains—Held by two corporations, each paying $25 per million gallons; expire 1912.

Elevated sidewalk or bulkhead—Held by four corporations; two paying compensation and two paying nothing. There appears to be no limit to one of the latter grants, while the other may be terminated at the will of the council.

Water pipes under streets and alleys—Five corporations paying compensation, the ordinances expiring in 1910 and 1911; the Pullman company pays no compensation, this grant on its face extending for an unlimited period.

Steam pipes and conduits under streets—One firm pays compensation of $25 annually; two nothing; the latter includes the University of Chicago, which has an ordinance for an indefinite period.

Bridges over streets and alleys—Seven firms pay compensation ranging from $15 to $5,000 annually; eight pay nothing, the latter list including the Keeley Brewing company, the People's Gaslight and Coke company at Elston avenue, the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company at Ashland avenue, and the Western Electric company in two places. The gas company's grant is indefinite.

Six Have Free Tunnels.

Tunnels under streets and alleys—Five firms pay compensation from $100 to $1,000 annually, the latter being in the case of the Auditorium association; six pay nothing, the list including the Keeley Brewing company, J. S. Kirk & Co., the Marshall Field wholesale house, and the Western Electric company.

Excavations and coal vaults under streets and alleys—Three firms pay compensation; seven pay nothing, among the latter being the Ashland Block association, F. W. Peck, and Rand, McNally & Co.

Bay windows and sidewalk space—Fourteen pay from $25 to $1,200 annually; two pay nothing.

Electric wires over streets and alleys—One firm pays $25 a year; two nothing.

Switch tracks—Fifty-one firms pay compensation ranging from $25 to $500 annually; 129 pay nothing, the latter list including Armour & Co., the A. F. Bullen Malting company, the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, Dolese & Shepard, Felix & Marston, Gahan & Byrne, Illinois Steel company, and the Keeley Brewing company.

Of these grants forty-nine may be terminated by the council at will and thirty-seven have expired, a number of the latter ordinances ceasing to be in force as far back as 1894, although the privileges still are exercised.

McGann Preparing List.

Acting on the council's order, City Controller McGann began during the day the compilation of a statement regarding privileges and the amounts of compensation, if any, which the holders pay to the city. A rigid investigation is promised.

The privileges extended by the city through permits issued by the public works department, too, are to be inquired into, ordinances in these cases not being necessary. It is said that space in many alleys is being utilized under these permits without proper rent being paid into the city treasury.

FIRE CHIEF ASKS FOR CHARGES.

Musham Writes to Board of Underwriters and Wants Specific Allegations.

Fire Marshal Musham has written to the board of underwriters requesting that definite charges be filed against himself or any other member of the department suspected of having been derelict in his duty. The mayor said that the charges against the department had been stirred up by the indiscreet friends of a man who stood directly in line for promotion, but who himself would not countenance their actions.

"This man knows he will be chief some day," said the mayor, "and when he is chief he wants to know that he got the position because he was a good fireman and not because of the political influence of his friends. There is no better fire fighter than Chief Musham."

The man referred to by the mayor was said to be First Assistant Marshal John Campion. Another story was that he referred to Battalion Chief James Horan, who has many stanch friends in and out of the department. Horan declared he had not and would not countenance any action hostile to the chief. He said:

"I do not seek Chief Musham's place. I have had nothing to do with any charges against the department. It is my life work and I am too proud of the force to permit any one to cast a slur on it."

CURTIS JETT TRIES NEW TACTICS

Man Charged with Assassination of J. B. Marcum Seeks Way to Secure Change of Venue to Friends.

Winchester, Ky., May 12.—[Special.]—By means of habeas corpus proceedings Curtis Jett today endeavored to escape a hearing in Clark county on the warrant charging the assassination of J. B. Marcum in Breathitt county. Jett is anxious to be taken to Breathitt county, where it is certain the prosecution under the existing conditions will be a farce.

Judge Benton, before whom the proceedings were brought, while not passing on the case, put it over until tomorrow. Meantime subpœnas have been sent to Breathitt county for witnesses against Jett if they are bold enough to testify.

If it is possible Jett will be held in jail here until the Jackson county grand jury passes on the case the first week in June. Then he can be held as a fugitive until such time as the case can be transferred to some other county. The Hargis faction bitterly oppose a change of venue and will spare no effort to get Jett out of his present scrape.

SALT MONOPOLY IS HIT.

FEDERAL COMPANY CONVICTED IN SAN FRANCISCO COURT.

First Conviction Secured Under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law—Maximum Fine of $5,000 May Be Imposed—Offending Corporation Cornered Product on Pacific Coast and Raised Prices from $2 and $6 a Ton to $30 and $35.

San Francisco, Cal., May 12.—Before Judge De Haven in the United States District court today the Federal Salt company, of which D. E. Skinner is president, was convicted of maintaining a monopoly contrary to the Sherman anti-trust law. When the case was opened counsel for the corporation withdrew its original plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the first count of the indictment. Judge De Haven will pronounce sentence on Thursday. The maximum fine is $5,000.

This case marks the first conviction under the Sherman law, which went into effect in 1892. Last November the attorney general's office won a civil suit before Judge Morrow against the same company on identical evidence. The successful termination of that suit abolished the contracts the Federal Salt company held.

The Federal Salt company was organized in New Jersey in 1900. It established a business in California and quickly secured a monopoly of the product on the coast, raising the price from $2 and $6 a ton to $30 and $35.

THIRD KING IN POLICY RING: SHOPS HAVE "TIP" TO OPEN.

Word Goes Out That Game Can Flourish Until May 19, When the Indicted Men Will Be Called for Trial.

"Patsy" King, boss of the Chicago policy syndicate, thinks there is safety in numbers. He said recently that he had nothing to do with policy, that "it was another King." It then developed that his brother John was interested in the policy gang. It now appears that there is still another King in the ring—a saloonkeeper known to the sporting fraternity as "Tim." He has an interest in two of the principal books, and though not a relative, is close to the real boss of the game. With so many other Kings in the business, "Patsy" wonders why so much attention is paid to him.

In the face of "Patsy's" protestations that he is not the man, the word was sent out yesterday directly from his headquarters that policy would be wide open till May 19, when Judge Chetlain takes up the 128 indictments against the gang and its employés.

With the tip went the added injunction that now was the time to make a killing before the publicity of the trials should again put the "graft" under a cloud.

BISHOP CHATARD HOLDS HIS SILVER JUBILEE MASS.

Notable Gathering of Roman Catholic Prelates at Services in St. John's Church in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—[Special.]—The most notable gathering of Roman Catholic prelates in the history of Indiana was that at St. John's church this morning, at the pontifical high mass celebrated by Bishop Francis Silas Chatard of the Indianapolis diocese, in commemoration of his silver jubilee, or twenty-fifth anniversary of his consecration.

The usual impressiveness of the Roman Catholic service was increased by the large number of prelates in attendance. Besides Cardinal Gibbons, there were several archbishops, forty bishops and abbots, and about 300 priests and nuns of the various orders. The mass began at 10 o'clock and was sung by the united choirs of the local churches.

The sermon was preached by Archbishop Quigley of Chicago, who, as a student, was present in Rome at the time of the consecration of Bishop Chatard.

A banquet to the distinguished visitors was given this afternoon and a reception tonight.

BILL ON JUDGES' PRACTICE VETOED

Gov. Yates Holds Measure Is a Reflection on the Bench and Not Necessary.

SAYS ASSEMBLY ERRED.

Approval Refused for Plan to Cut a Street Through Humboldt Park; Many Laws Signed.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Gov. Yates today vetoed house bill 170, a bill making it unlawful for the judges in the Circuit or Superior courts to practice law in any court in this state or to act as attorney or counsel for any person in the state. The governor says:

"I withhold approval from this bill because it seems to me that it casts something of a reflection upon the judges of the Circuit court of this state. It assumes and implies that were it not for this provision the Circuit judges habitually would engage in the practice of law before one another in the County, of Appellate, or Superior courts.

"I do not believe this to be the case. The state of Illinois has a body of judges of the highest attainments and highest sense of honor and propriety. They habitually dignify the positions which they fill and justly enjoy the absolute confidence and the profound deference of the people. It is a part of the ethics of the noble profession of which they are the most exalted and conspicuous members not to represent litigants in causes on trial in the courts of one another, or in other tribunals. The ethics of the profession are more sacred to them than to even the profession at large. Hence this bill is unnecessary, to say the least. It cannot be conceived that the general assembly intended to cast any aspersions upon the judicial department of the government, nor can it be concluded that it intended to pass an unnecessary law. I therefore conclude that it acted with haste or inadvertence, or want of deliberation, and I act accordingly."

No Street in Humboldt Park.

He also vetoed house bill 126, being an act allowing city councils to open streets through parks in certain cases. In support of his veto the governor says:

"I withhold approval of this bill at the request of the board of west Chicago park commissioners, who state that the purpose of the bill is to open Division street, in the city of Chicago, through Humboldt park, the purpose being to establish a trolley line on such extension of said street. Such opening and such use thereof would effectually cut off the south end of this great and beautiful park, and be a source not only of annoyance but of danger to the individuals frequenting or visiting the park."

Mueller Bill's Chances Good.

The chances of the Mueller bill becoming a law are deemed brighter tonight, because men occupying confidential relations with the governor say the trend of his mind is toward approval of the bill. He will do nothing with it, in all probability, until the latter part of the week. In the meantime he is examining bills as rapidly as possible and he expects to clear up his docket by next Tuesday night, the last day of grace, and then dump the whole bunch into the office of the secretary of state. He has set apart Thursday for hearings on four bills, Senator Clark's measure for a board of dental examiners, the Torrens land title bill, the virtual repeal of the indeterminate sentence law, and the bill regarding the election of school commissioners applying to Quincy.

Odd Errors in Measures.

The governor has 'OK'd about 140 bills, and is assisted by numerous experts. Many of the bills are imperfectly enrolled and engrossed and curious and inexplicable errors appear. In one measure the verb "does" is spelled "dose" and in another the word "council," meanning city council, is spelled "counsil." There are errors of punctuation, and if the Supreme court does not have trouble over this batch of bills the wise men will all be at sea.

It is likely that the change made in the convict labor bill after it was sent to Gov. Yates will result in litigation when an effort to put the law into effect is made. Edward McCoy, assistant in the office of the enrolling and engrossing clerk, who made the change in the bill today, said that the change was made at the executive mansion before Gov. Yates signed the bill.

ARGUING ON TORRENS LAW.

Delegations Going to Springfield to Petition Governor For and Against Signing.

Interest in the amendment to the Torrens law, which passed the legislature, has been revived by the vigorous efforts being made by the opponents of the measure to induce Gov. Yates to veto it.

The governor is understood to have set aside tomorrow for a hearing on the measure and delegations representing its friends and opponents will leave for Springfield tonight.

It is said that President E. G. Keith of the Chicago Title and Trust company, together with H. S. Dietrich and Peter Van Vlissingen, will appear in opposition, while a strong delegation from the Torrens Law Extension league will argue for the measure.

The friends of the measure profess to be confident that the governor will either approve it or permit it to become a law without his approval.

It is pointed out that he has frequently expressed his approval of the Torrens system.

During the last three or four days thousands of postal cards have been sent by the opponents of the law to real estate owners and brokers containing a protest against the law to be signed by them and sent to Gov. Yates. Many have come into the hands of those favoring the law and they, after altering the reading so as to make it an indorsement, have forwarded them to the governor.

RECOUNT SHOWS CHANGES.

More Discrepancies Found than Before, but They Counterbalance—Boehm Begins a Contest.

In the recount of votes in the Sixth congressional district yesterday Lorimer lost five votes of his net gain. More discrepancies were found than on any other day since the recount began, but they counterbalanced each other to a great extent.

Lorimer, in the Eighth precinct of the Twentieth ward, made a gain of ten votes and sustained a loss of eleven in the Tenth precinct. Durborow made a gain of ten votes in the Tenth precinct. Ten precincts were recounted, leaving twenty-six remaining inside the city.

John J. Boehm, democratic candidate for city clerk, filed a petition in the County court contesting the seat of Fred C. Bender, charging that frauds and mistakes were frequent in the official count. The official return gave Bender 136,319 votes and Boehm 136,072.

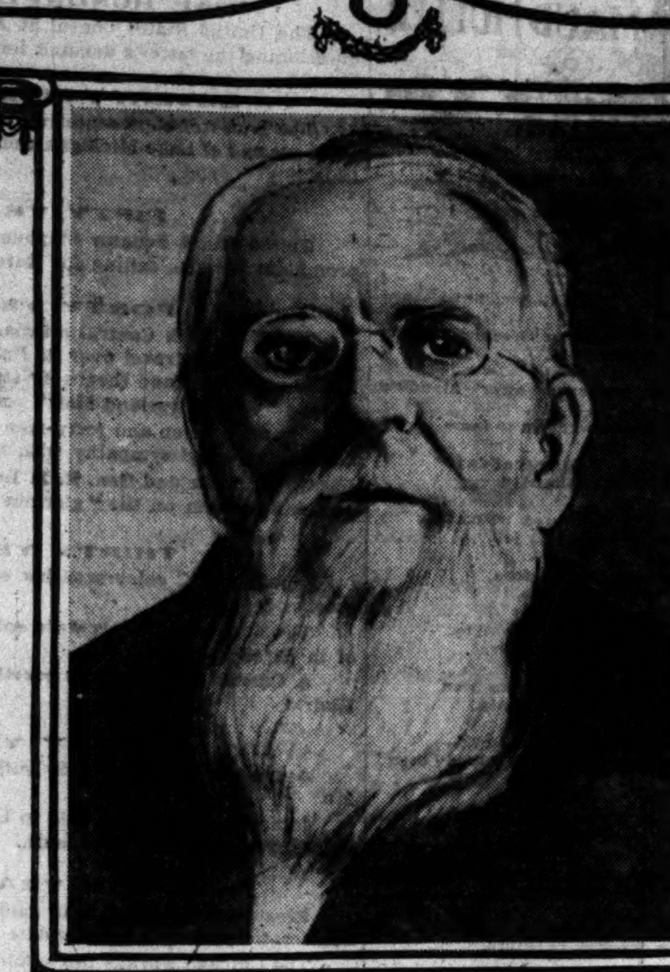

Presbyterian Social Union Meets.

Officers were elected last night by the Presbyterian Social union as follows: President, the Rev. W. R. Notman; vice president, James W. Fanney; secretary, T. G. McCulloch; treasurer, J. E. Defebaugh. The executive committee chosen consists of the Rev. C. B. McAfee, the Rev. P. F. Matzinger, J. P. Rumsey, and Thomas A. Hall. The election was held at the dinner of the union in the Auditorium hotel.

WELL-KNOWN POET WHO DIED YESTERDAY.

Richard Henry Stoddard.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Richard Henry Stoddard, the poet, died today at his residence in this city. Mrs. Stoddard died less than a year ago, and his son, Lorimer Stoddard, is also dead. Mr. Stoddard was the only one of the family left. For a week past he had been confined to his bed with rheumatism of the heart and ills incident to old age. The funeral will be held on Thursday in the Church of the Messiah, the Rev. Robert Collyer and the Rev. Minot J. Savage officiating. The interment will be at Sag Harbor.

He was born in Hingham, Mass., July 2, 1825. His first poem was published when he was 20. Edgar Allan Poe refused to print his "To a Grecian Flute" because it seemed to be too excellent for an original composition by a man so young.

Mr. Stoddard had no classical education—a fact to which he attributed his facility in Anglo-Saxon expression—and he never went abroad.

He married in 1852 Elizabeth Irene Barstow. For twenty-five years he had lived quietly with his books and his pipe in the same house on Stuyvesant square and there he collected a library of rare volumes and souvenirs of many kinds.

Of his writings it is sufficient to name "The Book of the East," "Adventures in Fairy Land," "Songs of Summer," "The King's Bell" "A Horatian Ode," "The Lion's Cub, and Other Verse," "Under the Evening Lamp," "Abraham Lincoln," "Life of Humboldt," "A Century After," "Putnam, the Brave," and a "Life of Washington Irving."

SNAG FOR JUDGES' FUND.

SEVERAL REPUBLICANS PAY $1,000 AND NO MORE.

Alarm Over Result of Election, Increased by Report That Lorimer Is to Conduct the Campaign, Results in Several Nominees Holding Back Balance of Their Assessments—Conway Still Out of Town—Democrats Will Hold Ten Big Meetings.

Apparently the republican judicial campaign is confronted with all kinds of trouble. Believing that their chances of election are not good, some of the candidates now refuse to pay all of their $3,000 for campaign purposes.

They have contributed the first installment of $1,000 and their friends said yesterday that the contribution would also be their last. Some of these same nominees were given a shock during the day by reports that William Lorimer had assumed command at headquarters, taken Chairman Conway's place, and would run the campaign. If anything more was needed to make sure their refusal to give up more money this story supplied the want.

Numerous protests went out against Mr. Lorimer becoming the head and front of the campaign committee. The report, however, was exaggerated. As chairman of the committee on organization Mr. Lorimer will have a great deal to do with managing the contest, but he is not the campaign chairman. There was talk that Mr. Conway would delegate Lorimer to preside in his absence and that he expected to stay away two-thirds of the time, but a member explained that no chairman could do anything of the sort.

Vice Chairman to Be Boss.

"We have a vice chairman, whose duty it is to act when the chief is not present," he said. "In the absence of both it has been the unvarying custom of this body to select one of its members to preside. We have been doing that for the last week and will continue to do it pending Mr. Conway's return."

The candidates and their friends, who became alarmed at the prospect of open Lorimer rule, breathed easier when they learned what the situation was. It was Lorimer's activity in getting the organization committee to work that caused the scare. He called the members together at 2 o'clock for the purpose of preparing a program and mapping out work for the ward clubs.

It was said also that two or three of the democratic candidates have not as yet come forward with any portion of their contributions to the campaign fund.

Big Meetings for Democrats.

It developed during the day that the democratic executive committee will depend on ten big massmeetings and the receptions to get the voters interested in the democratic judicial ticket. The ten rallies are to be held in the ten congressional districts, and the speakers at each will be Mayor Harrison, Thomas A. Moran, Samuel Alschuler, James McShane, W. S. Forrest, and others. It is expected that the candidates will appear on the platform and be introduced to the crowds. Opportunity will be given for a great deal of handshaking.

The first of these meetings will be held Friday night in the Tenth district at Social Turner hall, Clark street and Belmont avenue. There will be four next week and five the last week of the campaign. The first big gathering, however, is scheduled for tomorrow night at 122 La Salle street, where the candidates are to meet and be introduced to the judges and clerks of election and the ward committeemen. At another workers' roundup they will come in contact with the ward club presidents and precinct captains. Saturday afternoon they will meet representative delegations from the various nationalities.

The fight of the provisional candidates to get their names on the ballot is beginning to attract attention. For the third time and because its members have been unable to agree, the board of supervisors yesterday postponed its decision of the question until 10 a. m. today.

Graduate Nurses Meet Today.

The quarterly meeting of the Illinois State Association of Graduate Nurses will be held today and tomorrow in the rooms of the Chicago Medical society in the Schiller building. Among the speakers will be Dr. G. W. Webster, president of the state of board of health; A. C. Clark, and the Rev. E. N. Kelly.

CASH FOR TRACTION RENT

RECEIVERS TO ASK COURT TODAY TO LET THEM RAISE IT.

West Chicago Stock Payment Due on Friday and They Hope to Meet the Debt—Question of Franchise Renewal All Important, and Efforts Are Directed to Urging Gov. Yates to Sign the Mueller Bill So Something Can Be Done.

Steps to pay rents due from the Union Traction company to the shareholders of underlying companies probably will be taken today.

W. W. Gurley, general counsel for the Union Traction company, said last evening that he expected to file today with Judge Grosscup the petition of the receivers for permission to pay the rents due on Friday to West Chicago stockholders. This will of necessity carry with it similar permission regarding the money due the North Chicago stockholders on July 1. Mr. Govin and Mr. Auerbach will return from New York this morning with some amendments to the petition, and as soon as they are incorporated it can be presented to the court.

While the primary purpose of the petition is to settle the question of the payment of the rents it will be a much more comprehensive instrument than this and will set forth for the information of the judge the entire history of the Union Traction company. It has been described as the "most elaborate hard luck story ever told."

The minority interests in the underlying companies, who are opposed to the paying of these dividends, have set up two objections to the plan proposed by the receivers.

One is that under the law a corporation is debarred from paying dividends except from earnings, and the second that the money borrowed to meet the charges coming due would have to be raised on the credit of the 52,000 shares of stock of the underlying companies now held by the Illinois Trust and Savings bank as trustee.

The answer made to the first of these objections is that it is not a case of the west side company borrowing money to pay dividends, but of its tenant, the Union Traction company, borrowing the money to pay rent.

As to the second, the receivers say they do not intend to pledge the stock in question as security.

Mr. Gurley, Receiver Sampsell, and President Roach had a conference with Judge Grosscup after the judge's return home in the morning. It was agreed then that the petition in question would be taken up and passed upon this week.

Franchise Renewal All Important.

What Union Traction officials are now taking more interest in, however, than these financial matters is the question of a settlement of the franchise matter with the city.

In view of the position of the mayor that he will oppose all franchise legislation until a municipal ownership bill is passed the question of what the governor will do with the Mueller bill naturally becomes important. On this point John Lambert said yesterday:

"The main point is to get together and work for a renewal of the franchises. With an extension of the privileges on reasonable terms there will be no difficulty in convincing the financial world that the companies are valuable."

Walter Fisher Writes to Governor.

Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the Municipal Voters' league, last evening sent to Gov. Yates an argument in support of the Mueller bill and an answer to John H. Hamline's objections. Speaking of the Rinaker and Trautmann amendments, to which Mr. Hamline raises objections, Mr. Fisher last evening said:

"The circumstances under which the so-called Rinaker and Trautmann amendments were adopted should not be lost sight of. While they did not originate with the Chicago delegation, they were submitted to it, and were materially modified with the consent of their respective proposers. As thus accepted they not only did not injure the bill in any material respect but gained for it the influential support of their respective advocates."

In his communication to the governor Mr. Fisher raises the point that under the opinion given to the governor by Attorney General Hamlin as to the legal effects of the Mueller bill "even John H. Hamline" must confess that the bill does not repeal or amend the general streeet railway act, that it will apply to no city whose citizens do not wish to adopt it; that no added general indebtedness can be incurred under it, and even in the remote contingency of a foreclosure, that no franchise can be created for a longer period than twenty years.

Injunction Against Morgan Park.

The president of the village board and chief of police of Morgan Park were enjoined by Judge Kohlsaat from interfering with double tracking by the Chicago Electric Traction company.

DEAD DOGS MADE TO LIVE AGAIN.

Dr. Robert C. Kemp Says He Revives Them by System of Heart Massage.

GIVES TEST TO EXPERTS.

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse Narrowly Escapes Cutting Down a Freighter.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE. New York, May 12.

Claims to Restore Life to Dogs After Death.

Raising an interesting question as to when life in animals actually becomes extinct, Dr. Robert C. Kemp, who has been conducting experiments here for two years, has found it possible to restore a dog to life after its heart had stopped beating for sixteen minutes. After an examination by surgeons the animal was officially pronounced dead, yet Dr. Kemp, by massaging its heart, so far brought it back to life that it lived twenty-four hours, and meanwhile it was so far restored to the use of its faculties that it ate and drank and performed its usual functions.

In eleven out of twenty-three experiments of this character Dr. Kemp has succeeded in "restoring dogs to life," and he is convinced that in the case of human beings under similar conditions the proportion of restorations would be far greater.

In the case of the dogs he ascribes their death, after an interval of from two or three to twenty-four hours, not to failure of his treatment, for that has apparently been successful, but to the fact that the dogs could not be prevented from tearing away the bandages with which their wounds were bound up.

Only one such experiment has been tried on a human being, and in that case it was not successful.

Big Liner Almost Cuts Down a Freighter.

In fog off the Grand banks at 11:30 o'clock on Sunday morning the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which arrived today with 496 cabin and 824 steerage passengers, came pretty close to splitting on its sharp steel stem the cattle carrier Planet Venus, bound from Philadelphia for Avonmouth. The promenade deck of the liner was thronged with voyagers, and the fog whistle was emitting a prolonged blast every minute. The officers on the bridge heard dimly the fog whistle of the freighter on the Kaiser's starboard bow. Their hearts leaped into their throats a moment later when the Planet Venus loomed up broadside on within 100 feet of the Kaiser's bow. Before the liner's engines were reversed the ships were so close the biscuit which is never ready on such occasions might have been thrown from one to the other. Notwithstanding the mist the name of the freighter could be read plainly on the port bow, as the vessel slipped by only forty feet away. The passengers on the promenade deck didn't realize their ship had had a close shave until they saw the freighter vanishing to port. Then they shivered a bit.

Girl Finds Necklace Worth $25,000.

Fifty-seven pearls of rare beauty, forming a $25,000 necklace, which Mrs. Colgate Hoyt of 25 Park avenue lost on April 2, have been returned to her. The necklace was found by Miss Harriet Schade, a 17 year old girl employed in a Twenty-third street department store, who left the gems lying around the house several weeks, wondering if they were of any value. Finally she became curious enough to go to a jewelry store to ask. She was astonished when she learned the truth. A reward of $100 at first was offered for the return of the necklace, but when Mrs. Hoyt became ill through brooding over her loss, the reward was increased to $5,000. When Miss Schade returned the necklace she was rewarded with $100. Miss Schade, who lives at 239 East Thirty-ninth street, found the necklace when she was out to lunch.

New Bull Leader in the Cotton Deal.

The cotton market was feverish today although the trading on the exchange was less extensive than on Monday and the trend of prices was downward. The fluctuations ranged from 10 to 15 points. By dint of selling the brokers hammered prices down 30 points before the close. At the opening the failure of Liverpool to respond to Monday's high figures here, and the attitude of the local bull leader, Daniel Sully and his following checked the rise. Sully and the bulls sold freely all day, and the general opinion among brokers is that W. P. Brown of New Orleans has taken over the bull leadership from him. There is a belief here that the New Orleans clique intends to corner July and August cotton. July made a new high record, under New Orleans buying, of 10.77 cents, an advance of $1.10 a bale. Other futures advanced 5 to 7 points over Monday's figures, but the market eased off, closing below Monday's figures.

Composer Brizzi Dies While Son Plays for Him.

Carlo Brizzi, who came of a distinguished Italian family of composers and was the author of several successful operas, is dead. For half an hour before he passed away his son sat at the bedside and played the dying man's favorite airs. While the younger violinist was playing a simple folk song his father raised his head from the pillow and reached out as if to take the instrument from the hands of the player. Then he sank back again on the bed, dead. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Brizzi wrote, among others, the opera "Christophero Colombo," in which Adelina Patti sang when the work was produced for the Chicago exposition. The prayer at the funeral of King Humbert also was composed by Brizzi.

Homes Give Way to New Railway Depot.

Tenants of more than a hundred residences and apartment houses in the streets adjacent to the New York Central railroad yards have been notified to vacate the premises they occupy before June 12, when the work on the new $20,000,000 terminal is to be begun. Formal notices were served last week on lessees of property from Forty-fifth to Fifty-first street and extending from the present car tracks on the east to Lexington avenue, and on the west to Madison avenue. One church and more than fifty brown stone dwellings are among the buildings which will be razed.

Mrs. Strauss Declared Owner of Operas.

The legal controversy between Mrs. Adele Strauss, the widow of Johann Strauss, the composer, who died in Vienna in June, 1899, and Heinrich Conried, who will next year manage grand opera in New York, over the rights of the Strauss operas for production in the United States, England, Canada, and Australia, was decided today through the entering of a decree by Judge Lacombe, with the consent of counsel, in which Mrs. Strauss was adjudged the owner of the operas and all rights of production.

During the lifetime of the composer Mr. Conried was recognized as his representative in this country and also to be the owner of the operatic rights for England, Canada, the United States, and Australia, under contracts existing between him and Strauss. The case has been fought in Europe and the United States.

PAPA'S PACE TOO SPEEDY.

MAN WHO FELL BEHIND TELLS STORY IN COURT.

Samuel Sonnenberg, Who Is Plaintiff in Damage Suit for $50,000, Says Arnold Freshman, His Father-in-Law, Became Embittered Because He Was Unable to Smoke Cigarets and Drink Champagne—Charges Arrest for Insufficient Reasons.

"I couldn't stand the pace; it was too fast for me."

Samuel Sonnenberg, once a tailor, later a petted son-in-law, and now plaintiff in a $50,000 damage suit against his father-in-law, Arnold Freshman, took the stand in Judge Kavanagh's court yesterday and gave his version of his trouble with Freshman.

According to Sonnenberg, his physical inability to be a "good fellow" brought him into disfavor with his parent by marriage.

Papa-in-law wanted him to smoke cigarets.

He did, once or twice, but they made him sick.

Papa-in-law also wanted him to drink champagne.

He did, but, O, the head next day!

In brief, Sonnenberg said, he found that he could not mix business and dissipation and because of this he was called a "lobster" and a "dead one." Finally, Sonnenberg avers, he was arrested on an unjust charge, and hence his suit.

Sonnenberg told the court that before he married Miss Cecelia Freshman he was a tailor. After their marriage, he said, his wife's father told him that tailoring was not "good enough business for his son-in-law" and said he wished him to become interested in the Audebert wall paper mills, of which Freshman is president.

Sonnenberg was to be the secretary with a salary of $1,800 a year and he snapped up the position. But then came "the pace"—the popping corks and the curling smoke. He rebelled and there arose a disposition to get rid of him.

In the fall of 1901 Freshman and his wife took a trip to Europe, and before starting Sonnenberg was given $500 to take to the bank. He was to deposit $400 in his wife's name and bring home $100 in gold. Instead of depositing the money, he says, he gave it to his wife, and on this account he was arrested.

The prosecution, he alleges, was malicious. His wife, too, is said to have left him.

J. P. M'HUGH'S FUNERAL TODAY.

Chicago Newspaper Man Will Be Buried at Lafayette, Ind., the Home of His Family.

The funeral of Joseph P. McHugh, the Chicago newspaper man who died last Sunday, will be held this morning at Lafayette, Ind., where the interment will also take place. Mr. McHugh, who was 43 years old, was born in Lafayette, and it is there that his family and relatives still reside. He was in the Chicago newspaper field during the last twenty years. Though he had held various executive positions on several of the morning and evening papers during his career, it was as a reporter that his talent was conspicuous. He wrote in a vivid style, and his feats at newsgathering are still green in the memory of the older generation of newspaper men.

News of the whereabouts of Fritz Orth, who disappeared from his home, 913 Bellforte avenue, Oak Park, last Thursday afternoon, has been received. His wife yesterday had a postal card from him, mailed at Milwaukee Monday evening. It read:

"Dear Mary: I will be within 120 miles of Milwaukee by tonight. I am sick; my head hurts enough to drive me crazy. How are Will and Helen? Kiss them for me. Write to me at Milwaukee. FRITZ."

Later in the day she received a letter from the missing man. In it he also said he had been ill and he added that he was coming home.

Superstition and the Cup Race.

Sailors' superstitions begin to crop out in connection with the forthcoming cup race, but thus far they appear on the other side of the water. Shamrock III., repaired, was ready for a spin when some one recalled that the day set for it was Friday, and that it was on Friday it was dismasted by a squall. Thereupon the trial was postponed. Our own sailors should have no fear of Friday or of the number thirteen. The Boston Herald recalls that the America carried thirteen men, its first day in English waters was Friday, the cup was voted as a trophy on Friday, it was won by the America on Friday, and upon its side was engraved the list of names of the thirteen vessels it had defeated that day. Again, should Reliance be chosen to defend the cup this year it will be the thirteenth yacht which has had that honor. Apparently no superstition stands in the way of the belief that it will win the thirteenth consecutive victory, but the British tars are not to be blamed for thinking that Friday and thirteen have been an unlucky day and number for them.

Give the County Treasurer More Room.

The county treasurer's request for more room and cleaner quarters should be granted by the county board. Under the present revenue law he has to do more work than his predecessors. The taxes which used to be collected by town collectors are collected now by him. There was a rush of taxpayers immediately prior to the day when the penalty for slow payment is imposed which filled the treasurer's office almost to suffocation. He did the best he could to accommodate the public. He made his clerks work hard, and a number of them, compelled to labor by day and night in filthy rooms, contracted diseases which quickly carried them off. No private concern doing the amount of business the county treasurer does puts its customers to so much inconvenience as Chicago taxpayers are subjected to or forces its employés to work in such quarters as those occupied by the county treasurer. The county board has over six months' time in which to arrange matters so as to give Mr. Hanberg the better accommodations he manifestly needs, and it surely will not fail to take advantage of the time. The taxpayers will not submit twice to the hardships they underwent month before last.

RAISING THE LAKE LEVELS.

The federal government is at last turning its attention to a river and harbor project of really national scope. If it is found practicable to dam the outlet of the great lakes seven states will be more or less affected by the work, and will benefit in proportion to their commerce and their nearness to the dam. The lake harbors and rivers are navigable for deep draft vessels by so narrow a margin that there is not one of them that would not profit by an increase of half a foot. This applies equally to the American and Canadian shores.

The dominion government has been invited to cooperate with the commission created by the last congress to consider the matter, and although Canada would gain less than the United States by the raising of the lake levels, because of its smaller commerce, there would be a notable gain at Windsor and other Canadian ports.

The deep waterways commission, which has recommended a site for a dam at the lower end of Lake Erie, estimates that the work can be done for $796,000, exclusive of damages for lands submerged. The sum is trivial compared with the moneys paid out for river and harbor improvements at tidewater, but will accomplish results of the greatest value to the middle west. The representatives and senators from the states affected should unite to have the federal government push the negotiations with Canada and to have congress appropriate liberally for the benefit of their constituents and the whole country.

WHAT CAN BE DONE.

The ordinary "patrolman's raid" and the ordinary "reformer's crusade" have been put together on many occasions, not only because newspaper poets, like other poets, need rhymes, but because the raid and the crusade really have a connection in methods and in results. Both are ostentatious. Both are capricious. Both are futile.

Persistent, honest work by the police with unremitting, intelligent cooperation on the part of the state's attorney's office is necessary to stamp out policy. Probably the "syndicate" has waxed so strong during the long years of its immunity that it will take months to collect the evidence, try the cases, and secure the convictions which will destroy "policy." The labor will be tremendous. There have been "raids" and occasional prosecutions and spasmodic "citizens' movements," but a lack of the dogged continuous work which produces valuable results. State's attorneys come and go; chiefs of police change, but the head of the shameless syndicate which takes the pennies of the poor has always been on duty. There has been nothing spasmodic about him.

THE TRIBUNE believes that State's Attorney Deneen is not dismayed by work or by the policy chiefs and their political pull. When he makes up his mind to do something he does it. He says he intends to prosecute the policy thieves, and the police say they will get the evidence with which to convict them. Policy can be stamped out. If the police and the state's attorney make good their promises it will be stamped out.

"PROMINENT CITIZENS" IN THE BANKS.

Six months hence there will be a call for money to "move the crops." There will be complaints of a lack of currency. Secretary Shaw will be asked to release some of the funds locked up in the national treasury. He will be forced to say regretfully that he can do little to relieve the situation, but that if the Aldrich bill had passed he could have done much. The business world will ask, "Why did the bill not pass?" The answer will be that certain "prominent citizens" of Chicago, bankers by trade, killed it.

That will be a truthful answer. The protest which defeated the bill—the solitary protest from a responsible source—came from Chicago. The leading bankers of the city told congress that they could not afford to pay 1½ per cent interest on government deposits, and if required to do it would be obliged to relinquish the deposits they then held, amounting to $1,800,000. The banks of New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, holding over $60,000,000 of government deposits, sent no such message to congress. With one exception, so far as is known, they approved of the Aldrich bill. They were willing to pay interest on the government funds they held and were ready, in order to get more, to deposit municipal and other bonds in which by the laws of many states savings banks are authorized to invest.

The "prominent citizens" of Chicago who sent the protest to Washington and defeated the Aldrich bill are not willing as bankers to pay 1½ per cent on government deposits, but they cheerfully pay 2 per cent on deposits of municipal funds. During the last two years the city treasurer of Chicago was paid $303,000 by Chicago banks as interest on city moneys. The banks pay 2 per cent interest to large depositors and country banks. They solicit such deposits. Why cannot they afford to do as well by the United States as they do by other banks and by municipalities?

The action of the Chicago bankers raised doubts at once as to their disinterestedness and their desire to perform a public service. The natural conclusion of the people was that the bankers did not wish to do what was right and fair by the government because if they did they would make a little less money.

THE TRIBUNE does not wish to be unjust to the Chicago bankers who signed the protest. It is willing to acquit them of intentional misconduct, but can only do so by accusing them of carelessness and insufficient knowledge of the subject. They were misled by one of Mr. Forgan's clerks, who prepared inaccurate statements of the probable effect of the bill and grossly misstated some of its main provisions. But the bankers should have studied the subject for themselves.

One of the Chicago banks presented tables purporting to show how money would be lost if deposits were accepted subject to the condition that 1½ per cent interest should be paid on them, and one-fourth held as reserve. The reserve requirement would have been stricken out of the bill had there been a prospect of its passage. The tables were deceptive. They were based on the assumption that all the bonds which would be accepted as security were above par. Their authors ignored the fact that many banks constantly have on hand bonds commanding a premium which could be deposited as security for government funds. They assumed that where other than government bonds were used it would be necessary to deposit bonds of the face value of $133,300 to get a $100,000 deposit. Only $100,000 in bonds was required by the bill.

The eastern bankers are as astute as their Chicago brethren, yet it did not seem to them that it would be a losing business to pay 1½ per cent on government funds which could be loaned at 5 per cent. They did not threaten to turn back into the treasury the deposits they held, and thus create a monetary stringency, if required to pay 1½ per cent interest to the United States. It was not Wall street which protested against a bill designed to provide against a scarcity of currency. It was Chicago.

It will be conceded that under the Aldrich bill banks would make less out of government deposits. Regarding this point Senator Aldrich said:

> I should like to suggest to managers of banks whether they think it is the primary duty of congress to make it profitable for national banks to hold government deposits. I submit that it is not. Our first duty is to the government of the United States and the treasury of the United States and the interests of the people of the United States; and if our legislation is in the right direction and conservative and safe, the national banks of the United States have no right to say to us: "You must defeat this measure unless you amend it so as to make it profitable for us to hold deposits of public money."

Apparently the Chicago banks thought it was the primary duty of the government to make money for them. How can they justify before the country an attitude so selfish and so lacking in patriotism? Jefferson said, "The selfish spirit of commerce knows no country and feels no passion or principle but that of gain." What he said of commerce is true of banking.

The next time the "prominent citizens" who addressed congress last February ask for a vote of public confidence, and that they be credited with candor and public spirit, they may meet with a refusal in many quarters. "Prominent citizens," who hold one-eighth of 1 per cent profit of more value than the welfare of the community forfeit public confidence. One often hears leading men—leading bankers among them—railing against the selfishness and dishonesty of the walking delegate, the demagogue, or the agitator. A befitting reply to such diatribes would be, "How about the Aldrich bill?" Were not the bankers who defeated it selfish? They showed themselves lacking in candor and public spirit. They proved that the capitalist is no more to be trusted when making statements as to matters in which he is personally interested than the little shopkeeper or the workingman.

WE NEEDN'T ASK CLARENCE.

Gov. Yates has sent the "documents in the case" to Clarence Snively at Canton and Clarence Paul at Springfield, and a few other Clarences scattered through the state, and has requested them to favor him with an opinion as to whether the Mueller bill will be a good thing for Chicago. While we have a high regard for all the Clarences and put implicit faith in their wisdom and impartiality, we do not in this case think it is necessary to call on them for advice.

The Mueller bill itself provides for the referendum and requires the approval of the people of Chicago before it can go into effect. Much as we defer to the judgment of Clarence, we think the people of Chicago possibly know better what will be good for them than he does. He hasn't lived here and doesn't know what the necessities of the case are. He hasn't made a study of the traction question. He doesn't know possibly that every man in Chicago who has studied it and whose opinion is entitled to respect is in favor of the bill. The mayor, the city council, Mr. Graeme Stewart, Mr. John M. Harlan, and the leading citizens of Chicago of both parties have indicated their approval of the bill.

It will be cruel to drag Clarence into the arena and insist upon his giving an opinion adverse to that of the men who have studied the question carefully for years and know what they are talking about—while he doesn't.

It is unkind to refer the question to outsiders for decision when the bill provides that, before it becomes effective, it shall be referred to the people chiefly interested—namely: the people of Chicago—who must declare positively by a majority vote that they want the law before it can be imposed upon them.

THE GOVERNOR AND HIS ECHO.

The reply of certain of the country editors to Gov. Yates' appeal for advice touching the Mueller bill might be looked for with interest if there were any doubt what it would be. Knowing the game pretty well, it is easy to see its end. The editors who will be chiefly asked for opinions and whose replies will carry the most weight are under pressing obligations to the state administration. They will find out what kind of opinions are wanted in Springfield and will "fill the order." As in a vision one can see them moving to the telephone, calling up the executive mansion, and saying: "Want an opinion from me on the traction bill? Whether it is good for Chicago? Well, what kind of an opinion do you want?" It will be promptly forthcoming. These opinions will be valuable in one respect. They will accurately forecast the action of the executive.

Buy the Springfield Journal and the Canton Register and you will surely know what Gov. Yates is going to do.

If Mr. Lorimer were to ask the members of the Cook county delegation in the legislature for advice Mr. Nohe and Mr. Shanahan would be among those consulted. No one doubts what they would do. They would find out at once if they did not know what kind of advice Lorimer wanted and they would give it to him. So is it with Yates and some of the editors he is asking for "unbiased views." He knows they will say what he wants them to say, and when he hears the echo of his voice he will exclaim, "Listen to the voice of the people; they have spoken; I must obey."

A well played comedy amuses whether a governor or a commoner Thespian holds the stage.

BROKEN CONTRACTS.

A recent English statute provided that when laborers in certain specified employments broke their contracts they could be brought before a magistrate and either compelled to fulfill their contracts or else sentenced to a term of imprisonment. When Chicago trade unions break their contracts there is no such recourse for the employers whom they have injured. As Mr. Stimson says in his book on the labor law of this country, "the employment contract is subject to one exception from the law governing contracts: it cannot be enforced in courts of equity."

Certain Chicago employers, however, decided not long ago to try to secure damages from a union which had ordered a strike in violation of an arbitration agreement. The success which has attended some recent efforts to secure damages even from unincorporated unions gave the employers reason to hope that their suit might have a happy issue.

In connection with this suit one may notice that the April issue of the monthly review of the National Civic federation contained a symposium on the incorporation of trade unions and a summary worded thus:

> The symposium as a whole seems to indicate that the customary arguments for and against incorporation of trade unions are invalid, since they turn on the responsibility of unions for unlawful acts. Incorporation would not increase or decrease their responsibility in this respect. Both the treasury of the union and the property of the members are liable in damages on account of such acts, whether the union is incorporated or unincorporated.

The dispute which led the Chicago employers who have been mentioned to institute legal proceedings against the bookbinders' union is now at an end. Perhaps, therefore, the suit will be dropped. There is one argument, however, against dropping it. Both employers and employés would be glad to know whether in Illinois the breaking of a contract exposes a union to the pecuniary punishment which the Civic federation's publication concludes to be the present legal punishment for "unlawful acts."

THE clouds seem to see the propriety of squeezing out a few drops of water every afternoon in order to back up the weather man's predictions.

THE barnacles on the monitor Arkansas must be getting tired of Mississippi river water by this time.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Cranks?

Judge—"Let us get this thing right. You say this man whom we are examining is not insane and yet he is not in his right mind. How is that?"

Witness—"Lots of people, your honor, who are not insane are wrong minded about everything."

Yates.

He is studying up the Mueller bill,
But he isn't ready to sign.
He wants to hear from Hickory Hill,
Before he's ready to sign.
He's waiting for tips from Willamette,
Neponset, Buda, and Wyanet—
But he's heard from Lorimer, you bet,
And he isn't agoing to sign.

Pleasant for Mr. Sparkler.

Tommy's Elder Sister—"Tommy, you rude boy, you mustn't talk that way to Mr. Sparkler. It's extremely impolite."

Willing to Do It, Anyhow.

Host (pairing off his guests)—"Mr. Makinbrakes, you will please take Miss Gumwell out to dinner."

Mr. Makinbrakes—"Certainly. But, great Scott, where? Don't you have dinner here in the house?"

Kind Hearted Citizen—"Tut! Tut! Tut! Don't worry over it, little boy. You didn't break your pitcher and there's no use, you know, in crying over spilt milk."

Dinguss—"Where do you invest your money?"

Shadbolt—"Well, I generally have $5 or $10 invested somewhere about you."

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

IT would be a great mistake to imagine that the attempts upon the lives of old world rulers which receive publicity through the newspapers are the only ones that are actually perpetrated. Indeed, as a general rule all the efforts of the authorities are devoted towards preventing dangers of this kind to which the anointed of the Lord may have been exposed from becoming known, and it may safely be asserted that for every one attack or projected attack on the life of a sovereign that is announced and described in the press there are at least ten others which remain shrouded with mystery and that never reach the ears of the public.

Thus it is by the merest chance that the fact has been learned that a Galician engineer named Siegfried Nacht, who, according to his friends, is a distinguished socialist, but according to the continental and English police an anarchist, was arrested at Gibraltar during the stay there of King Edward with the object of preventing him from making an attempt on the monarch's life.

There is no denying the fact that Nacht traveled from Barcelona to Gibraltar in order to be there during the king's stay, reaching the rock the day before the king's arrival.

Thanks to a thorough understanding between the leading police departments of Europe concerning anarchists and the careful system of international police observation to which these foes of society are now subjected, every one of their movements being noted and at once made known to the leading police authorities throughout the old world, Nacht's departure from Barcelona for Gibraltar was known by the police at the latter place before his arrival. He was placed under strict surveillance from the moment that he reached the rock, and was found to be acting so suspiciously when the king landed that the police determined to take no chances, placed him under arrest, kept him under lock and key throughout the king's stay, and expelled him from British territory the day following the monarch's departure.

Not a line was mentioned about the affair in any of the English or foreign papers, and the matter would have remained shrouded in mystery had it not been for the trade union of electrical workers at Paris, to which Nacht belongs, having taken up the incident, vehemently protesting in the name of the union against "the arbitrary arrest of Citizen Siegfried Nacht, accused of having gone to Gibraltar with the intention of committing an attempt on the life of King Edward VII. of England."

The union admits that Nacht has only been a member thereof for one year, but nevertheless vouches for his respectability, for his innocence of the murderous intentions imputed to him, and for the fact that while he is a socialist and a delegate to the internationalist socialist congress held in 1900 at Paris, he is not an anarchist. The union expresses the intention of bringing the matter before the national legislature of France and has induced certain French journals, notably the Aurore and the Action, to take up his case strongly.

That the chamber will do anything about the matter is improbable in the extreme. For, after all, the man is not a French citizen, but an Austrian, and if there is any government that would have a right to question the English authorities about the matter it would be the Austrian government and not that of France.

In the kingdom of Saxony a law has just been enacted which prohibits, under divers pains and penalties, including heavy fine and imprisonment, the use of any title of nobility, or even of the nobiliary predicate of "von," without the previous sanction of the Saxon government, which will only be granted after a thorough examination has been made, not only of the rights of the bearer, but likewise of his antecedents and also of the methods by which he has obtained the honor. This law will apply to foreigners who establish their legal domicile in Saxony as well as to Saxons who have been invested with foreign titles, and I understand that steps are being taken to have this same law adopted by the various other states of the confederation known as the German empire.

Sir William Wasteneys, whose affairs have been engaging the attention of the London bankruptcy court and who describes himself as a baronet, will not be found among the list of the latter in Burke's Peerage or in any other of the standard works of reference. In fact, he is one of those four or five score individuals in England who have coolly invested themselves with the title of baronet on the strength of a more or less mythical descent from baronets whose titles became extinct in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Thus there was a Wasteneys baronetcy originally created in 1622 and conferred upon Sir Hardolph Wasteneys of Headen Notts. The baronetcy became extinct in 1742 and nothing more was heard about it until nearly a century and a half later, when it made its reappearance in an advertisement in the London Morning Post.

The advertiser stated therein that he had been advised and believed that it was expedient that he should resume the title and dignity of a baronet on the ground that he was "fifth in lineal descent from Simon Wasteneys, which Simon was the direct male issue of Sir Hardolph," although there is nothing in the records to show that Sir Hardolph ever had a legitimate descendant of the name of Simon.

The advertiser demanded that he should in future be addressed as Sir William Wasteneys, and described himself as fifth baronet. He is a graduate of Cambridge university and a member of the English bar—namely: the Middle Temple, and now a bankrupt.

It would be well for him to drop his title now that he has no longer any money left to support it. For psuedo honors of this kind are only tolerated when there is plenty of money to back them.

Old Lord Gwydyr, who has just entered into his ninety-fourth year, and who is the senior member in the house of lords in point of age, has just become a great-grandfather, and is still as hale and hearty as a man of 70, going out shooting and taking a lively interest in all the sporting events in Suffolk, in which county his county seat, Stoke park, is situated.

He has been present at the coronation of no less than four British sovereigns—namely: King Edward, Queen Victoria, King William IV., and George IV. At King George's coronation banquet in Westminster hall he occupied a seat in the lord chamberlain's box and relates how, when overcome by the pangs of hunger and tantalized by the spread of the good things below, he managed successfully to convey the state of his feelings to his cousin, Lord Prudhoe, afterwards duke of Ancaster, who, recognizing the situation at a glance, was compassionate enough to wrap up a chicken in a piece of paper and to throw it up into the gallery, where it served to still the hunger not only of Lord Gwydyr but likewise of some of his companions in the box starved like himself.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria's absence from Sofia at the present juncture is not a good sign, but on the contrary an ominous one. For it has been noted that whenever anything particularly objectionable took place in Bulgaria he has always taken good care to be out of the way so as to evade responsibility. Thus he was careful to be traveling abroad when, in 1890, Maj. Panizza, one of the heroes of the battle of Slivinitza and a devoted adherent of Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, was seized suddenly, tried by court martial on a trumped up charge of conspiracy, and shot; and the prince was also away at Carlsbad when Stambuloff, the ex-premier, who had placed him on the throne and with whom he had afterwards quarreled, was so brutally murdered under the palace windows, the prince taking a merry party to the theater at Carlsbad that same night after receiving the news of the murder at Sofia.

THE TOP O' THE MORNIN'.

MAUD MULLER—you have heard of her—
Once met John Greenleaf Whittier.

This happened after Maudie's name
By dint of rhyme was known to fame.

"Alas!" she cried. "If on that day
I had not tried to rake the hay!

"'Twas not," she murmured, with a sob,
"'Twas not at all my steady job.

"I never had raked hay before;
I have not raked it any more.

"There was no judge who ambled by.
That person, sir, was in your eye.

"But since that time my life has been Much sadder than it was ere then.

"How is it"—here she sobbed again—
"That your rhymes make us sound 'been' 'ben'?

"Each year, however, as I say,
The funny poets look my way,

"And when each one my visage sees
He tunes his lyre to parodies.

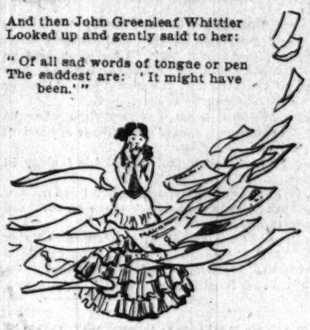

"He makes me rake that hay once more,
And rings the changes, as before,

"Until my life, once free and gay,
Is one long, blistered summer day.

"O, if you had not wasted ink,
My life had been more calm, I think."

And then John Greenleaf Whittier
Looked up and gently said to her:

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest are: 'It might have been.'"

WHAT JOHNNY ASKED.

"Say, paw," said little Johnny Wise,
"If little cats are kittens,
Would it be incorrect to say
That little mats are mittens?"

A NEW THEME.

"What has caused all the change in old Stretchem?" asked the visitor. "When I was here two years ago he was always telling about the big fishes he had caught, and now he hasn't told a single fish or hunting story since I arrived."

"O, he's quit fishing and gone in for automobiling. He bores the crowd to death with stories of policemen he just misses bagging and of sixty-mile-an-hour dashes on an uphill route."

A BUG STORY?

"What is this new novel, 'The Light Behind'?" asks the gentle damsel who keeps track of literary happenings. "Is it some sort of a problem story, or what?"

"Indeed I don't know," answers the young man whose literary information is confined to the baseball columns. "Maybe it's something about lightning bugs."

HAND MADE PHILOSOPHY.

Fortune knocks once at every man's door—after that the knocking is done by others.

Yesterday's truth is tomorrow's lie—in other words, what was history yesterday becomes literature tomorrow.

More books than ever are being published. This does not indicate that the people read more. They write more.

Why is it people never remember anything worth remembering?

At the same time, it would be a better world if it could be run as the spring graduates think they could run it.

What will happen when the Wattses and other iconoclasts succeed in blasting the fame of all the literary giants, and turn their attention to the financial stars of the first magnitude?

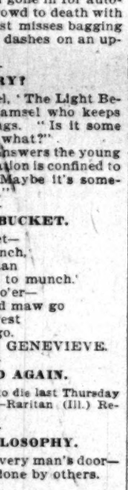

IN FAVOR OF SHAKSPEARE.

If William Shakspeare lived today
And worked at things dramatic,
He'd have to throw his puns away—
The edict is emphatic.
The Dane would have to limber up
And drop his melancholy
And wave a clinkless pasteboard cup
To start the grand finale.

Shakspeare would have to cut each act
With language over-
weighted,
So that the song and dance
it lacked
Where Cæsar meets his tragic end
And mutters "Et tu, Brute,"
The brass drum should assistance lend—
It is the drummer's duty.

If William Shakspeare
He'd find out in a minute
That he could not produce a play
Without an auto in it.
But he could fame and favor win
If he would grasp and throttle
Comedians who must drag in
The squirty seltzer bottle.

He might work in some slap stick styles
Of humor, old and mellow,
And introduce, to rouse our smiles,
A cakewalk for Othello;
And, to increase the comedy,
He might ring in a pottle,
A cannikin, or horn—but he
Would bar the seltzer bottle.

If William Shakspeare lived today,
He might put pink pajamas
And villagers so blithe and gay
In his rewritten dramas.
He had his faults, old Shakspeare had;
He oft misplaced a hyphen,
Or made some puns—but, good or bad,
He would not use a siphon.

The Science of Salesmanship

THE president and majority owner of one of the largest concerns in the country, which employs more than 500 salesmen all over the world, has set down the following five qualities as those which a successful salesman must possess:

1. Health.
2. Honesty.
3. Ability.
4. Industry.
5. Knowledge of the business.

Health is essential, he says, not only because it is hard for a man suffering from poor health to do his work at all, but because, for psychological reasons, a man who is full of vitality is much better able to meet and overcome the objections advanced by prospective customers than is a salesman who is weak and run down physically and therefore mentally. A sickly, nervous man cannot exert that personal magnetism which unconsciously cuts such a large figure in the success of every salesman. Not only the practical manager of the sales department of every large corporation but as well the professors who write on the psychology of salesmanship insist that good health and abundant animal spirits are perhaps the most important qualifications a salesman can have for his work. A sickly man is almost always self-conscious and self-centered. He lacks that self-confidence which drives the real salesman on into the teeth of difficulties. Business is a battle and the salesmen—who are the soldiers on the firing line—must be in first rate physical condition if they expect to win the day.

That, of course, cuts out the drinking, late hours, and other forms of dissipation to which the older school of traveling salesmen were too much given.

By honesty the speaker did not mean that scrupulous exactness in money matters which is taken for granted as one of the necessary requisites for the successful business man. As specifically applied to the salesman he means rather that the attitude of the salesman in approaching a customer must be honest and sincere. A salesman who presents arguments to a customer in which he does not himself wholly believe may not be consciously thought a liar by the customer, but he will fail to influence the customer as he would if his attitude of mind were entirely sincere. A great many shrewd salesmen do not make great successes because they do not impress "their trade" as being "on the square."

"I urge you," says the president of the great corporation in question, "to altogether forget when you approach a customer the possible profit you will make out of a sale to him; forget the profit that will accrue to the company. Remember only the great good and the splendid profit which the customer will get by purchasing one of our appliances. Forget yourself and your company. Remember only that here is a man before you whom you have it in your power to greatly benefit. If you can honestly approach him in that attitude of mind you will have your battle half won beforehand. If you do not honestly and sincerely feel that way you are not fit to sell our goods.

"In other words, the salesman must believe in his goods before he can hope to make other people believe in them. If he is not honest and sincere in this direction he cannot be earnest, and earnestness is the best salesman in the world."

A CLASS IN SALESMANSHIP AT WORK.

In its general sense, of course, ability includes and is made up of all the other qualities mentioned, not to speak of many others and is more or less inherent in a man. But as here applied to the salesman, it is possible to acquire it—at least to a certain extent. Just as ability as a lawyer is, developed by the study of law books and the observation of the methods of successful lawyers, so ability as a salesman may be developed by the study of books on salesmanship and by learning from the experience of older and successful salesmen.

In past years the salesman has chiefly depended on his natural ability, but more recently many a "natural born salesman" has found himself distanced and put out of business by the young fellow who has enjoyed training in the comparatively new "science of salesmanship."

Connected with the institution of which the man whose views are here quoted as the head is a regularly organized school for salesmen. It has its primers, its manual, its books of selling points, and a whole literature of salesmanship.

Here is an example of what is meant by acquiring ability as a salesman:

Nearly seventy-five salesmen are called into the headquarters of the company. A room set apart for the purpose, has been arranged as a small theater. On the stage are scenery and properties, which represent the interior of a grocery store. It is complete, with a counter, scales on the counter, two or three customers waiting about, goods on the shelves, and all. Behind the counter and busily engaged in wrapping up ten pounds of sugar is the proprietor of the grocery store. He wears a long white apron and cap. As a matter of fact, he is the most expert salesman in the lot, occupying the position of head of the school for salesmen.

The seventy-five who have been called in from the road to take a post graduate course in the science of selling goods sit in opera chairs before the stage. One of them is called by name and is asked to go into the grocery store and show the rest how he goes about approaching a possible customer. All the rest organize themselves into a body of critics. They are bound to watch and to observe closely, for every one of them is likely to be called on to criticise "the approach" made by the first man called.

The man called on walks briskly into the imitation grocery store and states his business. The pseudo-storekeeper says he is too busy to look at the machine which the salesman offers to show him. The salesman persists and the storekeeper answers that his business is too small anyway; he can't afford to buy one. To this objection the salesman makes the best answer he knows and the dialogue goes on.

All the time the salesmen out in front are taking notes of the faults and the excellencies of the "approach." Finally, when the storekeeper has consented, for instance, to go down to the hotel with the salesman and look at what he has to show, the first pupil is allowed to take his seat, and, one after the other, the men in front are called on to say in what he failed or made a false step. And after they have all stated the case as they see it the president breaks in with a suggestion.

"A good and sufficient answer to almost any objection a customer can make is: 'That is the reason you ought to have one.'

"If he is too busy to look at a good thing like you offer him he ought to get one so that he would have time to investigate improvements and better methods; if his business is too small what you offer him will make it larger, and so on.

"When you are telling your story to a customer don't let him interrupt the thread of your argument. When he interjects an objection say, 'I'll explain that in just a moment,' and go straight ahead. You must at all times keep command of the conversation if you want it to be resultful."

Industry, as applied to a salesman, means more than simply keeping constantly busy. Injudicious, and poorly directed industry is not much better than laziness. A really industrious man will keep busy at the most important work before him. With a salesman the most important work is to sell goods. He can't sell goods by sitting in his office or his room in a hotel and making out elaborate reports. A salesman's time counts most when it is spent in the presence of possible customers. To be industrious in the real sense the salesman must spend most of his time calling on prospective buyers of the goods he has to sell.

On knowledge of the business depends, to a large extent, both a salesman's ability, in the specific sense, and also his honesty or earnestness. He can't be earnest in explaining the advantages of a certain kind of goods if he doesn't understand the goods thoroughly himself. He must know also the goods of his competitors. He is the better off for a knowledge of the raw materials from which his goods are made and of the processes of their manufacture. Even nowadays too many houses are content to send their salesmen out with no more than a smattering of acquaintance with their product. And too many salesmen depend on their "natural ability" and what they can "pick up" in an hour or two about the stuff they are trying to sell.

ACTS ON AUTO ORDINANCE

COUNCIL COMMITTEE AT LAST RECOMMENDS FOR PASSAGE.

Proposed Rule Requires Numbers on All Machines and Initials Also on Public Ones — Figures to Be Five Inches in Height—Will Require Two Weeks to Pass It in Regular Course of Business After Introduction Next Monday.

After months of delay the automobile numbering ordinance is again before the city council for passage. It was adopted yesterday by the judiciary committee, which has had it under consideration twice in the last six months.

"That will hold the benzine buggies for awhile," said Ald. Foreman, after the committee had passed the ordinance.

By the terms of the measure it is provided that all automobiles shall carry numbers, and in some cases numbers and letters not less than five inches in height, five-eighths of an inch wide, and three-eighths of an inch apart.

Two Classes of Autos.

Such vehicles are divided into two classes, and different requirements made of each class. Class A includes private machines, which will be required to carry the license numbers of their owners. Class B includes public conveyances, which shall carry the license number of the operator and the letters indicating the name of the firm.

At night the automobiles will be required to carry two lights, one red in front and one white behind, where the light will fall directly on the numbers or letters.

In adopting the ordinance the committee declared that it had done its duty towards safeguarding the streets and boulevards.

Ald. Palmer brought the ordinance up by declaring that the automobile season was opening and the measure should be passed. Ald. Patterson suggested another delay until the committee had learned the provisions of the south park ordinance, but this was overruled with the statement that the city licensed the operators and its ordinance would be final.

A question as to whether the law should read "automobiles" or "self-propelling vehicles" was discussed. Under the latter term would be included road engines and other vehicles.

"It might include even the boy who propels a toy express wagon with his feet," said Ald. Patterson. It was decided finally to have the ordinance applicable only to "automobiles."

Will Take Two Weeks to Pass.

The best the council can do in passing the measure will probably require two weeks yet. The measure will be introduced next Monday night. By the consent of the entire council it can be passed immediately, but it is more likely to take the regular course and be deferred one week for publication. After these formalities it is practically certain of becoming a law, effective as soon as the mayor signs it.

TUBE ORDINANCE GOES BACK.

Judiciary Commitee Decides Again to Ask Council to Pass the Measure.

In compliance with the requests of 150 business men that the Chicago Pneumatic Tube company's ordinance be passed immediately the judiciary committee yesterday decided to recommend it again to the council for passage. Once before it was before the council and was sent back to the committee because of an application made by the Batcheller company for the grant. The Chicago Pneumatic company has the government contract for transporting the mails, and the postoffice officials are understood to be getting anxious because of the delay experienced in getting the ordinance through. According to the pending ordinance the city will receive 3 per cent compensation at first and 5 per cent after a period of years.

HOMEOPATHS ARE IN SESSION.

President Blackman Says the Two Schools of Medicine Are Growing Closer Together.

Practical affiliation between the allopathic and homeopathic schools for the advancement of science was suggested by President O. B. Blackman of the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association at its forty-eighth annual business meeting in the Masonic temple yesterday. The sessions will continue three days.

"The fact that many of the best teachers in the allopathic schools are today using the single remedy," said President Blackman in his address, "should encourage us to believe that now the two schools are, indeed, getting closer together. If assimilation means that the general right to practice medicine according to the dictation of our own sense of right and wrong, and in accordance with the law which we believe to be immutable, then we are ready to meet them half way."

"Mrs. Howes a short time ago," he asserted, "undertook to limit the freedom heretofore allowed to students, and they did not take kindly to the new rules."

The student nurses, he said, were accustomed to entertain men callers whenever they pleased, their favorite pastimes being the concoction of welsh rabbits and the serving of late lunches for their guests.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY." —SHAKSPEARE.

VIERLING, LOUIS—Secretary Vierling-McDowell iron works.

"I have no hobbies—I try not to have any, although others may be able to tell you what they are.

"Most of my time goes to my business. I have been brought up to apply myself, and without application there can be no success, but I try to have my little pastimes, to take a little exercise, bowling or dancing, at my club, the Kenwood."

Mr. Vierling's favorite business maxim embodies the "Golden Rule." "Treat others as you would have them treat you."

"Remember that and you will find that it will get you more friends than anything else.

"When people come here to do business they come not for once or for twice. If you be friendly, considerate toward them they come back and are good friends for all time."

Mr. Vierling's main interest in life lies "in trying to be a good citizen."

"The influence of good citizenship extends not only to city affairs but into the home and to the church. It is a common term which we hear much but if understood is most comprehensive."

WHITE SOX WIN FIGHT FOR LEAD.

Defeat Champions in Brilliant Ten Inning Battle by Score of 3 to 2.

PATTERSON ON THE SLAB.

Perfect Play by Local Team; Gleason and Comiskey Fail to Reach Agreement.

For a brief period yesterday Connie Mack's champions led the American league race, but within a short space of time the White Sox were on even terms, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away had a clean lead over the Athletics. The fight for supremacy between the champions and ex-champions was a bitterly contested affair of ten innings, which the White Sox captured by a margin of 3 to 2.

For about an hour preceding the game there was an interesting struggle between a dark storm cloud from the west and a breeze from Lake Michigan, and it was due to the victory of the latter that the game was played. With the leadership of the league at stake a strenuous contest was anticipated, and it was only the rain just preceding the game that kept the crowd to usual week day proportions.

Patterson Outpitches Indian.

Roy Patterson was intrusted with the task of keeping the White Sox's heads above water, while Albert Bender, a graduate of the Carlisle school, was commissioned by Manager Mack to be the main factor in pushing them under. The red skinned pitcher hails from Dakota and, judging from the speed he let loose, must have been used to throwing the ball from one end of the boundless prairie to the other. For the first seven innings he had the better of the argument, two singles being debited to his account, as against four to that of Patterson.

A cloud of defeat seemed to be gathering when in the first two innings he struck out Jones, Daly, and Callahan. However, all is not gold that glitters, and in the same period he hit Danny Green hard in the middle of the back, causing him to retire in favor of Callahan, and sent Dolan to first by mistaking him for the home plate. The first of these erratic pitches contributed to his undoing, as it was Callahan who batted in the winning run in the tenth.

Perfect Play by White Sox.

Bender's support was not of the best, although none of the four errors charged to his side led to runs. Patterson was given perfect support, Callahan's men making no errors.

At the beginning of the tenth inning play was interrupted by an accident in the covered stand back of third base. P. Mulcahy, a spectator, who was leaning against the side of the stand watching the play, pitched headlong into the passageway between the grand stand and covered stand and, striking on his head, was seriously injured. He was taken to the Provident hospital without regaining consciousness.

For the first five innings neither side was able to count, although the White Sox had men on bases in every inning. The Athletics were dangerous in the fourth, when Davis drew a pass, stole second, and went to third on Lave Cross' sacrifice. Seybold hit a hard grounder to Isbell, and Davis was run down by Isbell, McFarland, Patterson, and Tannehill. Murphy fouled to McFarland and the fans breathed easier.

Athletics First to Score.

Hoffman, the first man up in the sixth, sent a long hit back of Jones, and rested on third. Pickering hit a fly between Hallman and Jones, which both raced for, and fearing a collision let it drop. Hoffman scored the first run of the game. Pickering reached third on Davis' out. Lave Cross then hit hard to Isbell and Pickering was run down on the line. Cross was caught trying to purloin second. The Athletics were easy in the seventh and eighth, only six men facing Patterson.

Dolan led off for Chicago in the eighth with a "Texas leaguer" to left field. He went to second on Jones' out and to third on Callahan's out. Hallman picked out a low ball and smashed it past Monte Cross, and Dolan came home with the run that tied. Isbell went out, Bender to Davis.

Mack's men made another bid for victory in the ninth. With one out Davis drove a hard one to right center for two sacks. Lave Cross followed with a grounder between Isbell and Tannehill, scoring Davis. Seybold filed out to Jones and Murphy to Callahan.

Tie Up Game in Ninth.

Daly, whose previous efforts had been weak, opened the White Sox's half with a two bagger over third base and went to third on Tannehill's well placed sacrifice to the left of the pitcher. McFarland had three balls and then sent a long fly to center and Daly ambled home with the tying run.

In the tenth Monte Cross got a pass and reached second on Powers' sacrifice. Bender went out to Callahan and Hoffman to Daly. Then the White Sox made their winning spurt. Dolan lined the ball far out to left, but Hoffman nailed it after a long run back. Jones laced a drive to the right fence for two bases and scored on Callahan's timely single to center, which Pickering in his haste to pick up let go through his legs. But it didn't count anything, as the game was over when Jones stepped on the pan. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

Jones struck out in the first without any assistance from the foul strike rule.

Of the last five games played by the White Sox four have required extra innings.

Dolan seemed to be trying to make Hoffman earn his salary, as he hit three long flies to him.

Daly drew his bat away from a wide one in the seventh and looked foolish when he sent a pop foul to Davis.

Callahan made what appeared to be a hard lunge at the ball in the sixth inning, but Umpire Hassett saved him a strikeout by calling a ball.

Danny Green got a hard thump in the middle of the back, but thought after the game he would be all right today, although his lungs were sore.

Lave Cross stopped a vicious grounder from McFarland's bat in the fifth inning, and after making three attempts to pick it up kicked it over to Bender.

Dr. Powers was hit on the knee in the sixth inning and was laid out for a few moments. He gave the necessary surgical advice and a little massage, coupled with some osteopathic treatment by the pitcher and infielders, soon put him right.

That "there is a divinity which shapes our ends" was exemplified when McFarland tried to draw his bat away from a wide one and made a bunt. He was not ready to move for first, but Bender, after fumbling, threw wild to Davis, Eddie sprinting to second safely.

GLEASON DEAL IS CALLED OFF.

Comiskey and Boston Infielder Disagree Over Terms and Player May Return to Collins.

Harry Gleason, the little Boston infielder whom Manager Collins allowed to report here on Monday after nearly two months' delay, failed to reach an agreement with President Comiskey of the White Stockings yesterday, so did not get into the game as was expected. Last night he was undecided whether he would return to the Boston club or accept some of the offers he has from other clubs.

The difficulty between magnate and player is over the salary question, and was an unexpected hitch. They reached an agreement in the morning and Gleason was out practicing with the team during the forenoon. Gleason stated his terms to Comiskey, and these called for more money for the rest of the season than he was getting from the Boston club for the whole season. The terms were accepted by Comiskey, but when Gleason came to sign a contract in the afternoon he wanted his salary to date from the beginning of the championship season instead of from yesterday. This Comiskey refused to do, and the deal was called off. Gleason said he stipulated at first that his salary was to begin on April 22, but that Comiskey did not so understand him.

The misunderstanding caused the deal to be called off altogether and Gleason at once wired Manager Collins for instructions. If the Boston club wishes to retain him it is at liberty to do so, according to the player. If not he will consider himself released from his American league contract and accept the best berth that offers elsewhere.

The result is disappointing to local fans, because the White Sox are in need of Gleason's services on the infield even if George Davis eventually reports, as expected, but Comiskey says he objects to an attempt "to hold him up" after he had accepted the player's original terms as he understood them, so there is believed to be little chance of their getting together.

DETROIT DEFEATS NEW YORK.

Tigers Bat Chesbro Hard in First Inning and Win Game by Score of 8 to 4.

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—Chesbro's pitching was much to Detroit's liking today, and six hits, two of them triples, won the game in the first inning. Deering, a Connecticut leaguer recruit, held New York safe, only being hit hard in the ninth. Both shortstops starred. Score:

Madison, Wis., May 12.—[Special.]—In a game that was harrowing to Wisconsin's rooters the Michigan nine won today by a score of 5 to 4. From the standpoint of the local fan the game was lost three times. While Michigan played a good game, its victory was due to the misplays of Wisconsin more than to its own strength. Wisconsin lost on errors at critical moments and stupid base running.

BROOKLYN EASY FOR SELEE'S MEN

Chicagoans Have No Difficulty Winning First Game of Their Series.

HANLON'S TEAM IS WEAK.

Slagle's Errors Give Superbas the Only Runs Scored Off Pitcher Wicker.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Chicago defeated Brooklyn in the opening game of their series today by a score of 6 to 3. Opportune batting on the part of the Colts won the game after Slagle had made two costly blunders, which gave the local men three runs in the third inning and a lead of two tallies.

Wicker was on the firing line for the Chicago team, and the one time clever hitting Hanlonites were unable to do much with the latest acquisition to Frank Selee's pitching staff. Only five hits were made off him, and these were so well scattered that the local men were unable to score after the third. Thielman, who was on the rubber for the home team, was an easier proposition for the Colts and was touched up for nine hits, one being a home run, two three baggers, and one double.

Kling's batting was the feature of the game. He made two hits, one a home run and the other a triple.

Colts Slow Getting Started.

Selee's bunch arrived here this morning, coming direct from St. Louis, when they corralled five games off the crippled Cardinals. The long journey seemed to have wearied the Chicago boys to such an extent they appeared to be afflicted with a bad case of stage fright for three innings. Then they got together and went after Thielman in the fifth inning, getting their artillery working on him and before he retired the side three hits were made off him, one double, a triple, and a single. This brought in two runs and tied the score and there was no doubt of the result of the game from that on.

In the sixth Kling's drive to left field sent Lowe home and allowed the catcher to score. In the eighth Lowe singled and came home on King's three bagger.

Hanlon's team makes a sad comparison with his teams of former years. His pitching staff is sadly in need of Donovan, Newton, Kitson, and even Bill Kennedy would be a great help. Willie Keeler left a great vacancy and the Trolley dodgers have only a ghost of their former greatness. The Colts will have easy picking unless the Brooklynites can put up a better game than they did today.

Rest Improves Capt. Lowe.

Capt. Lowe was back in the game and the rest of the last week has put a lot of ginger into him. He pranced around the bases today like a 2 year old, quite oblivious of the fact that he has a weak knee. He stole second three times after making that many base hits.

Hanlon has an experimental outfield. Householder, the man from California who is supposed to be the regular player in the position, has been out of the game for two weeks with a bad ankle. Schmidt, the catcher, was filling the gap today, and every man on the team has had his turn at it in the meantime. Dobbs has been offered a contract to sign and Hanlon is in hope the recent Colt will come on at once, as Hanlon wired him today. Score:

Notes of the Colts' Game.

Lowe stole second three times, the best of the season for him.

Slagle dropped Doyle's fly in the third inning, allowing Strang to score. This is the first of the season for Jimmy.

Harley was hit in the back by a pitched ball the first two times up, stole second each time, and was out each time when he slid past the base.

Kling made the second home run of the season in the sixth inning. In the eighth he tripled to deep center, but overran third and was out on the relay from Sheckard to Schmidt to Strang.

Harley caught Flood's fly in the fourth and made a double play on Ahearn, who started to score from third, but turned back and started for home again after the ball went past Kling to the grand stand. Kling got the ball back to Wicker in time to get Ahearn at the plate.

EASY VICTORY FOR THE CRISIS.

Beats Field of Four at Louisville in Impressive Fashion—Favorite for Kentucky Oaks.

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—[Special.]—If the four which started against The Crisis today are all she has to trim in the Kentucky Oaks the check for first money might as well be made payable to Talbot Brothers. Their filly stood her contenders on their heads going the first half of the route, and from there to the wire it was a merry jaunt for her. Rheta was the one regarded as most likely to give The Crisis an argument, but Capt. Brown's filly tired badly after going a half and was beaten out for second money by Flora Willoughby.

From a pecuniary standpoint the Louisville steeplechase, worth $1,075 to the winner, was the feature event. However, as a contest it was not much, degenerating into little more than a good stiff exercise gallop for Dr. Nowlin, which was pounds the best horse. Dr. Nowlin and Gov. Boyd collided at the clubhouse jump the first time around, and with a less skilled pilot than McAuliffe aboard the favorite would doubtless have come to grief.

Through some one's blunder Tancred carried two pounds less than he should have done. Protest was entered against the colt, which the stewards allowed. Tancred was disqualified and first money awarded to Lady of the West, the second horse. The others were also advanced a peg, but no cognizance was taken of the betting.

First race, ½ mile—J. P. Mayberry, 113 pounds [H. Booker], 6 to 5, won; Copperfield, 108 [J. Reiff], 10 to 1, second; Sol Smith, 3 to 1, third. Time, :48¼. Merry Pioneer, Post Warden, Brancas, Helgerson, and Triumvir also ran.

Second race, 1 mile—The Crisis, 104 pounds [H. Booker], 2 to 5, won; Flora Willoughby, 104 [Romanelli], 8 to 1, second; Rheta, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:43. Lemco and Mudlavia also ran.

Third race, ¾ mile—Glassful, 104 pounds [Helgerson], 9 to 5, won; Senor, 107 [R. Williams], 6 to 5, second; Rococo, 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:16. Brookston, Prism, Ed Bradley, and King Rose also ran.

Fourth race, Louisville steeplechase, value $1,425, full course — Dr. Nowlin, 140 pounds [McAuliffe], 2 to 1, won; Lord Radnor, 150 [Heider], 3½ to 1, second; Ada S. G., 10 to 1, third. Time, 5:35. Gov. Boyd and Tatar also ran.

Fifth race, 9-16 mile—Jennie Moore, 105 pounds [Romanelli], 30 to 1, won; Silver Thistle, 101 [Lindsey], 6 to 1, second; Comora, 4 to 1, third. Time, :56. Phelan, Brookwood Belle, Clytie, Wreath of Ivy, Big Goose, Onita, and Soufriere also ran.

Sixth race, 1⅛ miles—Tancred, 100 pounds [Helgerson], 7 to 10, won; Lady of the West, 100 [D. Boland], 5 to 1, second; Altona, 7 to 1, third. Time, 2:09¼. Reflect, Haywood Hunter, Insolence, and Remp ran.

LEAVES FOR COAST TONIGHT.

Champion Jeffries Will Train in Los Angeles for Coming Fight with Corbett—Confident of Victory.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Champion Jim Jeffries will leave for the coast at 6 o'clock this evening, and after spending several days in San Francisco will go to Los Angeles, where he hopes to secure suitable training quarters to prepare with his battle with Jim Corbett.

Speaking of his plans, the big fellow said: "I am going through a long, systematic course of training for this fight and hope to enter the ring conditioned as well as I was the first time I fought Fitzsimmons. I weigh at present about 235 pounds and will strip for action at about 220. I will have at least three months to train in, and most of that time will be devoted to speed work, such as fast boxing and short 50 to 100 yard sprints.

"I know I am going up against a speed marvel who will utilize every foot of the ring during the fight, but I will be in condition to go a few fast lines myself, and I guess I will catch him before the end of the twentieth round. Fitzsimmons, who will leave for California in a few days; brother Jack, and Billy Delaney will be with me, and I guess that bunch is good enough to get me in fine trim."

"Jeff" will probably train near the ocean, about twenty miles from Los Angeles.

John Hertz, Benny Yanger's manager, will pay no attention to challenges until after Benny fights Eddie Hanlon. His protégé will box in Kansas City en route to the coast, and upon his return to Chicago, win or lose against Hanlon, will be ready to talk business to any man of his weight in the country.

FAST HORSE FOR CHICAGO.

C. K. G. BILLINGS PURCHASES LOU DILLON AT CLEVELAND.

California Mare Is Five Years Old and Is the Speediest Unmarked Trotter in the World—Horsemen Think She Will Capture the Wagon Championship, for Which Event She Will Be Specially Trained—Price Is $12,500—Sale Is a Success.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

Cleveland, O., May 12.—Lou Dillon, the fastest unmarked trotter in the world, was sold at auction today for $12,500 to C. K. G. Billings of Chicago, who will add her to his already large stable of matinée performers. As the California mare is only 5 years old and has already been a mile better than 2:09, it is the opinion of horsemen that she will be able to capture the wagon championship for trotters, and it is with this end in view that she will be trained from now on.

E. E. Smathers of New York, owner of Lord Derby; J. D. Callery, a Pittsburg amateur; J. H. Brown of Detroit, and Mr. Billings were the only bidders, the mare being started at $5,000. Mr. Smathers' agent went to $11,000, Mr. Callery held on for another thousand, and then Mr. Brown and Mr. Billings carried the bidding to the finish. The Chicagoan also secured one of the fastest pacers in the world, when Sir Albert S., likewise from the Pierce consignment, fell to his bid of $3,200. This horse paced a quarter in :28½ at Memphis last fall in his half mile match with Prince Alert, and is easy to drive. Mr. Billings will use him on the speedway and in matinées.

Anzella, that made a trotting record of 2:06¾ last season and was one of the trotting stars, brought only $5,500, going to O. G. Kent of Cleveland, and Dolly Dillon, 2:07 trotting, was secured by J. D. Callery for $3,700. The other horses consigned by the Pierce estate did not sell as well as had been expected and in a way the market for fast trotters and pacers appears to have gone back a little from last year's quotations.

Among the horses disposed of today was Erirange, 2 year old, trotting record 2:21. She sold after that performance for $5,600, but the best bid today was $1,600, as she has never trained since her 2 year old form. Mabel Onward, for which Mr. Billings paid $6,000 two years ago, changed hands at $2,000, the Whiteleys of Muncie, Ind., getting her. Dr. Book, 2:10, another ex-member of the Billings string, was good for only a $600 bid.

Thelma Simmons and Vendora, trotters with records of 2:21 and 2:14½ respectively, brought $1,050 each, and the pacer Mount Hood, 2:19, that came all the way from Oregon, was slaughtered at $275. The green trotters and pacers from California, of which there was a large assortment, brought better prices than most of the animals that had fast records, and, on the whole, the sale was a success.

Pays $1,750 for Fast Pacer.

Jacob Frank yesterday purchased the pacing mare Marguerite by Jerry, out of Justice. The price paid was $1,750.

MORRIS PARK RING HARD HIT.

Winners Fairly Easy to Pick—Jockey Shaw Suspended by Stewards and Betting Scandal Suspected.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—The quality of the card at Westchester today was below the usual standard, and the fields as a rule were small. Three favorites and a second choice, together with a well backed good thing, enabled the talent to deal another series of body blows to the ring.

The only stake feature was the Harlem selling affair at a mile. R. T. Wilson Jr.'s Highlander was taken to the front by Burns without delay and made all the running, but tired in the stretch and it took a hard drive before he won by a head from Bon Mot, which was a head before Colonist.

After an investigation held at Morris Park today the stewards of the Westchester Racing association suspended Jockey Willie Shaw and referred his case to the jockey club. Shaw's trouble is due to a ride on "Father Bill" Daly's Illyria at the Jamaica track on May 6, when Illyria and Locket of the same stable were coupled as favorites. Ben Howard and Schoharie, both backed down, finished first and second respectively, with Locket third and Illyria never prominent and apparently having no speed.

In the Juvenile stakes at Morris Park on Saturday Illyria, a 60 to 1 shot, showed a surprising reversal of form when he ran second to August Belmont's Mizzen.

Third race, 9-16 mile—Ishlana, 107 pounds [Cochran], 7 to 1, won; Cyprienne, 107 [Gannon], 8 to 1, second; The Lady Rohesia, 5 to 1, third. Time, :53½. Valour, Fickle, Heatherdown, Ganoquas, and Vagary also ran.

RANKIN IS FIRST IN NOSE FINISH.

Arthur's Colt Beats The Lady After Grand Struggle at Worth Track.

ROBBINS SHARES HONOR.

Time for Mile and Seventy Yards Is Only a Fraction Outside of Track Record.

The Lady, undoubtedly the most consistent race mare on the western turf, and James Arthur's Miser—Rayorlight colt, Rankin, engaged in a sensational finish at Worth yesterday, the colt gaining the judge's decision by a nose. Henry had the mount on The Lady and Robbins rode Rankin.

This interesting feature transpired in the fourth race, at one mile and seventy yards, and was by long odds the best effort in Robbins' short career as a jockey. In fact, it was so good the consensus of opinion was the kid put it on his more experienced rival.

The event drew five entries, but Banter, C. E. Mahone's Derby possibility, dodged the issue, leaving Rankin, The Lady, Felix Bard, and Thane to contest for the purse. Of these Thane, although asked to carry top weight, looked so much the best he was installed favorite. It did not appear to be a question which would win, but whether The Lady or Rankin would run to the place. The bookmakers laid 3 to 1, take your pick, against the pair.

The Lady Steals a Length.

Dwyer sent the quartet on their journey with The Lady a length in advance. With this stolen lead, Henry carried his field at a merry clip around the turn, along the back stretch, and skirted the far end of the oval without relinquishing any of the early advantage. During that part of the journey Rankin and Thane alternated in second place. In the swing to the three-quarter pole, Robbins, in attempting to get through with Rankin, was cut off, causing him to pull out and await an opening.

Henry had the rail and hugged it as closely as possible, turning into the stretch. This kept Robbins a length back. Half way up the stretch Henry, while watching Thane, the horse he thought he had to beat, moved out from the rail far enough to let Robbins through, and, taking advantage of the opening, he had Rankin alongside The Lady in a jiffy.

With a new and dangerous contestant to look after, Henry began riding for all that was in him. At the sixteenth pole he held a head margin, fifty yards out they were on equal terms, and from there out it was nip and tuck with both boys riding like demons. Ten yards from the wire it was either one's race, but in the last strides Rankin's nose was in front, and, slight as was the lead, he maintained it to the imaginary line.

It was a grand finish, and was highly appreciated by the spectators. The time, 1:45, was only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record, which, considering the slow going, because of the early showers, shows the pace set.

The next best race of the day was the sixth, which went to Rolling Boer after an excellent ride by Henry. Baird set the early pace, with John J. Regan and Rolling Boer always within striking distance. When the leader blew up Henry came on with the Boer horse and won handily. Dodie S. came fast enough through the straight to secure second money from John A. Clark, the favorite.

LITTLE CHANGE IN WHEAT

SLIGHT DIP ON GOVERNMENT REPORT LARGELY REGAINED.

Easiness in Foreign Markets Encourages Local Selling, but an Unexpectedly Stubborn Resistance to Bear Effort Develops—Corn Strong and Higher on Sharp Decrease in Local Contract Stocks—Crop Bulletins Help Oats Prices.

Foreigners seemed to consider the government report on the condition of growing wheat in this country a moderately bearish document, and local traders were encouraged by small declines in European markets to sell short in the local pit. Their efforts produced declines of ⅛c in July to 71⅞c and of ¼-⅜c in September to 69⅝-¾c.

But there seemed to be a moderate demand from some source on the break, and while there was considerable July for sale at times, possibly on stop loss orders, the offerings from commission houses were not as large as expected, and some of the early sellers covered before the close, moved thereto in part by strength in coarse grains. The declines were almost entirely recovered, July closing at 72¼c sellers and September at 69⅞c sellers, a loss of ⅛c only, while May, which sold from 78⅝c to 78c, closed unchanged at 78½c. There was some May for sale on the advance, which the pit thought must be for the bull interest, but the market was closed just where it has closed for a number of days.

There was not much in the market except theories as to the influence of the government report on domestic holders and foreign consumptive bears. It lacked the help it has had from strong northwest markets, both Duluth and Minneapolis off about ½c at one time, and closing prices there, while steady for May, ⅛c to ⅜c lower on deferred futures.

St. Louis Strong.

St. Louis, however, was firm, the May there up ⅛c and all the remaining contract stock there, 80,000 bu, reported sold for shipment. New York May was up ⅜c. The reaction from the bottom was helped by purchases against privileges and by the strength in coarse grains. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 6,327,000 bu in world's stocks, compared with a falling off of 2,734,000 bu a year ago, the decrease a large one because it included the revision in the Russian stocks reported last week.

Northwest receipts were light, 83 cars, and primary receipts 255,000 bu, compared with 372,000 bu a year ago.

The report of local contract stocks showed that a little progress had been made in reducing the supply, a decrease for the week of 243,000 bu to a total of 2,800,000 bu. Total stocks in all positions here are 7,343,000 bu, a decrease of 693,000 bu for the week. There were 49 cars of contract grade out of private houses, however, for the day, and only 10,000 bu shipped from store. Minneapolis reported a decrease of 700,000 bu in stocks there for half the week. Frost was predicted for Kansas and Nebraska, and the Illinois crop bulletin reported wheat growth retarded by cool weather, the plant showing further deterioration, many fields losing color and some localities infested with insects. Clearances were heavy at 626,000 bu, but export sales at the seaboard only 136,000 bu. Duluth reported sales of 80,000 bu for export. Sales of 300,000 bu low grade wheat made here for shipment late the day before were reported. Liverpool futures were ⅛@⅜ lower, London ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower, and Paris ½c lower to unchanged.

Stronger Market in Corn.

A considerable reduction in contract stocks, higher cables, lighter sales to arrive by the country, reports from the west of delayed planting by too much rain and in Illinois because of too little, all tended to make a strong corn market, and the close was at advances of ⅝-¾c all around. St. Louis contributed a good many messages telling of damage in Kansas. The larger inspection—497 cars—induced some early selling, but the continued firm tone of the market soon checked the offerings. The receipts included 34 cars of contract. The estimate for today is 180 cars. There were 379,000 withdrawn from public store and 24 cars from private elevators. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 736,000 bu in stocks east of the Rockies, compared with a decrease last year of 601,000 bu. Primary receipts were 704,000 bu and shipments 439,000 bu. Local contract stocks are 1,463,127 bu, a decrease for the week of 613,000 bu. Total stocks are 3,194,000 bu, a decrease of 233,000 bu. The seaboard cleared 24,000 bu, 12 loads being taken for export. In the cash market there was a good demand with smaller offerings. Sales for shipment were 95,000 bu. Prices were unchanged to ½c higher on yellow and ½@1c higher on white.

Higher Prices for Oats.

In oats the tone was firmer, the May closing ⅜c higher, the July ⅜c up and the September ¼c over Monday's latest figures. The current delivery was freely sold by one of the largest local holders, the Northern Grain company, but there were enough shorts in the market to take care of the offerings. The Illinois weekly crop bulletin's statement that oats were not in promising condition, grown under unfavorable circumstances, germination retarded and the stand uneven, was a decided help to the deferred deliveries. The smallness of the stock of standard, 297,000 bu, a decrease of 16,000 bu for the week, induced some covering. Stocks in all positions are now 1,744,000 bu, a decrease of 28,000 bu. Bradstreet's made a decrease of 34,000 bu in the world's available, which last year fell off but 99,000 bu. The curb market was steady to firm, with sales of 30,000 bu reported. Inspection was 285 cars, with 90 cars estimated today. Seaboard clearances were reported at 14,000 bu.

Slow Trade in Provisions.

The provision list did not show any marked activity, though at the close all prices were a little higher than the day before; pork, 7½@10c up; lard and ribs, 2½@5c higher. Demand for all products was on a better scale than the day before. Swift brokers supported lard and there seemed to be Armour buying of ribs. Liverpool was 6d lower on bacon and lard. Hog receipts were 17,000, with 26,000 estimated today. Western packing points had 63,500, against 60,500 a week ago and 82,800 last year. Shipments of cured meats were 1,578,000 lbs, compared with 2,404,000 lbs a year ago, and of lard 1,035,000 lbs, against 847,000 lbs last year.

Rye was dull and unchanged, 50c being asked for July and the nominal market on May. Receipts were 22 cars. There were no withdrawals.

Barley conditions were also about as heretofore reported—a good demand for suitable grades and the moderate offerings readily cleaned up. Receipts were 24 cars. Screenings ranged from 35@38c, for good to choice, feed barley 37@40c, low grade malting 43@46c, fair to good 49@53c, and choice, 54@56c.

Timothy seed was steady, but dull, contract at $3.45@3.50 and country lots, $2.00@3.00; few lots bringing over $2.75. Clover seed was entirely unchanged at $12.50 for contract.

Flaxseed ruled dull; No. 1 northern, $1.15; do southwestern, $1.11; rejected, $1.06@1.08; May, $1.11 asked and July, $1.13½ bid, $1.14 asked. There were 7 cars here, 6 at Minneapolis, and 19 at Duluth.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Consolidations and mergers are so much the rule that hardly a ripple of surprise was expressed on the floor at the report that the firms of Bartlett-Frazier, Carrington-Patten, and Patten Bros., which have been more or less closely allied in grain speculation, would be consolidated July 1. On that date H. E. Rycroft and H. H. Peters withdraw from Bartlett-Frazier on the score of ill health. While the principals of the various firms would not corroborate the rumor of the consolidation, it was felt such a combination was likely at least, and that it would make a strong one.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 30 cars; corn, 180 cars; oats, 90 cars; hogs, 26,000.

Wheat traders were not much more positive at the close of yesterday's session whether the government report should be considered a bearish or a bullish document than they had been when the figures were first received. There was enough local selling to break the price ⅛c, but enough buying to rally it to a close only ⅛c lower for the day. Broomhall reported the decline in Liverpool due to more seasonable weather in the united kingdom and to the American crop report, but the decline there was only ⅛@⅜d, and the trade had to guess how much of that was due to the crop report.

Work of the Directors.

The directors did not order a ballot on the proposed amendment making No. 2 hard winter wheat deliverable on contracts because of some changes in the wording of the original rule, which made another week's delay necessary.

The directors yesterday approved the following proposed amendment to section 13 of rule 22, which will be posted today for ballot ten days hence: "In case property of any kind is weighed by a public or disinterested weigher and is paid for in accordance with such weights, the cost of such weighing shall be borne by the seller, provided such cost does not exceed 25 cents per car; should such cost be in excess of 25 cents per car it shall be divided equally between the buyer and seller." The change will add 10c a car to weighing charges.

Antwerp advices to Harris-Gates, under date of May 1, say: "Wheat—Continues firm with upward tendency. The consumptive demand remains excellent from all quarters, France included, and to meet this demand there are few offers in the market, and we think the question will become daily more difficult how to make both ends meet before the new crop will be harvested."

The principal decreases in wheat stocks reported by Bradstreet's were: Manitoba, 1,000,000 bu; St. Joseph, 223,000 bu; Chicago private elevators, 206,000 bu; northwest interior elevators, 200,000 bu; Dallas, Tex., 79,000 bu, and Evansville, 62,000 bu. The increases included 152,000 bu at Depot Harbor, 125,000 bu at Portland, Me., and 52,000 bu in Milwaukee private elevators.

The annual election of the open board of trade was held yesterday and the "regular" ticket with Austin A. Howard at its head elected by a vote of almost two to one. The total vote was 150. Howard received ninety-one and Charles Q. Albertson, retiring president, forty-three. The result is considered a defeat for the "bucketshop" interests. The full ticket elected was as follows: President, Austin A. Howard; vice president, F. S. Williams; directors, E. D. Norton, J. E. Hepperlin, J. J. Brady, E. J. Sherwin, B. W. Frank; committee on arbitration, F. D. Strawbridge, Jay K. Lamb, H. P. Mugridge, D. L. Barsaloux; committee of appeals, J. F. Rawlings, F. F. Clark, Winter Scripps, George T. Stebbings.

Quotations on Dry Goods, Coffee, Butter, Poultry, Metals, and Other Special Lines.

NEW YORK, May 12.—An increased number of buyers is noted in the dry goods district, but no increased buying of moment is commented upon. Prices are held firmly and sellers do not see in the present course of the raw material market any warrant for weakening in their attitude toward buyers.

FALL OF BANK BALANCES.

COUNTRY INSTITUTIONS LOWER THEIR DEPOSITS HERE.

Money Holds Steady at a Going Minimum of 5 1-2 Per Cent with National Banks, While Trust Companies Loan Freely at 5 Per Cent—Unverified Report That Steel Corporation Is Negotiating for Purchase of American Can Company.

Some of the largest national banks find their country deposits working lower. It is estimated that country balances are now between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000 less than they were three weeks ago. It appears that there is a good demand for money in the west. Just what special use there is for funds at this time is not apparent, since it is too early for ordinary crop movement requirements.

The gradual decline in country balances is helping to maintain the 5½ per cent rate with the commercial banks. They see no reason for making a 5 per cent rate on commercial paper when the demand is so general.

Local trust companies, on the other hand, lend freely at 5 per cent. They do not hesitate to say they consider that a fair rate at this time. As they lend only on quick collateral they can afford to make a lower rate than the commercial banks. The latter will also make a 5 per cent rate to strong borrowers with stock or grain collateral. But that is the small part of their total loans.

Report of a Can Deal.

Insiders in the American Can company continue to advise their friends to purchase American Can stocks. The buying in the last two weeks has been of such a character as to indicate the intention of the inside interest to put the stock higher.

In this connection there is in circulation an unverified report that the United States Steel corporation is engaged in tentative negotiations with the Can company with a view of taking over the latter corporation on a basis of 60 for the preferred and 15 for the common stock.

The movement of the common shares does not as yet bear out this rumor, since the advance in them has been insignificant, while the preferred has had a good rise.

The buying locally yesterday was by Sydney C. Love & Co. and E. L. Brewster & Co. The purchases by the latter firm were for persons in touch with the Can management, though the orders originated in Chicago.

In a general way it may be added that since the plant concentration expenses of the company are understood to be practically over, there is a disposition to regard the shares with favor.

Bank Circulation Increasing.

Secretary Shaw's refunding plan continues to result in increased national bank notes circulation. Since April 1, the date of the beginning of refunding operations, the net increase in circulation amounts to $12,606,005. The gross note issues were $15,336,680. Of this amount $396,700 was for new banks and $14,939,980 for old banks. Within the same period, however, reductions of circulation amounted to $2,730,675.

The orders for new circulation since April 1 amount to $22,706,700, of which the new banks have ordered $1,145,050 and the old banks $14,939,980.

Of the $3,000,000 Philippine certificates issued a short time ago, $2,000,000 have been sold to banks for use in securing United States deposits.

General Financial News.

President Thompson of the Republic Iron and Steel company says the plants at East Chicago remain shut down since there is no signs of a settlement of the labor troubles. He adds that the business of the company is keeping up well and new orders coming in at a rate that assure a heavy output for some time to come. With reference to idle mills, he says that even in the most active time the company holds some plants in reserve.

There were rumors in New York yesterday of additional exports of gold tomorrow, but nothing definite on the probable date of the engagement of gold for shipment to Buenos Ayres this week had been determined.

The Rock Island management has decided to issue no more crop reports and to make public statements of earnings once a month only. No public reason is assigned for the change of policy with reference to publicity.

The subtreasury gained $636,000 from banks Monday, but since last Friday has lost $177,000 to the banks.

Dividends Declared.

The Philadelphia, Germantown and Morristown railroad company has declared a dividend of 3 per cent and the Chestnut Hill railroad company has declared a dividend of 1½ per cent. Both dividends are payable June 4 to stock of record May 20.

U. S. Steel Carnegie Proof.

According to the Boston News bureau, some astute financiers see in the new $250,000,000 mortgage bond of the United States Steel corporation a safeguard against that property ever reverting to Andrew Carnegie, who, previous to the present issue of bonds, held 85 per cent of the entire issue. A student of the steel trade who is in a position to speak with authority has an ingenious, if not ingenuous, argument in support of the theory that the managers of the steel trust have planned to outwit Carnegie.

This person, competent to speak with authority, says Mr. Carnegie has rightly the reputation of squeezing out the other fellow. When he sold out his interest in the Carnegie steel works he refused to take anything but bonds, for he recognized the ups and downs in the steel trade and probably had his eye upon the acquirement of the properties in a time of severe depression when the company might not be able to meet its interest. The observer continues in part in this interesting fashion:

"H. C. Frick, who is a thirty-third degree ironmaster and the deadly enemy of Carnegie, the only man who ever fought him to a finish and then beat him, joined the steel independents after the formation of the United States Steel corporation, only to return to the trust fold when he found that the business of the United States Steel corporation was being managed by committees and not by Carnegie protégés.

"It was while President Schwab was in Europe that the company absorbed the Union and Sharon mills, in which Frick was largely interested, and Mr. Frick accepted a position upon the finance committee—the principal committee of the corporation. The investment in the Sharon and Union companies was one of the best that the steel corporation could have made, for through it the services of Mr. Frick were secured for the steel corporation, and he is not in the company to benefit any of Mr. Carnegie's schemes.

"It was by a unanimous vote that it was agreed to place a second mortgage on the property for $250,000,000, of which $200,000,000 was to retire preferred stock and $50,000,000 for improvements and additions, and a special provision was made in the indenture that there could not be a foreclosure for two years after default in the interest.

"This second mortgage occupies to the steel corporation the same position as an outpost defending a fortress or city. An enemy has got to break through that second mortgage before he can get at the property. Dividends on the preferred and common stocks of the corporation must be stopped and interest on the second mortgage bonds suspended for two years before Carnegie can get the property. The bonds pay 5 per cent and the ownership will be concentrated. It is figured that a period of extreme depression could not last over two years, and it is entirely probable that the prominent steel interests outside of Carnegie have figured that if the worst came to worst, the second mortgage bondholders could assess themselves and take care of the Carnegie bond interest and save the property from Carnegie's well known rapacity."

Chicago Stocks.

Aside from the trading in American Can shares the feature of the local exchange was the business in National Biscuit stock. The strike news has been received by the market with considerable indifference. The common shares, while but moderately traded in, closed at 42-⅜, which represents merely a nominal decline. The preferred price has held about steady.

The probability of the payment of the rents on West Chicago street railroad stock due May 15 did not stimulate any activity in the stock yesterday. A small lot sold at 62. It is recognized that in order to pay the rent the receivers will be obliged to borrow the money. The payment, therefore, will be for reasons other than earning ability. The stockholders who have taken it for granted that payments would not be made and have been charging default will be left without an argument when the rents are paid.

Northwestern L 4 per cent bonds sold at 90. This is a new low record. It is anticipated that $1,000,000 additional bonds will have to be issued for Ravenswood extension. At the same time the Union Elevated company did not quite earn an amount equal to the interest on the bonds which the Northwestern Elevated issued to purchase Union Loop stock.

LONDON, May 12.—The tension in the money market is expected to be relieved tomorrow, when, with the allotments of the Transvaal loan, the locked up money will be released. Business on the stock exchange today was quiet, operators being occupied with the contangoes, but the tendency was towards cheerfulness. The record application for the Transvaal loan was the chief topic of conversation. Consols hardened in consequence of the great success of the loan and the better outlook in the east. Americans opened irregular and more active. Kaffirs were weak. De Beers were firm.

STOCK PRICES HOLD FIRM.

NET CHANGES SMALL ON MIXTURE OF INFLUENCES.

Good News and Bad News Plentiful and Bearing of Each on Values Varied According to Disposition of Traders — Revelation of Great Quantity of Idle Money in England as Shown by Transvaal Loan Encouraging—Late Attack on Steel.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Special.]—The feature of the security market today was the hardness and strength up to the last hour of business despite the market's extreme dullness. Heretofore whenever the market turned dull after a moderate advance in prices the professional speculators have, after chafing for a few hours, begun to lament the lack of "buying power" or to sell stocks miscellaneously. The changes net from the closing prices of yesterday were small. The news of the day comprised a mixture of favorable and unfavorable factors, the favorable ones predominating.

The Transvaal loan in England, with its revelation of the amount of money lying idle there was widely commented on, and the belief was expressed in the more important foreign houses here that the event will greatly stimulate the demand for investments in England which could not fail to react favorably on American securities.

Similarly the higher prices offered for bonds in our city disclosed by the opening of bids today for the city's issue of corporate stock is additional testimony to the strength of the general bond market. Many favorable reports of railroad earnings for the first week in May were received, while, on the other hand, the settlement of the labor troubles on the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railway systems seemed probable, the possibility of a strike on the Great Northern railway seemed greater and the general strike situation over the country could hardly be said to be improved.

Sterling exchange here did not decline despite today's gold shipments. Sterling in Paris also held steady. This makes it possible, therefore, that more gold may be shipped before the week is out.

But as call money today was offered at 2¼ per cent and time money was as cheap as ever, these shipments are obviously of small importance. The real impulse in causing a weakness in the market at the close was the cumulative effect of heavy liquidation in Pennsylvania railroad stock, which took place during the day as the result of sales of stocks made against the purchase of subscription "rights" to the Pennsylvania railroad's new stock issue.

In the last few minutes of business room traders sold, the market vigorously attacking chiefly the United States Steel shares upon a report from Pittsburg that a prominent private steel manufacturing concern in that city had made the price for steel billets for delivery throughout the year at less than the prevailing market quotations. The report also was accompanied by a statement that the pig iron market at Pittsburg had developed a weaker tendency.

The Wheeling and Lake Erie and Hocking Valley stocks advanced, the former by reason of the benefits which will accrue to the Wheeling and Lake Erie company by the extension of the Wabash road into Pittsburg and the latter by the understanding that it will be most favorably affected by the plans for the Hocking Valley reorganization.

Even the untrained observer of market conditions must be impressed with the evidence of accumulation of Missouri Pacific shares that has been going on for some weeks.

ALL PRODUCE LIST IS QUIET.

Supplies Ample and Prices Show Little or No Change from Those Heretofore Quoted.

Everything in the list of farm produce was dull yesterday with prices about unchanged; entirely so on such staples as dairy product. Veal was weak on warmer weather and about ½c lower. The poultry list was also slightly easier.

Government Wants Boat Inspectors.

Two government positions with a salary of $1,800 a year each are the prizes offered steamboat captains and marine engineers of the great lakes by the civil service commission. Orders were received from Washington yesterday for examinations, to be held June 9 and 10 and June 16 and 17; for the positions of inspector of boilers and inspector of hulls at Chicago.

Arrest Follows Girl's Injury.

John Mappetta, charged with participating in the shooting affray Sunday evening at Clark and Polk streets, in which Rosie Fuma, 501 Clark street, was severely wounded, was arrested yesterday. Mappetta admits being a party to the trouble, but denies that he fired the shot.

Corporations Have No Souls, but their Existence is practically perpetual. Therefore, as Trustees under wills or otherwise, they stand unrivaled. To Syndicates desiring to subdivide tracts of land this feature is invaluable. It removes the necessity of appointing successors in trust. It renders certain the prompt execution of all instruments connected with transfers. It is always to be found when wanted; it does not go abroad, move away or die, as does the individual. It is absolutely stable and trust-worthy, consequently all transactions conducted through it are, of necessity, absolutely legitimate.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Receipts of 3,000 Cattle of Poor Grade—Hogs 10 Cents Lower on a Run of 17,000.

Few passably good steers and no prime cattle were included in the small Tuesday receipts of 3,000. The market was steady. Hogs were a dime lower on receipts of 17,000. Choice sheep and lambs were steady, with 12,000 on sale; common lambs lower.

Indications for Wednesday favor another liberal run of stock. One week ago three principal roads reported 685 cars in sight for Wednesday and the run that day was 18,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep. The car report yesterday favors close to 20,000 cattle, 28,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

The following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stock yards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

GENERAL NEWS OF RAILROADS.

Burlington and Alton Roads on a Joint Line from St. Louis to Kansas City.

The Burlington and Alton roads have decided to make a joint line between St. Louis and Kansas City by using the Burlington tracks from the St. Louis union station to Old Monroe, fifty-one miles; by building from Old Monroe to Mexico, on the Alton, sixty-three miles, and using the tracks of the Alton from Mexico to Kansas City, 166 miles, making the total distance 280 miles. The distances via other lines are: Wabash, 277 miles; Missouri Pacific, 288 miles. The new road between Old Monroe and Mexico is to be built and owned by the Burlington. The line to be constructed will have a maximum grade of 26 feet to the mile and maximum curvature of 1 degree. The Burlington and Alton have felt for some time that an improvement in their St. Louis-Kansas City lines is necessary to permit the furnishing to the public of faster service than they are now able to give. It is expected that the new line will be completed and ready for business by June 1, 1904.

New Transcontinental Line Plans.

The Grand Trunk has issued a pamphlet that tells of the large project of building another transcontinental road to be known as the Grand Trunk Pacific. A map shows the new route, which commences at Quebec and runs to Mattawa, North Bay, and the north of Lake Nipigon to Winnipeg. Between these points there is a branch line to Port Arthur. West of Winnipeg the line works north and runs through the Saskatoon district to Edmonton. From here it proceeds further north to Dunvegan, and either the Peace or Pine river pass, on the way to Port Simpson, on the Pacific ocean.

Branching out from the main line before Simpson is reached is a route to Dawson. Other important branches outlined are from Edmonton to Butte inlet, from Battleford to Calgary, and from a point between Saskatoon and Winnipeg to Regina.

Rushing Work on Moffatt Road.

Rapid progress is being made on the Moffatt road between Denver and Salt Lake City, and it is the intention to have the entire line ready for business in about a year. It is generally believed that the road will come into the possession of the Goulds and be made part of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake road, which Senator W. A. Clark is building.

Within sixty days the Moffatt road will be in operation over its own tracks from Denver to Leyden Junction, and track laying will begin on other sections. The road will use the joint track of the Burlington and Colorado and Southern from Denver to Utah Junction, and from the latter point it will begin laying its own rails, which are being rolled in the Pueblo mills of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

The International and Great Northern and the St. Louis Southwestern railways have filed with the interstate commerce commission at Washington answers to the orders of the commission calling for information regarding class and commodity rates from St. Louis to Texas common points. Both lines admit making certain advances in special and commodity rates, but deny that the advances were material or made to earn an unreasonable revenue. They allege that the cost of construction, operation, etc., has increased from 5 to 75 per cent, and their net earnings for the three months ended March 31, 1903, showed a large decrease.

General Railway Notes.

It is understood that the general freight department offices of the Chicago and Erie railroad will soon be transferred from Cleveland to Chicago. The change will bring here Freight Traffic Manager Shane, General Freight Agent Thomas, and Assistant General Freight Agent Whittlesey, and their office forces.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul this week is receiving from the Pullman company ten new sleeping cars, which will be placed in service on its Colorado and California trains. A number of new dining cars also have been added to the company's equipment. Two special trains will leave Chicago over the Milwaukee and St. Paul on Thursday at 9:15 a. m. to take delegates to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Los Angeles.

CROP PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

WARMTH NEEDED IN NORTHERN REGIONS, BUT CONDITION GOOD.

Corn Planting Continues Late, but Is Being Pushed as Rapidly as Possible Over Wide Area—Hard and Cloddy Ground Has Made Work Difficult—Winter Wheat Improved in Some Sections and Deteriorated in Others, but Average Is Satisfactory.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Following is the official weekly crop report issued today by the department of agriculture: The Ohio valley, the middle Atlantic, and the southern states have experienced another cool week, and while the temperature has been above the seasonal average in the more northerly districts, the reports generally indicate the need of warmth.

In the lower Missouri, central Mississippi, and Ohio valleys, and Atlantic coast districts, including the northern portion of the east gulf states, rains would be of much benefit. Rain would also be beneficial in the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast districts.

Much needed and abundant rains have fallen in the west gulf states and Florida. In Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Wisconsin the conditions have been generally favorable.

Corn Planting Is Pushed.

Corn planting continues late, but is now in general progress throughout the central valleys, and has begun in the extreme northern districts. This work has been carried on under much difficulty in the lower Missouri, central Mississippi, and Ohio valleys, and portions of the middle Atlantic states, owing to hard and cloddy ground. Germination and growth have been slow in all districts; in the west gulf states, however, the crop has recovered rapidly from the effects of the cold of the previous week.

An improvement in the condition of winter wheat is reported from Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and Ohio, but the crop has suffered deterioration in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, and Missouri, much in the southern portion of the last mentioned state having been greatly damaged by rust and insects. Wheat is now heading as far north as Kentucky and southern Missouri. On the Pacific coast winter wheat continues thrifty in Oregon, but in Washington and California it is in need of rain, the late sown in California being unpromising.

Spring wheat seeding is now practically finished, and the early sown is coming up to good stands, and is in healthy condition. No damage seems to have resulted from the severe weather of the previous week. In the northern Rocky mountain districts and in Washington the reports are less favorable, rain being needed.

The seeding of oats is nearly finished in the more northerly districts, where good stands are promised, and from Texas northward to the upper Missouri valley the crop has improved much since last week, but from the lower Missouri valley eastward over Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio the stands are uneven and the crop is much in need of rain.

Cotton Crop Promising.

Although much too cool, nearly the whole of the cotton region has received abundant rainfall, which was of the greatest benefit in the central and western districts, where germination and growth of cotton are now progressing satisfactorily. In the Carolinas, northern Georgia, and Tennessee germination and growth have been slow. Planting is nearly completed in the northern portion of the belt, but the crop is generally much later than usual.

No tobacco has yet been transplanted north of the Carolinas and Tennessee. Plants continue plentiful.

The reports concerning apples are more encouraging than in the previous week, but the outlook for most of other fruits continues poor.

Bulletins of State Conditions.

Special reports by states in the middle and northwest are as follows:

ILLINOIS—Unfavorable weather for germination and crop development; warm rains much needed; wheat shows further deterioration; oats not promising, uneven stands, and need rain; plowing for corn and planting in progress; ground hard and lumpy; previous reports of injury to fruits confirmed; strawberries and grapes damaged most.

INDIANA—Good week for farm work, but too cool for germination of seed and growth of crops; damaging frosts on two dates; oats show uneven stands; hay and pasture grasses and winter cereals made slow growth and in some instances deteriorated; prospects for fruits of all kinds poor; plowing for corn progressed rapidly and some planting done, but ground hard and cloggy; rain needed in all sections.

OHIO—Heavy frost in west on 4th and light frost in north on 8th; no rain; ground dry and hard; corn planting begun in most counties; pastures, grass, oats, barley, and gardens making slow and uneven growth; warm rain badly needed; wheat slowly improving; tobacco plants backward; practically no damage to fruit in lake counties and injury not serious in many other localities.

MICHIGAN—Cool and moderately dry weather retarded growth and germination; wheat, rye, meadows, and pastures growing slowly, but continue healthy; corn planting begun in southern counties; oat, pea, and barley seeding mostly completed in lower peninsula; sugar beet seeding becoming general.

WISCONSIN—Week favorable for farm work and growing crops; seeding completed and preparations for corn and potatoes well advanced; some corn planted, and, with favorable weather, a large acreage will be put in this week; winter wheat and rye doing well; early sown oats and barley coming up nicely; grass and pastures made rapid growth in the last few days.

Rain Helps in Minnesota.

MINNESOTA—Rain on the 9th in northern portions and from 9th to 11th in southern portions were beneficial; wheat, oats, and barley practically all seeded and the early sown growing well; flax seeding, potato planting and preparations for corn planting progressing well; higher temperatures needed.

IOWA—Most favorable week of season, and farm operations vigorously pushed; in all districts corn planting begun, and, with fair weather, bulk of area will be planted by 20th; grass, oats, barley, and spring wheat making fair growth; apple crop generally little hurt by frosts; cherries and plums suffered most damage.

NORTH DAKOTA—Wheat seeding nearly finished; oats, barley, and rye being sown; ground being prepared for corn and flax, some of which has already been put in; early wheat up and looks well, no damage from previous freeze.

SOUTH DAKOTA—Seasonable temperature and beneficial rains much improved growing crops; apparently small permanent injury to oats, barley, and tree fruits by April frosts; spring wheat, spelt, grass, barley, and fruits now in healthy condition though backward; wheat seeding finished; corn planting begun.

NEBRASKA—Week wet, with normal temperature, favorable for the growth of small grain and all grass; wheat continues in good condition; oats recovering nicely from effect of low temperature of last week.

KANSAS—Abundant rain, except in northeast counties, and warmer; wheat improved and growing well; corn planting half finished, coming up slowly, generally good stand, some replanting; alfalfa making good growth.

MACHINISTS—WE HAVE PLACES FOR A number of good machinists for all grades of work at full pay and in a shop with appointments and surroundings first class in every particular. We run our shop 54 hours per week, and our men have always been satisfied with their pay, surroundings, and treatment.

A number of our men quit work a short time ago under the following circumstances: We were among the first to adopt the 54 hour week in Chicago, and at the time the shorter hours were put into effect we submitted the arrangement of hours to a vote of our employes. Almost unanimously they voted for a division of the 54 hour week which provided for a Saturday half holiday. A vote was taken a second time last fall with the same result. Upon a recent demand by the Machinists' union that we run the shop nine hours each day, we offered to take a vote again and abide the preference of the majority of our men. This vote was taken and resulted in a majority favoring the Saturday half holiday. A number of our employes then quit work, although expressing themselves as entirely satisfied with their jobs. Our shop is an open shop, not discriminating for or against union or nonunion men. Apply to

Over 600 pianos, including Steinway, Knabe, Mason & Hamlin, Miller, Hazelton, Krakauer, Fischer, and other great makes are exhibited side by side in Lyon & Healy's warerooms. All these different pianos are distinguished by some special features. The workmanship in each is of a superior character and every one of these pianos is of a design approved by the highest standard of public taste.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS THIS WEEK.

We offer great inducements this week in new pianos, of modern styles, sweet tones, first class action, and fully guaranteed. Look at the instruments marked with a white tag. This signifies recent cut in price of $50 or more. There are nearly 100 of these pianos and you can form no idea of the values without a visit of inspection.

LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

The business of Lyon & Healy largely exceeds in volume and value that of any other musical establishment in either Europe or America.

VOSE PIANOS.

The standard of piano excellence.

There is a marked difference in pianos—more of a difference between Vose pianos and other pianos than you imagine. Everything about a Vose piano is solid—substantial—enduring.

Take the carving on a Vose piano for example—it's all done by hand—out of solid wood—the kind of wood of which the case is made—it's all genuine hand carved, hand polished hardwood—no stamped or pressed designs—no soft woods stained to imitate the genuine.

And notwithstanding the fact that Vose pianos are today the standard of excellence in piano manufacture, they are not expensive pianos. There is hardly a home that can afford to have a piano of any kind that cannot afford to buy a Vose—for Vose value is not measured by the Vose price. Selling direct from the factory to your home reduces the cost and increases the value you get.

ONE HUNDRED SECOND HAND UPRIGHTS.

Chickering, Vose, Emerson, Bauer, Ludwig, Howard, Capen, Gabler, Colby, and other standard makes—slightly shop worn—finish perfect—can't be told from new pianos—some slightly used—some exchanged—some returned from rental—tone and action perfect—every one guaranteed for five years—your choice at almost your own price and on practically your own terms—they simply must be sold, and sold now, to make room for new stock—$75, $90, $110, $125, $145.

VOSE & SONS PIANO CO., 246 Wabash-av., Chicago.

NATIONAL LIFE, U. S. OF A., GETS DES MOINES COMPANY.

P. M. Starnes of the Purchased Concern Becomes Vice President and General Manager of the Local Corporation.

The National Life of the United States of America yesterday took over the business and assets of the National Life and Trust of Des Moines. The latter company had assets at the first of the year of $1,267,906 and insurance in force of $12,504,000, and the deal increases the assets of the National Life of the United States of America to over $4,300,000 and the insurance in force to over $40,000,000. P. M. Starnes, the president of the Des Moines company, becomes vice president and general manager of the National, but a branch office will be maintained in Des Moines. The National secures the agency force of the Des Moines company, whose efficiency is shown by the fact that the company was organized in 1899 with $25,000 capital, and in less than four years, under Mr. Starnes' management, had grown to nearly a million and a half of assets.

The National will go at once on the 3½ per cent reserve basis on all new business. By the end of the year it will have $50,000,000 of insurance in force, which puts it well over the hill every small company has to climb. Its policy will be conservative, and the bond policy issued by the Des Moines company will be discontinued. The National is bidding for the business of the Kansas Mutual Life, the bids to be opened on Friday.

The Home of New York announced yesterday that May 1 it would consolidate its local agencies in Chicago, now in the offices of Ducat & Lyon and H. H. Walker, and would put H. G. Buswell in as salaried agent. The Home has adopted this policy in several other large cities, and the change is generally accepted as meaning that the company means to put itself on the same footing as some of its competitors in being free from the limitations imposed upon a commission agent.

J. W. Nye of Ducat & Lyon addressed the Fire Insurance club last night on the stockyards hazards. Against the enormous congestion of values in a limited area he set the notable fire protection provided by the packers and the insurance interests. He urged that the more than a thousand watchmen's alarm boxes should run into a fireproof building, as otherwise the entire protective system might be put out of service.

STORE PUTS IN A PLAYGROUND.

Sets Aside Space to Which the Children Are to Be Made We' come.

A playground for children has been established on the third floor of The Fair, it being announced that all little ones, even if not attended by their parents, will be welcome. Growing grass, fountains, sand piles, benches, swings, hammocks, and tents are some of the attractions of the playground, which will be in charge of attendants, whose duties shall be to look after the comfort of the children.

PEOPLE OF ALL STATIONS IN LIFE TRADE HERE

MANDEL BROTHERS DAILY STORE NEWS

THIS is not a store for one class alone, but for all classes. It is a store which people favored with affluence and people in the humbler walks of life have alike come to regard as their shopping headquarters. It is a store where single purchases amounting to ten, twenty, or fifty thousand dollars are often made in one day, but where sales amounting to but a few cents are welcomed. No matter what patrons' stations in life may be, how large or how small their purchases—all are given the same invitation to regard this as their store—their shopping headquarters, where true economy can be safely practiced. We believe the purchaser of a paper of pins to be worthy of equally as courteous treatment as the purchaser of a $10,000 necklace. In the most exclusive and costly lines of merchandise our intimate connection with the fashion centers of the world places the stamp of authority upon what we sell. People of moderate means have learned to know the protection of their interests that is insured by the name "Mandel." The high standard of quality that has given to each of our main sections an enviable prestige is just as exactingly maintained in our great economy basement. This salesroom is the best place in Chicago to buy inexpensive merchandise, for nothing but what is strictly reliable is admitted to it, while the prices are kept at a level as low as that commonly maintained on inferior, undesirable merchandise.

HERE'S a saving opportunity for smart dressers that stands without a precedent in the annals of our business—an opportunity to buy handsome, richly trimmed imported costumes, possessing a dignified, exclusive style-touch which only a Paris artist can give, at half and less than half price.

Costumes for receptions and swell social functions, carriage and theater gowns, costumes for the Derby—all bearing those pleasing, exclusive attributes which good dressers so highly prize.

We imported these creations especially for the excellent style hints they possess; some of them for attractive show-window pieces, and as they have served their purpose they go on sale today at prices which, in many instances, do not represent the cost of the materials and the trimmings. Then, too, if you buy one of these costumes you can feel assured that there's not a duplicate in America.

Costumes from Paquin, Doucet, Raudnitz, and Doeuillet are here at about half their regular cost:

This morning a number of entirely new styles have been brought out to lend greater attraction to this gathering, where extraordinary values are offered in such variety.

Our line of sheer white lawn waists at 1.95 is a source of great wonder to experienced shoppers—a diversity of styles, opening both front and back, embroidered and tucked, or with insets of dainty laces and fancy stitchings—1.95.

From 2.95 to 7.95 you'll find a selection of waists that mere words can hardly describe, so varied and artistic is the designing, in which all sorts of fancies in trimming abound—laces, insertions, wide bands of Cluny, medallions, French knots, etc.

If you care to invest 7.95, 8.95 or $10 you may choose from the best assortment of exquisite waists ever collected by one house—the very finest of linen lawns and mousseline de soie lawns, elaborately trimmed with popular laces in motifs, insertions, bands and edges, as well as dainty embroiderings and fine tuckings.

Basement: Women's night gowns of good quality muslin, with neatly tucked yokes, trimmed with embroidery, excellent values at the price, 45c.

Today we are offering all our imported model hats at great reductions—exquisite creations from such master milliners as Susanne Blum, Camille Roger and Heitz-Boyer are included in the gathering.

Women who are frequently in the French capital declare that a trip through our millinery section is as good as a visit to the salon of one of these famous Paris milliners.

This offering of imported models affords an opportunity to secure elegant Paris hats for street, theater and Derby Day wear, of which women who appreciate smart style will be eager to avail themselves.

Modish shirt waist suits, $5.

IF you want a dress that's the embodiment of comfort, neatness, grace and stylishness, just get one of these handsome shirt waist suits—you will be following the general demand.

There's so great a variety of styles to select from that you're sure to find exactly what you want.

Our $5 line is specially attractive, although we have some exquisite creations ranging on up to $10. At $5 we have pure white lawn suits neatly tucked; white lawn with small black figures with latest style waist and skirt; handsome chambray suits in green, red, blue or tan, finished with narrow Persian bands or white pipings—they are certainly rare values.

Women's $4 oxfords for 2.95.

HERE'S the result of an unusual trade transaction, whereby we secured the surplus Oxford stock of a well known manufacturer at a surprising price advantage. Better investigate it at once.

It's an offering of the most unusual character, embracing every size and an immense assortment of styles. Every pair is of exceptional excellence.

The fact that this sale comes now, just at the very beginning of the oxford season, makes it all the more important. It is an opportunity to buy stylish, high-grade oxfords at fully one-third under real value.

Women's $3 and 2.50 oxfords at 1.95.
